FOUR MEN ARRESTED IN WESTERN PART OF THE STATE, SUPPOSED TO BE A GANG OF SAFE ROBBERS.

Charge Made Against Four Men Under Arrest

By Associated Press to The Sun

BOSTON, Sept. 24.—The four young men arrested in the western part of the state a week ago loaded down with burglars' tools are supposed to be a part of the gang which has made life a burden to country postmasters and railroad agents, according to the story told by State Detective McKay of Northampton, who arrived at the state house yesterday with pictures of the quartet.

When arrested they styled themselves Joseph K. Breen, Joseph Cramer, John White and James Blake. Blake has a record. On April 29, 1899, he participated in a safe-blowing job at Ashburnham, was subsequently arrested in this city by Inspectors Abbott and Gilmore, and was sentenced to four years in the state prison. At that time he gave his name as John Lombard. The others are unknown to either the state police or the Boston officers.

Cramer admitted that he was born in this city, and he must have lived here within recent years, for as soon as he saw McKay he called him by name, and added: "You used to be chief of police at Hyde Park." Cramer refused to tell anything about himself, however. He says he is a shoemaker. The men known as White and Breen claim to be bridge builders. Blake said he was a laborer.

Last Tuesday morning the postoffice at South Hadley was entered, the safe blown open and about $1000 worth of stamps taken. The burglary was promptly reported and Officer McKay was notified. Shortly after sunrise two men who had come into Ware on an early morning train were corralled by Chief of Police Fitzgerald of that place. As they were being taken to the police station both made a break for liberty. One of them, Blake, drew a revolver and attempted to shoot Fitzgerald. The officer grabbed the revolver and used it as a bludgeon. Meanwhile the other suspect had dashed down the street to the river and boldly plunged in, swimming across holding above his head a parcel which is supposed to have contained the booty taken from the South Hadley postoffice. He reached the woods and escaped.

Meanwhile, three other men who had taken an early north-bound train from South Hadley were spotted by the station master. They had purchased tickets for Miller's Falls and the sheriff at that place was promptly notified. The latter got a well armed posse, and when the three men were overcome, after considerable resistance, one of them had two revolvers, while each of the others had a single weapon. They were also supplied with nitro-glycerine, fuses and caps.

A week ago Saturday an attempt was made to loot the railroad station at Rockville, Ct., a diversion that was interrupted by the arrival of the watchman. A lively duel ensued, but the would-be safe breakers escaped. The agent, however, says the picture of Blake is the counterfeit presentment of one of the gang upon whom he so suddenly dropped.

This fact, coupled with the fact that these five men apparently constituted one active, working body, justifies the assumption, in the minds of the police, that the safe robberies at Sharon and other places may be fairly charged up to them. Since their arrest, at any rate, there has been a sudden cessation of safe robberies along the lines of the Boston & Albany and New York, New Haven & Hartford railroads.

The escape of the fifth man, supposedly with the booty obtained at South Hadley, makes it impossible to definitely prove that charge against them, but Blake is held on a charge of assault with intent to kill, while the other three are charged with having burglars' tools in their possession. Deputy Chief Shaw of the state police would welcome information of the identity of the three unrecognized members of the party.

SMALL FORTUNE

Will be Spent by the Ancients

By Associated Press to The Sun

BOSTON, Sept. 29.—A small fortune will be spent in showing the London Hoosgrabbs how Americans can entertain their guests and large sums will be spent by the London delegation themselves.

It is estimated that not less than $250,000 will be spent from the time the London company leaves London until they return again.

Private entertainment makes the largest figure in the expense, this being calculated on the basis of costly entertainment provided for the visitors at Providence, New York, Washington, Buffalo and Montreal, where money will be spent freely to give the visitors a royal time.

Steamship fares will equal at least $70,000, and railroad transportation, with the luxurious special trains ordered and the distance traveled, will easily eat up $25,000.

Both companies will be lavish with souvenirs, and while the London company has appropriated $10,000 for that purpose, the Boston company will spend at least $500 more than that.

For the accommodation of guests in the several cities and in Boston, $25,000 makes a not too lavish an amount to devote to that purpose.

In cigars an expert has allowed $600, while the hotel chef has figured that $15,000 will easily be spent for wines and so forth.

Music and uniforms need the addition of at least $10,000 more, while $8000 will be spent in decorating throughout the cities visited.

Everything added will make an expenditure of at least a quarter of a million dollars.

ACROBATIC HORSE

Turned Somersaults in Merrimack Square

A TWISTER.

He Had the Blind Staggers—Jew Peddler Bought Him at Auction Stable—Big Crowd Watched the Horse Perform

There'll be more jealous Jew peddlers in town for a week or two than ever before in the history of this great manufacturing city. A new horse has arrived in their midst and he's a circus horse from 'way back. He's a contortionist, an acrobat, a go-as-you-please or he can play short stop in a runaway. He gave two performances yesterday, forenoon and evening, and he was well received.

The audience in the evening was made up mostly of women and children with a few policemen and street sweepers thrown in.

This great equine performer is owned by a Jewish peddler whose number is the unlucky one plus three. It was by mere accident that the peddler came into possession of the equine and it will be by a great big accident if he ever gets rid of him.

HAS BLIND STAGGERS.

The fact of the matter is the horse is not responsible for the majority of the peculiar stunts in which he indulges. He is afflicted with blind staggers, better known to the veterinary as "Megrim." He was sold under the hammer in this city a few days ago for $25. The peddler made that bid and he lost three days in trying to get him from the sale stable to his shack in Howard street. The blind staggers, augmented by a desire on the part of the horse to familiarize himself with certain streets, caused the poor peddler many unhappy hours.

MADE HIS DEBUT.

The first performance by the horse and the peddler was in Kirk street yesterday forenoon. The circus tent was pitched in front of the High school building and the crowd was attracted by a few loud "whoas," and an occasional "get up there." One word from the peddler and the horse did as he pleased. The performance lasted about 45 minutes and at the end of that time the peddler was ready for the hospital and the horse looked more than ever a bone yard subject. He reared and plunged, turned somersaults, walked on his hind feet, went to sleep standing up, refused to eat oats, spat in the peddler's face, did the kangaroo walk and the bronchos-couchee and just as the curtain was about to drop on the last act, Agent Richardson stepped in and seized the gate receipts. The peddler objected as strenuously as his failing health would permit and the horse slept until the affair was settled. Then he awoke from what must have been unpleasant dreams. He was ugly and refused to budge. Three whips and two barrel staves were worn out on his steel lined hide and still he stood his ground. A little later the sportive began to get in their work and out for exercise he walked to a woodyard at the corner of John and Dutton streets. There he remained until 11. September sun was painting the horizon in colors that poets rave about.

SCORED A SUCCESS

The next performance was in Merrimack square and all that transpired in Kirk street was repeated plus a few extra stunts that had been shut out by the objection of Agent Richardson. There was a large attendance, however, and the crowd remained until the acrobatic equine with the peddler attachment started a side step in the direction of a plate glass window. Then a street sweeper took a hand and, with the aid of a broom handle expressed a peculiarly effective indignance on the horse and the latter mildly decided to take a walk. He had divested himself of his peddle and the peddler was attached to him by means of a rope about the performer's neck and the strange pair disappeared in the direction of Central street with Agent Richardson a close second. Such was the ending of an incident that was both laughable and pathetic.

"His horse should not have been sold under the hammer, blanket or anything else. He is sadly afflicted and should have been relieved of his misery long ago.

NOT FIT TO SELL.

When the society for the prevention of cruelty to animals gets right down to business it will, with the sanction of the proper authorities attend the auctions and, instead of allowing poor, dismantled and bedraggled old skates to press on into the hands of some miserable trader, the society's representative will order the horse sent to the rendering works. There are horses seen in the streets every day whose hoops long since should have bleached on the sand hill at South Lowell. Poor feeble brutes that would be stricken with fatal disease if placed in a heated stall. And, it too often happens, that the erstwhile proud drawer of an elegant family carriage passes over to his old age when sparkle stiffness is upon him, to the hands of cruel hackeys whose purpose in life is as rich as the tobacco that streaks their contaminous lips.

DREW COLOR LINE

WHITE WOMAN WAS BOMBARDED WITH CROCKERY.

By Associated Press to The Sun

PROVIDENCE, Sept. 29.—A white woman who drew the color line yesterday at the Hotel Balliett was bombarded with plates and other crockery.

The irate negro, known as George Fones, came to work in the hotel from Boston seven weeks ago.

Yesterday he ordered Annie Dunleavy not long ago a resident of county Roscommon, Ireland, to serve him his food. She dissented and stood glaring at him with her arms akimbo, declaring: "I never have carried food to a nigger. You will have to take just what the chef leaves out for you on the chopping block and don't you forget that either."

Then Fones shied all the dishes which came handy at Miss Dunleavy and there was a panic among the kitchen force. The girl was struck before she could escape into another apartment.

Then the negro fled from the house and the city.

SPANISH WAR VETS

Big Parade and Convention in New Haven, Conn.

By Associated Press to The Sun

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Sept. 28—Clad in uniforms of blue and grey, emblematic of the re-union as comrades of men formerly separated by sectional strife, 1,000 soldiers of the Spanish-American war marched in parade today as a preliminary to the opening of the fourth annual assembly of the National Army and Navy Spanish War veterans.

They were reviewed by veterans of the G. A. R., by state and city officials and by President Hadley of Yale university, while in the procession accompanying them as an escort, were the Second Regiment of the Connecticut National guard, the Naval battalion, Governor's Foot Guards, members of the Naval Veteran association, the Knights of Columbus and other civic societies.

Fine weather following last night's heavy rain came as a welcome surprise this morning to all interested in the coming of the veterans and the early indications were that the attendance of visitors from other cities would be increased beyond previous expectations.

The rain gave a bedraggled effect to the many decorations which were put in place along the line of march last week, but in most cases, hurried work this morning served to restore these adornments to something like their original beauty.

The first assemblage of the day, aside from the many informal gatherings of old comrades in the hotels and on street corners, was that of the Council of Administration which met at 10 o'clock at the New Haven house. This meeting was largely for the purpose of completing the details of the program for the convention. The council consists of Chaplain George T. Groton, Michigan; Chaplain G. Leyburn Shorey, United States Soldiers' Home, District of Columbia; John C. Halton, New Jersey; Charles Leinbach, New York; Carl Gunster, Pennsylvania; John H. Mussow, Wisconsin; James W. Carver, Maine; F. G. Beach, Connecticut; H. L. Sutterly, New York; Captain Daniel V. Chisholm, District of Columbia; H. L. Warren, Michigan; Hon. Henry D. Green, member of congress from Pennsylvania.

Reports of work accomplished during the year were submitted to the national council and were referred to the convention for acceptance.

The report of Adjutant General L. C. Dyer showed that the organization has made rapid progress during the past year. The increase of nearly 100 new commands, together with the increase in membership of commands already established, has brought the membership up to about 140,000. Eight new state organizations have been formed, together with seven provisional state organizations. As regards finances, the association was declared to be in good condition, with no debts and with a considerable balance on hand. The amount expended for relief work by the various commands and corps during the year was nearly $100,000.

In the organization of new commands some trouble has been experienced by reason of the fact that there has been an effort to amalgamate the Spanish War Veterans with the Spanish-American War Veterans and other like organizations. A good many have desired to hold out from joining the Spanish War Veterans until this consolidation was perfected. All hindrance to consolidation has now been removed and it is expected by the end of October all details, including the election of officers and the adoption of rules and ritual will have been arranged.

STATE OFFICERS

Still at Work on the McPherson Case

By Associated Press to The Sun

FOXBORO, Sept. 28—Yesterday afternoon State Officer Scott came here and had a conference with Chief Cady about the McPherson case. He then went to Mansfield and met Deputy Sheriff Perry and from him learned the name of the young man who says the missing couple were in Pawtucket almost two weeks after they left the Willis Comede at Whiteville.

He went to interview this young man, who is willing to aid the officers in their efforts to locate the star witness in the Foxboro-Sharon arson case, but declines the publicity of a newspaper interview.

He states that the young man told him that, while he had conversed with Deputy Sheriff Perry, he had not told the latter that he saw the McPhersons in Pawtucket or talked with them.

On the other hand, Mr. Perry reiterates that the young man made this statement to him, and that he has the fullest confidence in him.

Mr. Perry says that he had this conversation with the young man several days ago, and that he tried to communicate with Chief Cady, but was unable to get into touch with him.

Mrs. Willis is still unconvinced that her daughter has not been murdered, and says she will believe so until she sees the girl alive.

The state police, however, are not so positive, and they propose to conduct a more exhaustive inquiry among the cities in this section. The proposed search of the swamps near the town line has been abandoned.

They do not believe the story that the McPhersons have been or are in or near Boston.

STOLE HIS MONEY

James Monahan Attacked by Negro

By Associated Press to The Sun

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Sept. 28.—In Warwick, about midnight yesterday, James Monahan, who is employed on the Collingwood stock farm at Hills Grove, was on his way home and near the farm met a negro man and woman. He had been drinking and proposed to stand treat if the negro would show the way.

The woman engaged Monahan in conversation while the man stepped behind and knocked him down. The negro jumped upon Monahan, and drawing a knife threatened to cut his throat if he made any noise. His pockets were searched and a gold watch and $6 were taken.

Monahan kept still until he saw the couple board a city-bound electric car and then ran to the farm and gave an alarm. Mr. Collingwood telephoned to the 7th police station, and requested that the negroes be arrested. As the car was entering the city the police intercepted it and arrested the couple.

The man was William Brooks, 23 years old; the woman, Bessie Roberts, 19. Brooks denied the robbery, but the woman confessed and told of the threat to kill Monahan and the forcible taking of his property.

The money was found in Brooks' pocket and at daybreak Capt. Merrill found the watch in the grass beside the highway on Elmwood avenue, where Brooks had surreptitiously dropped it when he saw the police.

Brooks was taken to Warwick yesterday afternoon to be arraigned for robbery and the woman, who belongs in New York, was held as a government witness.

AN ULTIMATUM

50,000 Men May Go on Strike

By Associated Press to The Sun

CHICAGO, Ill., Sept. 28.—Fifty-three thousand employes of the big packing firms of the country on Wednesday will present demands for the absolute unionizing of all the plants, for substantial increase in wages and 10 hours' work per day. These demands will be in the form of an ultimatum and failure to grant them will mean a general strike.

Both the packers and their men now have submitted terms by which it was hoped to avert trouble. The unions have asserted that complete organization under their banners of all packing house employes will enable the union leaders more effectually to carry out agreements to prevent strikes in such plants. Five dollars a day for floormen and splitters in the cattle-killing departments, and proportionate increases in other departments are demanded. Ten hours a day, instead of about 50 hours per week, are asked for. In order to make an order for a general strike effective, and that unions in other cities may debate the questions involved, meetings of all the butcher workmen's unions have been scheduled for tonight. Copies of the propositions to be voted on have been forwarded to the several packing centres. The cities where these unions exist and the number of men involved are:

Chicago, 30,000; Kansas City, 7000; South Omaha, 6000; St. Joseph, Mo., 2000; Sioux City, 1500; New York city, 1000; St. Paul, 1000, and Fort Worth, 700.

The average rate of increase to be asked for is 10 per cent., and would mean an increase in the annual payroll of $3,500,000.

WANTS THE CUP

Sir Thomas First Wants a Designer

By Associated Press to The Sun

CHICAGO, Sept. 28—"If I could find a designer who I was certain could beat Herreshoff I would build Shamrock IV and challenge for the cup tomorrow. I am retaining Shamrock III, so you see I am in hopes of finding such a designer. I intend to keep after the cup until I get it."

These were the statements made by Sir Thomas Lipton at the Auditorium Annex in the first interview he has given since coming to Chicago, two weeks ago.

"I want to repeat," he said, "that I have no fault to find with any one for my defeat. I have seen a suggestion that the only way to revive British interest in cup racing would be to dangle the cup in front of our eyes by waving the rules and allowing the challenged American yacht racing in British waters. I want to say, that, while I personally appreciate the kindliness of the suggestion, we want to win the cup and win it fairly according to the present rules and believe that if we do win, it would not stay on our side more than a year."

Sir Thomas was able to receive visitors last night. He showed no effects of his recent illness. His cheeks were red, his step firm and his bearing enthusiastic. It is probable Sir Thomas will leave Chicago about the middle of the week.

STRUCK BY LIGHTNING

DEDHAM MAN WAS KILLED INSTANTLY.

By Associated Press to The Sun

BOSTON, Sept. 28.—Michael J. Tully of Dedham was struck and killed by lightning last evening at his home, 162 Washington street, about 8.30 o'clock.

At the time of the storm Mr. Tully was in the house with his daughter, Emily, a girl of 17 years. Mr. Tully was at work on his books in the front room and Miss Tully was in another part of the house.

Mr. Tully had left the front room to go into the kitchen when, as he reached the doorway between the two rooms, there was a blinding flash, every light in the house being put out, leaving it in total darkness.

Becoming frightened, Miss Tully called for her father, but received no answer. In searching for him she stumbled over his body, lying on the threshold of the two rooms. Summoning help, the stricken man was attended to. His right boot and trousers were ripped and torn.

The bolt evidently entered through the kitchen window and there is apparently no damage to the house. Mr. Tully was a carpenter and 41 years of age. He leaves a widow, two sons and two daughters.

GANG OF DYNAMITERS

TRIED TO BLACKMAIL RAILROAD COMPANY.

By Associated Press to The Sun

HELENA, Mont., Sept. 28.—The Northern Pacific Railway company is hiring men in large numbers to search the mountains in this vicinity for a gang of dynamiters who threatened to destroy the property of the company in this state unless $50,000 was forthcoming. About two weeks ago 2135 pounds of dynamite was stolen from a warehouse in this city. Four dynamite explosions have occurred within the last two weeks, three freight and three passenger trains being temporarily disabled. A fortnight ago General Manager Hannaford of the Northern Pacific was notified that unless $25,000 was given to the engineer of a light engine and sent west from Garrison, "the property of the company would be dynamited." The next day the figure was raised to $50,000. The railroad officials sent out a light engine as requested, manned by a single person. This was closely followed by another engine carrying a heavily armed posse but the conspirators evidently suspected something, as they did not give the preconcerted signals to stop the first engine. Within a few days the company was notified that the robbers would have their revenge, and since that time the track has been dynamited four times, once within the city limits of Helena, where an attempt was made to blow up the North Coast limited connecting train. The latest attempt was at Simpson Siding, 25 miles west of here, Friday night. Gov. Toole has offered a reward for the arrest of the dynamiters, as has the Northern Pacific.

Seneque comes here to take a steamer for St. Thomas, D. W. I. Passengers on board the steamer say Seneque could have been president, but declined to take the position by insurrection or revolution. He wanted to be chosen by popular vote.

LOWELL REPRESENTED

AT CONVENTION OF PLUMBERS AND PIPERS.

By Associated Press to The Sun

BOSTON, Sept. 28—A permanent state organization was formed yesterday at an important convention of journeymen plumbers, gasfitters, steamfitters, and steamfitters' helpers from 20 cities of Massachusetts, held in Red Men's hall, 514 Tremont street. This state organization is the result of a movement begun at Worcester about six months ago, when it was voted to reorganize the old state association of journeymen plumbers' unions.

William M. Merrick, president of the United association of the United States and Canada, talked about the international organization and its relation to the smaller bodies. A committee was appointed and given instructions to urge the affiliation of the local unions of the national steam and hot water fitters and helpers, whose charter was revoked recently by the executive committee of the Federation of Labor on the ground that there should be only one international body of pipe trades.

Instructions were also given a committee which will investigate conditions in the navy yard and other government military and naval stations in this state, where the claim is made wages are not equal to those paid journeymen on the outside. Later the matter will be referred to Washington.

Officers were elected as follows: President, Thomas F. Harney, Worcester; vice-president, C. A. White, Boston; secretary treasurer, Joseph P. Curry, Lynn; executive board, M. J. McNulty of Worcester, Edward Kiley of Fitchburg, M. J. Scanlon of Springfield, P. P. [illegible] of Salem and M. O. Connell of Newton.

The cities represented were Boston, Springfield, Worcester, Lowell, North[illegible], Lynn, Salem, Fitchburg, Cambridge, Brockton, Marlboro, Newton, Lawrence, Malden, Holyoke and Waltham.

NOMINATED FOR COUNCILLOR.

By Associated Press to The Sun

MIDDLEBORO, Mass., Sept. 28.—Roland C. Nickerson of Chatham, was nominated for councillor at the first district republican convention held in the town hall here today, by a unanimous vote.

One hundred and forty delegates were present. The organization of the district committee for the year was perfected with Rep. Thomas Patterson of [illegible] chairman and Hon. Albert H. Washburn of Middleboro secretary.

WALL STREET GOSSIP.

10.10 a.m.—Opening prices broke sharply from Saturday's level, a gain of ⅛ in Union Pacific being the only exception. Louisville & Nashville dropped 3½ and then rallied 1½. The local traction stocks were all weak, Metropolitan falling 3¼, Manhattan 1¼, and Brooklyn Transit ⅝. There were running sales of 4,000 shares of United States Steel pfd. at 60⅝ to 61, compared with 61⅞ and the common stock and the second mortgage bonds opened at new low records, the former at 155 @ ½ and the latter at 69½. There were losses of 1 to 1⅝ in Pennsylvania, Missouri Pacific, Reading, Southern Railway pfd., Peoples Gas and Amalgamated Copper. United States Steel subsequently sold down to 15⅞, and the preferred to 60½, a new low record. The market continued weak and feverish after the opening.

11 a.m.—After another short period of downward prices, the market began to respond to the buying orders that were met and a rally followed. Pennsylvania, Metropolitan Street Railway and Peoples Gas recovered a point and a few other stocks returned to last week's final prices. Fresh liquidation in the United States Steel issues and the western stocks weakened the market and prices fell back to below the opening level. U. S. Steel sold at 15, the preferred at 59⅞, and the bonds at 68¾. Material losses were made by a number of dormant stocks running from 2 to 8 points, the last named in Chicago & Eastern Illinois certificates. By 11 o'clock active stocks were down between 1 and 2 points. Heavy selling of Reading lowered it 2½ and Metropolitan Street Railway lost 4 in all.

Noon—Declines extended into the second hour carrying the declines to 2 @ 2½ for Atchison, St. Paul, Missouri Pacific, Baltimore & Ohio, Delaware & Hudson, Rock Island pfd., Manhattan, Sugar and some others. Liquidation seemed to have spent its force then and a rally of a point followed in those stocks which had suffered most. Prices gave way again before noon when Amalgamated dropped 2¼. U. S. Steel pfd. touched 59 1-2 and the bonds 67⅞.

Bonds were weak.

1 p.m.—A drop in Amalgamated to 37 1-2 caused renewed selling of all the active stocks and prices in many instances were lower than the morning. Pressure was particularly heavy against Baltimore & Ohio, Brooklyn Transit and the Pacifics. General Electric fell 9 points and Westinghouse Electric 13.

WATCH AND CHAIN

Poirier Arrested for Larceny of Them

Arthur Poirier, 17, was arrested by Inspectors Donaldson and Laflamme in Merrimack street, this forenoon on a warrant charging him with the larceny of a gold watch and chain, the property of Elbole Gagnon. The larceny was committed about August 15. Poirier sold the watch and chain to a Greek and they were recovered by the inspectors.

IN POLICE COURT

Session Was a Short But Lively One

The assault and battery cases in police court today were a little unusual, numerically speaking. There was a liberal sprinkling of drunken offenders and the session was a lively one while it lasted.

John Delisle, otherwise known as John Daley, and John Martin, pleaded guilty to drunkenness and not guilty to a complaint charging them with assault and battery on one Joseph Burns. They said they were not ready for trial this forenoon and the case was continued to tomorrow. They were ordered in $300 each.

Thomas Monahan, charged with drunkenness and assault and battery, had his case continued to tomorrow morning and he was ordered in $200.

Fred Howe, charged with unlawfully exposing and exposing for sale intoxicating liquors, was fined $75.

William Landry, charged with failing to provide lawful and proper support for his wife, was placed on probation on promise that he would support her. Judge Hadley did not mince matters with Landry.

Maria Richardson, common jail, six months. She appealed and was ordered in $200 for the superior court.

Thomas A. Cone and Edward E. Ball were sentenced to four months in jail; Edward Allen, jail, three months; Catherine Smith and Philip Moriarty, were fined $6 each; Annie F. Doran and John Kelly were fined $8 each; Joseph Cogger and Albert Plante paid $5 each; and Louis Gagnon, Stark Boubrie and Antonie Jasavige were in the $3 class. Seven first offenders were fined $2 each. Six were released.

WESTFORD FARMER

LOOKING FOR HIS HIRED MAN AND MONEY.

Amos R. Leighton, a well-known farmer residing in Westford, is on the lookout for one Charles Lawson, who worked for him who, it is alleged, succeeded in getting rid of a load of produce for $28 and then got away with the money.

Lawson had been employed by Mr. Leighton for a number of years, but recently left him only to show up again a few weeks ago in search of a job. Mr. Leighton knew him to be a good workman and hired him. Friday Lawson was sent into Lowell with a wagon load of produce. Lawson, it is claimed, sold the load for $28 and got back as far as Chelmsford Centre when he decided that he would let the horse go home and he went off in another direction.

The horse was found wandering around in an aimless manner in Chelmsford and was later driven to the home of Mr. Leighton, but since then Lawson nor the $28 has not been seen.

VISITORS FROM AFAR

SENORA LOPEZ FROM PHILIPPINES IN LOWELL.

Mayor Howe this morning received a visit from Councillor Walter S. Watson accompanying Senora Lopez, a charming daughter of the Philippines, formerly a student of Wellesley, who came here to visit Lowell and the textile school, having heard a glowing account of the city from her brother who visited here some time ago. Senora Lopez was shown through City Hall after which she visited the school and completely inspected it.

GREEK CONGREGATION

PROPOSES TO ENLARGE ITS CHURCH.

The Greeks propose to enlarge their church on Lewis street. The present location cost them about $6,500 three years ago, and it is practically paid for now. The congregation feels the need of providing more room and so it is talked now that the remainder of the block in which the church is located will be purchased.

TEWKSBURY

Rev. J. W. Mitchell of Wrentham, the new pastor of the Congregational church, preached his first sermon at that church yesterday. After hearing candidates for several months, Rev. Mr. Mitchell was accepted. The reverend gentleman read his letter of acceptance and will move his family to Tewksbury this week.

The selectmen and trustees of the library met Saturday evening, and Mr. Willard G. Parker of Wigginville was elected a member of the board of trustees to fill a vacancy.

The West Chelmsford base ball team defeated the State hospital team in a hot game of base ball by a score of 10 to 9.

Dr. Edwin Collins of Tewksbury has moved to Boston where he intends opening an office.

Ruth Gerrish, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Gerrish, died last night at the home of her parents in this town.

BUILDING CONTRACTS.

The total value of contracts awarded on new building and engineering enterprises throughout New England for the week ending September 23, 1903, approximates $2,230,000 as against $1,476,000 for the corresponding week last year, making a total of $81,491,000 to date this year as against $108,081,000 for the corresponding period in 1902, and $86,252,000 in 1901.

Approximately about 10 per cent. of the total amount of contracts awarded for the week is for manufacturing projects.

Against Tar Macadam Plant on Maple St.

ALTHOUGH IT IS NOT IN POSITION

Mayor Howe Receives Protesting Petition

Mayor Howe this morning received the following petition protesting against something in relation to the plant of the tar macadam operators about to be established in the N. Y. N. H. and H. yard near Maple street.

The petition is as follows:

Lowell, Sept. 28.

To the Honorable Mayor, City of Lowell:

We, the undersigned property holders and residents of Maple street, of the city of Lowell, do hereby humbly petition your honor to prevent any further construction of the Warren's Tar Macadamizing Mixers, as we consider it a public nuisance, with smoke, loop tar and dust and odor from an out-house under our very noses, and inasmuch as typhoid fever is raging in and around the city. Hoping that you will act promptly and oblige the undersigned:

Harry Muffett, executor of Spencer estate, 158 Maple street; F. L. Crockett, Thomas F. Burns, James E. Clancy, D. H. Foley, L. Denwellans, Simon Brennan, John Morgan, John Welch, Mrs. John Sullivan, C. J. Sullivan, James J. Egan, Patrick J. Spencer, James F. Grady, C. L. Urann, Patrick McCann, David True, A. C. Rivers, Mrs. William Grady, T. H. Spencer, H. F. Greathead, Erick Wilson, James McCormick, Robert Gourley, John Small, Patrick Clancy, Eugene P. Sullivan.

P. S.—Your Honorable Mayor, hoping that you will grant us this petition as we are taxpayers and peaceful citizens, but the language and rough talk is unfit for human ears.

Yours Truly,

TAXPAYERS.

Mr. Beard, manager for the Warren Bros., who operates the tar macadam, called upon Mayor Howe this morning and was shown the petition. Mr. Beard professed to be at a loss to understand it and he said:

"I can't see what objection there can be to the plant before it has been set up. Our material came here only Friday and we have been taking it off the cars ever since. Last year our plant was located in the Boston & Maine yard, near Congress street, and we were much nearer the houses than we will be this year and there were no objections to us last year. We didn't have over seven men at work at the plant at a time."

DRACUT

Rev. J. A. McKnight spoke upon "Shibboleths" at the Hillside Congregational church yesterday before a large congregation. AGUINALDO BLAMED

For Early Fall of Philippine Insurrection

By Associated Press to The Sun

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 28.—Under the direction of the bureau of insular affairs of the war department an interesting work on the Philippine revolution by Senor Mabini, formerly president of the Filipino cabinet, has been translated from the Spanish. Throughout the earlier days of the insurrection in the Philippines, Senor Mabini was closely identified with the administration of affairs under Aguinaldo, but was later captured by the forces of the United States and imprisoned on the Island of Guam, where, it is understood he wrote his history of the Philippine revolution; later he died from cholera shortly after his release from confinement.

Senor Mabini lays at the door of Aguinaldo the early fall of the insurrection, although he does not say that under any circumstances it would at any time have been successful. To Gen. Luna, who was assassinated when attempting to keep an appointment with Aguinaldo, and whose killing Senor Mabini intimates, was in compliance with orders of Aguinaldo, Mabini gives great credit. In speaking of the outbreak of hostilities between the Filipinos and the forces of the United States Senor Mabini says in his history:

"As I had foreseen, our improvised militiamen could not withstand the first onslaught of the disciplined troops of the Union. Moreover, it must be confessed that the Philippine troops stationed around Manila were not prepared for an attack on that night. Gen. Ricarte, who commanded the southern detachments, and Gen. San Miguel, commanding the eastern zone of the city, where the attack began, were in Malolos on that night. Little accustomed to war, the Filipino commanders and officers barely realized the value of military drill and discipline; hence, the services rendered by the detachments were far from regular and orderly. The Filipino general staff had neither studied nor formulated a plan for the advance or retreat of the troops in case of a rupture of hostilities; and Senor Aguinaldo, who appreciated very slightly the advantage of unity in command and movements, had not prepared the necessary means for a prompt restoration of communication between the several sub divisions of the army whenever a hurried retreat should occasion an interruption in the telegraphic line. Senor Aguinaldo desired to retain the immediate command of the forces around Manila, directing them from his residence in Malolos, although he could not wholly devote himself to the proper discharge of the obligations of this office owing to his duties as head of the government and to the caprice of personally dispatching many matters which ought to be acted upon by the departments of the central administration."

In his account of the disagreement among the Filipino leaders and especially between Aguinaldo and Luna, Senor Mabini says:

"Some weeks later Senor Aguinaldo telegraphed to Luna requesting him to meet him at Cabanatuan for a conference; but when the latter reached this pueblo he did not find the former at his residence, and was treacherously assassinated by the soldiers on guard there, Col. Francisco Roman, who accompanied him, died with him. While Luna was being murdered Senor Aguinaldo was at Tarlac, assuming command of the forces the deceased had organized. Senor Aguinaldo established himself and his government in Tarlac and amused himself with political and military work, a neglect which Gen. Otis took advantage of by landing troops at San Fabian, while the cavalry, making tour by San Jose and Umingan, took San Quintin and Tayug, thus cutting off Aguinaldo's line of retreat and administering a mortal blow to the revolution.

"I cannot believe, even now, that Luna worked to wrest from Senor Aguinaldo the high position he occupied; but it is certain he did aspire to become the head of the cabinet in place of Senor Paterno.

"When he received the telegram from Senor Aguinaldo, summoning him to Cabanatuan, Luna may have thought, perhaps, that the purpose of the conference was the new cabinet. He had not thought that they were seeking to murder him at the very critical moment when the revolution most needed his strong and intelligent arm. He could not believe that a lawful and proper ambition would inspire fear in Senor Aguinaldo, who had made him general-in-chief of the Filipino army. True, it is, that occasionally Luna allowed himself to say that Senor Aguinaldo was a man of weak character and an incompetent leader, but such words were the mere explosions of a spirited nature, who saw his plans frustrated through lack of necessary support. All his acts revealed uprightness and patriotism, combined with a zeal and an energy equal to the occasion.

"The death of Andres Bonifacio had fully demonstrated the existence in Senor Aguinaldo of a boundless ambition of power and the personal enemies of Luna, through skilful intrigues, exploited this weakness to the latter's ruin. To say that the revolution would have triumphed had Senor Aguinaldo, instead of allowing Luna to be killed, supported him with all his might, would be too presumptuous; but I entertain not the slightest doubt that the Americans would have had a higher opinion of the valor and military capacity of the Filipinos. Luna living, I am sure that the mortal blow struck by Gen. Otis would have been stayed, or, at least, averted in time, and the incompetency of Senor Aguinaldo for military command would not have been clearly shown. Besides, Senor Aguinaldo, in order to rid himself of Luna, utilized the very soldiers the latter had punished for breaches of discipline. Senor Aguinaldo, therefore, killed discipline by destroying his own army. Luna fallen, his strongest support—the revolution—fell, and the ignominy of the fall, resting entirely upon Senor Aguinaldo, in turn cost the moral death of the latter, a thousand times more bitter than physical death.

"Senor Aguinaldo then ruined himself, condemned by his own acts. Thus does Providence punish the great.

"To epitomize—the revolution failed because it was poorly directed; because its director conquered his position, not through meritorious, but through reprehensive acts; because, instead of supporting the men most useful to the people, jealous of them, he rendered them useless. Having scorned the people, the people deserted him. And the people having deserted him, he had to fall like a wax idol melted by the heat of adversity. God forbid that we should forget so terrible a lession, learned at the cost of unspeakable sufferings."

MAINE MUSIC FESTIVAL.

By Associated Press to The Sun

BANGOR, Me., Sept. 28.—The seventh season of the Maine Music festival will be opened this evening with the concert at the Auditorium when the soloists will be David Bispham and Mme. Shotwell-Piper.

The program is an exceptionally brilliant one and will conclude with a performance of Ethelbert Nevin's operetta, "The Quest." The advance sale of seats for the concerts in this city is the largest in the history of the festival.

A prominent Southern lady, Mrs. Blanchard, of Nashville, Tenn., tells how she was cured of backache, dizziness, painful and irregular periods by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"Gratitude compels me to acknowledge the great merit of your Vegetable Compound. I have suffered for four years with irregular and painful menstruation, also dizziness, pains in the back and lower limbs, and restless sleep. I dreaded the time to come which would only mean suffering to me. Six bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound brought me health and happiness in a few short months, and was worth more than months under the doctor's care, which really did not benefit me at all. I feel like another person now. My aches and pains have left me. I am satisfied there is no medicine so good for sick women as your Vegetable Compound, and I advocate it to my lady friends in need of medical help." — Mrs. R. A. Blanchard, 422 Broad St., Nashville, Tenn. — $5000 forfeit if original of above letter proving genuineness cannot be produced.

When women are troubled with menstrual irregularities, weakness, leucorrhœa, displacement or ulceration of the womb, that bearing-down feeling, inflammation of the ovaries, backache, they should remember there is one tried and true remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

HARRY BISHOP

Held in $4000 for Superior Court

By Associated Press to The Sun

PORTLAND, Maine, Sept. 28.—Despite the arguments of counsel for a much smaller bail, Mark Strong, alias "Dr." Harry Bishop, was bound over today in the sum of $4000 for his appearance in the superior court for the alleged larceny of $4000 from Mrs. A. L. York of this city a year ago. The state claims Bishop induced Mrs. York to place the money in his hands for a day or two that he might "charm" away a curse which he said followed the money. Bishop, who is supposed to be Harry Hines of New Orleans, was wanted by the police of at least three or four states when the governor granted requisition papers for his removal to Maine, according to the Memphis police. It was claimed he was wanted in Lansing, Mich., Wheeling, W. Va., and Baltimore.

DR. LOUGEST

Has Had More Experience in the Treatment, and Made More Great Cures of Difficult, Protracted and Chronic Diseases and Weaknesses of Men Than Any Other Living Specialist

Dr. Lougest's treatment has been tested on more than twenty thousand (20,000) young, middle-aged and old men, who, as the results of errors or excesses, were tortured by the woes of nervous debility or decay. It has never yet failed, even in the worst cases, to bring back manly power, remove every trace or symptom of weakness, build up the physical and mental health, and prepare man anew for the duties and pleasures of both married and single life.

Lost manhood, nonlust weakness, effects of youthful indiscretions, nervous debility, pimples and baldness, hair falling out, loss of memory and energy, impotence, rheumatic pains, discharges and all private diseases quickly and permanently cured by an original and never-failing treatment. Blood poison, ulcers, stricture, enthrocele and diseases of the kidneys, bladder and blood cured in the shortest possible time, without the use of mercury or hindrance from business. Dr. Lougest's treatment for the complete cure of stricture and all unnatural discharges is the most wonderful of modern times. No matter how long the discharge has continued nor how many self-styled specialists have failed to relieve, let alone cure, Dr. Lougest will positively guarantee to stop the discharge entirely within (2) three days by means of his New Method Treatment. This treatment removes stricture, positively without pain, detention from business or the use of obnoxious or injurious medicines. No Experiment! No Failure! Nine-tenths of all the long standing discharges, strictures and weaknesses of men are caused by the experiments of the many inexperienced and self-styled specialists of the present day.

Many a man who has been fooled by the "Pay When Cured" racket, knows that it is the last and only resort of a dying-out pretenders to get a patient into his clutches. Beware of such schemes. Don't be deceived by misleading statements such as these seemingly charitable offers.

Don't entrust your lives to anyone not qualified by years of experience to treat you. Don't even step your foot across the threshold of an office run by inexperienced, irresponsible illiterate pretenders. You had better save your money and let the disease take its own course than be practiced and experimented upon and in the end lose both your money and life.

Dr. Lougest's offices occupy the entire building of five floors at 313 Columbus avenue, and they are supplied with every known means and device that science, skill, knowledge and money can provide that will aid in determining the exact location and nature of these diseases and effecting their cure promptly and thoroughly, and by the same sure methods as are used in the most celebrated Paris hospitals, which invariably result in

TILLMAN TRIAL

A Vigorous Legal Battle is Promised

ONE JUROR CHOSEN IN FIRST HOUR

The Defense Has Eleven Lawyers

By Associated Press to The Sun

LEXINGTON, S. C., Sept. 28.—J. C. Tillman, formerly lieutenant-governor of South Carolina, was arraigned in the circuit court for Lexington county, today under an indictment charging him with the murder of N. G. Gonzales, editor of the Columbia "State."

The trial is being conducted on behalf of the state by Solicitor Thurmond, assisted by five other attorneys, while eleven lawyers with Judge Croft as chief counsel, appear for the defense. Judge Frank B. Gary is presiding.

It became manifest at the very outset that every inch of ground is to be vigorously contested during the trial. The case opened with the expectation that a jury could be secured by 2 p.m. today when the taking of testimony could be proceeded with, but only one juror was secured during the first hour.

RECEIVER NAMED

FOR THE CONSOLIDATED LAKE SUPERIOR COMPANY.

By Associated Press to The Sun

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Sept. 28—John G Carruth of Philadelphia, president of the International Title & Trust company was today appointed receiver for the Consolidated Lake Superior company by Judge Platt, in the U. S. district court. His bond was placed at $10,000.

Judge Lynde Harrison of this city, counsel for the company, said the company consented to the appointment of the receiver.

The application for the receivership was presented by Judge Walter C. Noyes of the firm of Noyes & Brandegee of New London, in behalf of H. P. Rothermel, Jr., Samuel M. Clemens, Jr., and Joseph F. Junkins of Philadelphia, attorneys for certain stockholders of the company. It was set forth in the application that the directors of the company had failed to take up the loan of $5,050,000 of Speyer & company of New York; that the actual value of the plant as expressed in the amount expended in buildings, machinery and other properties, is far in excess of the amount of the loan; that the stockholders fear that of a forced sale were allowed they would lose the entire amount of their investment. A receiver was therefore asked for and also a temporary injunction to prevent the sale of the property under foreclosure proceedings.

Judge Lynde Harrison, counsel for the company, presented a written statement, saying that the company admits the truth of the allegations contained in the complaint and consents to the appointment of a temporary receiver and to the issuance of an injunction to prevent the sale of the property and to prevent the issuance of suits against the receiver.

After the receiver had been appointed, it was announced that further proceedings would be held in New York state.

TEMPORARY VICTORY

SCORED BY THE FEDERATION OF LABOR.

By Associated Press to The Sun

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Sept. 28—A temporary victory was scored by the defendants in the suit of D. E. Loewe & Co., hat makers in Danbury, who are backed by the American Anti-Boycott association, against the officers of the American Federation of Labor, the officers of the United Hatters of North America and 250 members of the United Hatters as individuals. After a hearing before Judge George W. Wheeler of the superior court the amount of the attachment was reduced to $50,000. This was a very substantial reduction, as the real estate covered by attachment is held at an assessed valuation of $125,000 and the bank accounts of the individual defendants aggregate $52,000.

This hearing was on a motion by counsel for the defendants for the reduction of the amount of attachment, for an order for the substitution of a bond for the property attached and for an order requiring the oral examination of the members of the firm of D. E. Loewe & Co. as to the actual amount of damages sustained by the firm in consequence of the strike and boycott.

The oral examination of D. E. Loewe was secured as an incident to today's proceedings.

HELD MONEY CLUTCHED IN HER HAND.

By Associated Press to The Sun

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—While performing an autopsy yesterday on the body of eight-year-old Annie Jedlicka, who was run over by a truck near her home, 1359 Avenue A last Friday morning, Coroner's Physician O'Hanlon found a twenty-five-cent piece tightly clasped in the child's right hand.

Annie got the money a few minutes before she was killed and was on her way to buy a doll with it. In her excitement she didn't hear the shout of a truckman whose horse she darted in front of.

The child didn't regain consciousness until she reached the Presbyterian hospital. The money had remained in her hand after the accident, and when one of the nurses attempted to take it away the child begged to be allowed to keep it. No one attempted to take the money away from the child after that and it remained in her fingers while the doctors performed an operation.

BOYS EXAMINED

Relative to False Alarm From Box Nine

The boys did not deny that they pulled the alarm but said they did not do it maliciously. Their story was to the effect that on their way through Common street a woman rushed out of a house and told them to ring in the alarm for a chimney fire close by. Regan broke the glass in the box, the other boy opened the door and Regan turned the key.

They did not remain at the box until the firemen came, because, they said, they did not think it necessary. They were lectured as to the seriousness of such an offense and allowed to go.

PUGILIST TALKS

He Tells About His Conversion

By Associated Press to The Sun

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—The Ark of Salvation chose the humble stage of Miner's Theatre as its resting place yesterday. Its crew was sixty strong and they delivered themselves of twenty-three songs set to the music of popular airs from "The Good Old Summer Time" to "Hiawatha."

The three-score Salvationists are being led by Commander Booth-Tucker on a nine-day crusade of the Bowery. The most notable among them were "Billy" Smith, ex-featherweight pugilist, and his wife. Billy is slim, good looking and pugilistically developed. He told a story yesterday about a former friend who poured a lamp of burning oil over his wife and is now in prison for it.

"I'd ha' been like dat, meself," confessed the featherweight Salvationist, "if me wife hadn't got typhoid and promised de Lord dat if she ever got well she'd join de Salvation Army. One night her an' me passed the meeting place of Corps 16.

"'Come along, Billy,' sez she.

"'Me in dere?' says I. 'Not fer mine. Not fer a Thousand.'

"'Honest,'" interpolated Billy, taking the audience into his confidence, "I t'ought dey was all a lot o' grafters."

Officer Spitz here took advantage of a shout from the 900 Bowerytes assembled to start up "Hiawatha" to this effect:

I remember well the day
When I did stray,
Far, away.

"If de Lord tell me I' go down among yous an' t'row out de biggest man dere, I'd do it," concluded Billy, before sitting down.

Sister Osborn gave thanks that on Miner's stage "artificial things have given place to real things" and Commander Booth-Tucker then began to tell how "Mayor Noah braved the scoffs of the weather bureau and the threats of the lunacy commission in building his ark."

"And if you don't all get into the ark, right now, you'll be drowned just like those scoffers were. Thirty-two millions of you are now swept into eternity every year," he concluded.

Two women and thirteen men climbed into the "mercy seat," after varying amounts of urging.

PEACE FAR OFF

Parks and Anti-Parks Men Battle

By Associated Press to The Sun

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Sept. 28.—The atmosphere of peace that settled over the convention of the Structural Iron and Bridge Workers association, Saturday, has been rudely disturbed over Sunday and this morning, the tension between the Buchanan and Parks contingents was close to the breaking point. Before the convention met today, a split seemed inevitable. Samuel Parks refused to discuss the caucus he and his followers held last night with the avowed intention of mapping out a campaign to capture the convention and elect H. F. Donnelly of Albany, N. Y., as president and Mr. Buchanan was equally reticent in talking of the alleged plans of the anti-Parks element to walk out if the New York element should enforce matters their way.

The report of the committee on president's address in which it was believed President Buchanan would be attacked for his attitude in the New York troubles was one of the matters up for consideration when the convention met this morning, still behind closed doors.

RUSH OF SHORTS

Attempt to Cover in the Cotton Market

By Associated Press to The Sun

NEW YORK, Sept. 28—There was a wild rush of September shorts to cover in the cotton market this morning and the price for that delivery rose and fell in a manner that recalls the earlier days of the bull campaign. Closing on Saturday at 11.12, it opened this morning at 11.16. The next sale was at 11.17, and from this it jumped to 11.25. Then it was forced up 5 and 10 points at a time until 12.05 was reached, a net gain of about a cent a pound or nearly $50 on a trading contract of 100 bales. At this level the demand subsided somewhat and reacted to 11.50, the decline being almost as rapid and sensational as the upward movement. It was a noticeable day for September, and while notices of considerable cotton were issued, they were reported to be promptly stopped by a broker representing the New Orleans bull crowd and they evidentally fell short of covering the entire outstanding short interest. At any rate, shorts became urgent buyers soon after the call and the New Orleans leader was an active supporter of the option, indicating apparently a willingness to accept all actual cotton offerings. The balance of the list was fairly active and firm, showing net gains of 7 to 14 points at the best, easing off slightly afterward with September.

THE VATICAN

MAY TAKE PART IN THE WORLD'S FAIR.

By Associated Press to The Sun

ROME, Sept. 28. The negotiations for the participation of the Vatican in the St. Louis exposition are proceeding satisfactorily.

It is considered probable that the Holy See shall send as its representative an important cardinal of the curia. The chief difficulty is that the tradition and etiquette of the Vatican are against sending cardinals, except as ablegates to foreign countries and they are never sent to expositions or fairs. The difficulty will probably be overcome by sending a cardinal to America in connection with church affairs and he will afterwards proceed to St. Louis thus paying to the United States papacy's highest tribute.

DESTROYED BY FIRE

THE OLCOTT HOUSE WAS BURNED DOWN

By Associated Press to The Sun

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., Sept. 28.—The Olcott House, at Wurstboro, Sullivan county, one of the largest and oldest hotels in that county, was destroyed by fire early today, together with adjoining buildings. Little of the contents of the hotel was saved. The horses and cattle were burned to death. The loss is heavy.

BANKING SYSTEM

Is Said to Face a Crisis

By Associated Press to The Sun

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 28.—Within the last three weeks a condition has arisen which, if continued, will render it impossible for national banks henceforth to issue circulating notes at a profit. As national banking associations are organized primarily to earn dividends, although they are in a sense, as Secretary Shaw says, the servants of the people, it is evident that with the chance of profit gone, not much new bank currency will be issued. In conversation with a correspondent several days ago, Secretary Shaw made the significant statement that there was no longer any inducement for banks to issue circulation, and in his speech before the bankers of Maryland and the District of Columbia on Thursday last he made the same statement.

The fact is, as freely admitted by the secretary of the treasury, that the time has come which has been for years predicted by the opponents of the circulation feature of the national banking system. It has been said that the time would naturally come when government bonds would not be available for use as a basis of bank circulation, and so the bank currency system has been denounced as a makeshift scheme, merely temporary in character. This consideration has been one of the principal weapons of that school of financiers who have declared that "the government should go out of the banking business."

In his speech, above referred to, Secretary Shaw asks what substitute can be found for government bonds as a basis for bank currency, but he does not answer the question himself. The great bulk of the 2 per cent. bonds, which are used almost exclusively as security for circulation, are already on deposit in the treasury as security either for bank notes or federal deposits in the banks. Only a handful of this class of bonds is on the market, and this fact is shown only too plainly in the high prices prevailing at a time when the secretary of the treasury proposes to increase the deposits of public money.

After the notice was issued last Wednesday that the refunding operations would be resumed, there was a fall in prices of the 2 per cent. bonds. But even now they are quoted at 108 and 109.

The refunding operations do not promise success. The conditions in the bond markets are not favorable, and the bondholders do not seem by any means eager to exchange their 3 and 4 per cent. bonds for the long term 2s.

There has been a surprising slowness in the redemption of the 5 per cent. loan of 1904, and from present indications the proposition of Secretary Shaw to liquidate the loan at once and charge it to the sinking fund for 1904 will not meet with general favor among holders of the bonds.

CAUSE OF ACCIDENT

STATEMENT MADE BY VICE PRESIDENT FINLAY.

By Associated Press to The Sun

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—Vice President Finlay of the Southern Railway, made the following statement today regarding the accident to the mail train in the vicinity of Danville, yesterday:

"The train consisted of two mail cars, one express car and one baggage car for the storage of mails. The trestle is very little damaged as the train jumped the track about 40 feet north of the trestle on sound track, in good line and surface and proper gauge. The trestle was in first class condition and was so well braced that the engine and train falling on the outside of the curve knocked down the outside posts and left the others standing. Eye witnesses report that the train was approaching the trestle at a rate of speed of 30 to 35 miles per hour. The loss of life and the personal injuries are very much regretted. The cause of the accident is being investigated. The trestle was promptly repaired and the first train passed over it at 9.10 this morning."

STEEL STOCKS

Showed Extreme Weakness in the Market

By Associated Press to The Sun

NEW YORK, Sept. 28—Last week's liquidation was renewed at the opening of today's stock market. Extreme weakness was shown by steel securities, all of which went to new low records, the five per cent. bonds selling down to 65¾ and the common stock to 15 in the first hour. The traction shares also showed pronounced heaviness and a number of the higher class railway shares made declines of one point and over. One of the early features was a three-point break in Louisville & Nashville. Metropolitan Street railway at 106⅛ touched the lowest price reached in years. The selling movement came from all parts of the room and was doubtless inspired in a large measure by lower quotations from abroad, all the European financial centers showing an unfriendly attitude toward this market. Brokers reported large sales for Philadelphia, Pittsburg and middle west accounts. Efforts to rally the market soon after the opening and at other times during the early session proved unsuccessful.

PITTSBURG MARKET WEAK

By Associated Press to The Sun

PITTSBURG, Pa., Sept. 28—The local stock market was weak at the opening today and prices showed further declines, but there was no excitement. U. S. Steel common opened at 15¾ and with heavy selling declined to 14⅞.

LOW ATTACKED

First Gun of Democratic Campaign

GROUT AND FORNES ON TAMMANY TICKET

Jerome Will Stump for Fusion

By Associated Press to The Sun

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—After having taken time to think it over, politicians of all parties and factions became more than ever incredulous yesterday of the sincerity of the suggestion made by Charles F. Murphy, leader of Tammany hall, that Tammany might solve the problem it faces in regard to the King's county democratic organization by placing Edward M. Grout and Charles V. Fornes on the democratic city ticket. Mr. Grout seemed to be the only man who still believed that there was any possibility of such a thing. Inquiry established the fact that Mr. Grout had signified his willingness to take a nomination from Tammany without letting his fusion colleagues and the managers of the political organizations which had already nominated him know he was in negotiation with Tammany and that he was ready to accept the overtures made to him.

The fusionists were amazed yesterday at Mr. Grout's apparent willingness to permit his name to be placed on the Tammany ticket. Senator Platt and Timothy L. Woodruff declared that he could not accept and retain his self-respect. Their opinion was shared by E. R. L. Gould of the Citizens' Union. R. Fulton Cutting, with the optimism which is characteristic of him, said he saw no reason why the two fusion candidates should not receive Tammany support. Mayor Low declined to commit himself.

In Tammany there was jubilation over Mr. Grout's declaration that he would take a Tammany nomination if it should be offered. Not one of the Tammany leaders believes he will have a chance to accept, but Mr. Murphy has demonstrated his skill as a political guide by inducing Mr. Grout to turn his back on his fusion associates. They recalled the fact that in 1885 Mr. Grout, after having aided in bringing about the nomination of his friend, Edward M. Shepard, as a candidate for mayor of Brooklyn on an independent ticket, had turned around and accepted the ring democratic nomination.

"Another clearing of the atmosphere" was predicted confidently by the leaders of the fusion movement last night. Without exception the leaders of the Republican and Citizens' union organization declared that former Lieut.-Gov. Woodruff, in notifying Mayor Low, Comptroller Grout and Mr. Fornes formally of their renomination as the anti-Tammany candidates as Mayor Low's home tomorrow, would state the situation with reference to Mr. Murphy's proposed Tammany indorsement, and that in their replies Messrs. Grout and Fornes would define their positions.

Dist.-Atty. Jerome's heart will remain true to fusion and Mayor Low until after election day. Mr. Jerome will go on the stump for the fusion ticket. After the election he will act with democrats to reorganize the democracy. This announcement was made for Mr. Jerome by his friends after the return of the district attorney to this city from Lakeville last night. Mr. Jerome would not allow himself to be quoted regarding the exciting events which were transpiring.

It was said to be time something definite came from Mr. Jerome, however in view of the fact that last week he met Mr. Nixon in consultation at the request of one of the independent democrats who had signed the request to Mayor Low to again be a candidate for mayor, and that reports which Mr. Jerome would not then discuss had been spread that he might go on the stump for Mr. Nixon in case the latter became a candidate for mayor. It can be stated for Mr. Jerome that he never has had any intention of doing anything else than supporting the fusion ticket with all his energies.

In a bitter attack upon Mayor Low as partisan, the democratic managers fired the first gun of their campaign tonight in the guise of an address to the democratic voters of the city. Declaring that Mayor Low has shown himself to be a republican, and that he is under control of the republican leaders of the state and nation, the address asserts that there can be no such thing as non-partisanship in the present municipal struggle, and calls upon democrats to wait the action of the democratic city convention next Thursday night, promising that the ticket which will be placed in the field then will meet their approval.

William Hepburn Russell, late commissioner of accounts and chairman of the executive committee of the Greater New York democracy, now a supporter of Tammany, wrote to Mayor Low yesterday a letter replying to Mr. Low's acceptance of his resignation from the service.

"Not Richard Croker in the palmiest days of his power," Mr. Russell says, "ever dared to make an entire city ticket with a single stroke of his pen. Yet you accomplished this remarkable feat, and now charge me with sacrificing or willing to sacrifice the interests of the city of New York because as a democrat I do not regard a bi-partisan ticket headed by a republican as something to be hailed with delight by those independent democratic voters without whose votes the election of a fusion ticket is quite impossible.

As matters stand today I have determined to give my support to the democratic ticket as against the bi-partisan ticket, of which you are the head. One ticket will be just as non partisan as the other, and notwithstanding the opinion of Chairman Bruce of the republican committee to the contrary, I believe that democratic office holders are likely to be quite as honest and faithful to the interests of the city as republicans, masquerading as non-partisans."

Declaring the present municipal campaign to be a battle for the world between heaven and hell, the Rev. Dr. Cortland Meyer, last night in the Baptist Temple, Brooklyn, denounced Tammany and its methods. "This is a battle against Tammany iniquity. If that thieving organization gets another chance to steal, it will make up for lost opportunity and double the crime. This will be a battle for church and school and home and health and life itself. We have sent Tweeds and McKanes to Sing Sing and Crokers into exile, but this may be a Gettysburg.

"The issue ought to be defined, and the lines drawn distinct and sharp. It is a fight between good and bad, between honesty and dishonesty, between plunder and principle, between traitorism and truth, between heaven and hell."

HAD GOOD TIME

PRESIDENT NOW READY FOR HARD WORK.

By Associated Press to The Sun

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 28. The train bearing President Roosevelt to Washington arrived at the West Philadelphia station of the Pennsylvania railroad at 1.04 p. m., and after changing engines left four minutes later.

President Roosevelt alighted from his car and was approached by about 25 people who had gathered on the platform. He smiled and said:

"I am glad to see you. The crowd is so small I guess I can shake hands with you."

One of the newspaper men in the crowd asked the president if he had enjoyed his vacation. He replied:

"I did. I had a bully time and I never felt better in my life. I am now ready for 13 months more of hard work."

Now for football, broken arms and battered heads.

Congratulations to the Mohairs, Hird and Priestley!

The caucuses are over. Now for a great democratic victory in November.

The local democracy presents a clean set of young and capable men for legislative honors in the coming election.

This is a week of conventions—a time when governors, senators and representatives, besides an army of grafters, will be made.

Gaston is gaining right here in Lowell. The sentiment is strong for him among the independent voters, as the returns on election day promise to show.

Aside from Representative Luce, the author of the bill, we know of no one who has gone into ecstasies over the workings of the Luce bill in the Boston primaries.

To the liquor squad—For the few things that you have done, the people will give you praise; for the many offences that you have overlooked you can expect only condemnation.

Nixon is out for the democratic nomination for mayor of New York. "The more the merrier," but it really does look as if Brooklyn hesitated just a trifle too long before trotting out her favorite son.

The Haverhill Gazette hints that Lowell will be avoided by the Ancients and Honorables on account of no-license. We rather think they would enjoy the beauty and order of a no-license city after passing through such cities as Fall River and Boston.

Andover street is too fine a boulevard to be neglected. The Tewksbury officials should not forget the amount of money expended in the construction of that roadway. A little care on the part of the street department of that town would keep the street in presentable condition.

Democrats, beware of the "good fellow" argument. Remember that your democratic friend is just as reliable in the matter of friendship as his republican opponent. The republicans give away nothing, so why should you cast your vote against your party on the ground of "good fellowship."

The health department's crusade on hen roosts should result in abating some of the nuisances that exist in our city and are a menace to public health. It is not the most pleasant thing in the world to have a hennery or a menagerie located close to one's dining or sleeping apartments. The health department cannot act too quickly in this matter.

A girl is running the entire business of the municipality of Linares, Mexico. She occupies all the offices from mayor down and her administration is so acceptable that the Mexican congress will vote her a medal. She is a woman of grit and determination and the success she has attained will, undoubtedly, inspire the woman suffragists to renewed action.

In handling the preliminaries to the nomination of the Tammany candidate for mayor of Greater New York, Charles Murphy, the Tammany leader, has shown himself a most astute political leader. It was no eleventh hour with its inevitable squabble for him. He declared himself and made known his preference when the Brooklyn men refused to come to the front. It looks like a sweeping democratic victory in Greater New York.

Now for another scandal. Colonel Henry Watterson, Louisville's great citizen, charges that the $40,000,000 which was exacted from the United States in accordance with the proposed compact with the Panama Canal company was to have been divided among thieves. The administration is certainly having its troubles, and it only goes to show that the game of "graft" is still the prominent factor in the republican camp.

Tonight the senatorial convention will meet to name Michael J. Mahoney for senator in the sixth district. Mr. Mahoney has served two terms in the house of representatives, and has been heard on all matters of public interest, especially labor matters, that have come before the state legislature during his terms of service and is worthy of the suffrage of the people. He will make a representative senator if favored with the votes of the majority of the citizens of the district.

Colonel Gaston opines that the Luce law is a blow at the independent voter inasmuch as it deprives him of his constitutional right at the primaries. A strange thing about the law is that in Boston it had rather the opposite effect from what was intended. The republicans looked to a reduced democratic vote at the primaries and were disappointed to learn of the immense outpouring of democrats as compared with the number of republicans who exercised their right at the caucus. It does seem that every measure the republican machine in this state frames to injure the democratic party arts as a boomerang.

THE COAL TRUST.

The coal trust starts in to curtail production in order to keep up the price. Yet some people will say that there is no coal trust. If ever there existed a trust anywhere on American soil, it exists in the combination that controls not only the coal supply but the agencies of transportation. There is no use of talking of the government controlling the trusts while the trusts control the government as at present seems to be the case.

TOO MANY FADS.

Mrs. Julia E. Duff, of the Boston school board, charges that fads and specialization greatly hamper the practical work of the public school. She claims that "instead of drawing out the pupil's power by systematic and thorough training in the few essentials, he is constantly deluged with an infinite number of unessentials which serve only to weaken his power of concentration and to waste his mental and physical energy. The consequence is that we are turning out every year thousands of public school graduates who have been taught a smattering of numerous pretty things, but who are wretchedly poor spellers, slipshod readers, inaccurate arithmeticians, totally crude and incompetent speakers and writers, and yet are holders of diplomas certifying to successful examination in all sorts of cathetic courses."

SEEN AND HEARD

Duke, the big yellow dog, that bore so great a likeness to a lion, is dead. A few years ago he was used as a lion by the Hosfords in one of the most comical and unique parades ever seen in this city. He was clipped so as to look the real lion and his trainer was getting along finely in the cage until Duke got a whiff of fried liver and onions cooking at the old homestead. It was then that the natives were treated to the most laughable feature of the parade. It was the first exhibition of a barking lion ever seen in Lowell and it made a great big hit. Duke sniffed the air, wagged his tail, and barked as he never barked before. His rage was nothing more substantial than a dry goods box with slats across and as the second whiff of the liver and onions was wafted his way he broke prison, carrying the dry goods box and his keeper with him to the street. That was the last time Duke ever played lion and last night the poor old fellow moved on to the bow-wow land.

Andrew Carnegie made his first public address when he graduated from short skirts into trousers. Little Andrew, according to the legend, had long envied the children who, every Sunday, dressed in their best, went off to "the school," from which they returned enriched with papers and picture cards. He was a happy boy when he was first sent there.

"Does anyone know a nice text?" asked the pretty teacher, after several children had primly "spoken their parts."

Up went the hand of the boy. The teacher looked surprised.

"Do you know a text, Andrew?" she asked doubtfully.

"Yes," said Andrew. "'A penny saved is a penny earned!'"

When the little Carnegies, including the enterprising Andrew, yearned unwisely for the seductive wares of the neighboring candy shops, their mother used to encourage them to be thrifty by repeating the proverb, "A penny saved is a penny earned." Andrew had hearkened and heeded, hence his precocious text.

Years afterward, when, by a careful observance of this "text," he was in a position to become a philanthropist, the teacher recalled the incident and told it to her friends.

A little story that has to do with the renting of a tenement and into the web of which is also woven a few loose yarns from the tail end of the coal famine, was told me the other day. The house was advertised to rent and a woman saw the ad and found the owner of the house. He was showing the woman through and she seemed fairly well satisfied with the upstairs portion of the house, but the cellar wasn't quite so inviting. She was bent upon seeing it, however, and the man lighted a candle. "Step down ahead of me," he said to her, and the woman stepped. The family that had occupied the house during the coal famine season had used the cellar stairs for wood. The owner of the house didn't know that and when the woman stepped she went all the way and landed in water up to her knees. It wasn't a very deep cellar, to be sure, but the water was there and she was very wet. She hollered, "Murder!" and called to the man to help her up. He wouldn't help her, he said, until she stopped screeching, and when she consented to, he gave her his hand and pulled her up. She wanted to go right away quick, but the shrewd man wouldn't allow her. "You must stay here," he said, "until I get a doctor to see if you're injured."

"But I'm soaking wet," she insisted.

"Can't help that," he replied. "I must have you examined so that if you bring suit I will know where I'm at." Finally, after the woman assured him that she would not bring suit, he allowed her to go. The house is still vacant.

"The trolley car," said a prominent oculist the other day, "is the cause of more distressing and serious eye troubles than all the other so-called abuses of our over civilization. It is true that we will misuse our eyes in many ways, but the worst abuse of them is reading in trolley cars.

"In the steam railroad trains the motion is entirely different from that of the electrically-propelled vehicle. There are few jerks and false starts, and the vibration, owing to the weight of the cars, the solidity of roadbeds, and the steady speed, is not particularly noticeable when reading. But the trolley car does not maintain the same rate of speed for more than a few moments at a time. It is constantly swaying and jerking. The roadbed is so light that the car bounces along like a billiard ball, and the eye that is trying to read is forced to follow quivering lines up and down and criss-cross.

"I have had dozen of patients lately whom I have relieved entirely by merely making them stop reading in the trolley car.

"Many men and women wonder why they have those queer, 'binding' headaches when they reach home after their nightly ride in the cars. Well, most of them have the headache that results from the eye strain. The trouble is insidious, and the eye itself is rarely pained. The pain comes from the strained, superinflamed nerves behind the eye, and they carry their trouble on to the brain. Stop reading in trolley cars, and there will be fewer mysterious headaches."

SIX DAY RACE

PHILADELPHIAS ANNUAL EVENT OCCURS NEXT MONTH.

The annual six day go-as-you-please pedestrian race, which has been one of the sporting features in Philadelphia, will take place during the week beginning November 13, and ending November 18.

The race this year will be run under new conditions owing to the law being changed in the state of Pennsylvania and in order to overcome the restrictions against continuous six-day racing Manager Eckhardt has changed the event into a team race. This change promises to make the race more exciting and insures fast work from the start to the finish.

All of the old timers, Canavaugh, Dineen, Hegleman, Golden Glick, Howarth, Cartwright, Barnes, Nolan, Normac, Davis, the Indian, have already started into training for the big race. But the new conditions of the race make the event a very open one and will give the new element a chance to carry off the first prize.

Entry blanks and all other information pertaining to the race can be had by addressing John P. Eckhardt, 213 N. 13th Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

"BILLY" PARSONS

Breaks Into the Polo League

There is considerable talk of Lowell getting into the polo league which is being made up under the direction of Jacob Morse, Tim Murnane and Willie Parsons. The circuit at the present time includes Lawrence, Chelsea, Lynn, Salem, Stoneham and Woburn. It is doubtful if the local enthusiasts want to see Lowell in such a league. They would much rather do without polo for a year or so and then see the real article.

Lowell has been in the habit of seeing good polo, or at least we saw championship polo played here for two years. Towards the latter part of last season the western league had a little the better of the argument and put eastern polo to the very bow-wows and this year all the polo players who are worth anything will be found in the western league. The Lawrence Sun-American in writing on the prospects for polo mentions the names of Pierce, Curtis, Gannon, Devlin, Murphy, Mead and Dawson. "Dickey" Pierce will manage one of the western teams and as for the other players mentioned if they can land positions in the west they will do so. The only thing that will keep those men in the east will be the fact that they are not fast enough for the western players, or rather the fact that they are not fast enough for the western players, or rather the eastern players in the west.

We had our innings with polo in this section of the country and at the present time the west is on top, but next year or possibly the year after the east will be a hot bed and the eastern players together with a number of westerners will make their way to this section of the country and pitch their tents. While we would like to see polo we would much rather not see any for a couple of years than have second rate teams which have no license to appear in a rink.

Bill Parsons, who has been in Los Angeles, writes that his pet scheme, the Ohio league, is up the flue, or in other words, that he has received the freeze out in the west, but Wise Willie wires on: "Tell the people in Lowell and vicinity that they will have polo this year." The above few words caused "Me and Jake" to look into the matter of the new league and after looking it up decided that they would gain control of the whole shooting match by allowing the league promoters to use the name of the American league. The promoters, directors, or whatever they termed themselves, fell easy victims and even went so far as to appoint "Me and Jake" president and secretary. Bill Parsons is now on his way east to get into the game which his advance guard made easy for him. Oh, Willie! You are the wise one.

PRELIMINARY EXAMINATION

IN THE CASE AGAINST SENATOR GREEN.

By Associated Press to The Sun

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., Sept. 29.—The preliminary examination of Senator George E. Green on charges of conspiracy and bribery in connection with post office investigations took place here yesterday, before U. S. Commissioner Hall. U. S. District Attorney Curtiss, on behalf of the government, moved that the proceedings be adjourned until October 10, stating that he had not given the matter necessary research to present it to this court at present.

John E. Stanchfield said that the defendant was ready to proceed with the case and he now wished it understood that the defense did not ask for the delay. He realized, however, that it is proper that the district attorney should have time to look over the case. The commissioner thereupon adjourned the case until October 12.

OUT IN DUNSTABLE

GAME WARDENS ARE THICKER THAN PARTRIDGES.

According to the statement of some Nashua sportsmen the game wardens are thicker than partridges just over the Massachusetts border in the town of Dunstable, and especially in the vicinity of Island pond. Last week a couple of Nashua men went over that way to hunt partridges and gray squirrels. The actions of two men they saw attracted their attention, and, meeting some one shortly afterward at a farmhouse, they inquired about the men they had seen and were informed they were game wardens. It seems, according to a report, that the wardens in Tyngsboro and Dunstable are paying particular attention to New Hampshire huntsmen this fall, and if there is any attempt to carry game over the state line some one will be "nabbed." It is whispered that perhaps the activity of the Massachusetts officers is an attempt to "get back" because of the wholesale prosecution of Bay state men who violate the game laws in this state. Game violations are very plentiful in the towns of Hudson, Pelham, Windham and Salem, and the majority of the parties come from Lowell or Lawrence.

RUSSIAN FORCE

250,000 Troops in the Far East

By Associated Press to The Sun

TIEN TSIN, Sept. 29.—The military strength of Russia in the far east is now as follows:

In Manchuria proper 60,000 men of all arms, including 18 batteries of artillery; on the lines of communication between Port Arthur and the Amur province, 110,000 men and at Port Arthur and Talienwan, 90,000 men.

Mrs. Van Wormer accepted his decision as final and returned home.

MARTIN AT LARGE

He Succeeds in Eluding His Pursuers

By Associated Press to The Sun

NORTHFIELD, Vt., Sept. 29.—Adelbert Martin, who is under indictment for murderous assault upon Mrs. Stephen Trombley at South Northfield last Tuesday night, has again sent his defi to the officers who are searching for him, through farmer John Verge, at whose home he stopped for food, and to whom he said that the three deputy sheriffs on his track would never catch him alive.

Martin appeared at the farm in the town of Warren, 17 miles north of this place, early yesterday, and asked for something to eat. He was promptly recognized and an effort was made to detain him. He, however, declined an invitation to sit down with the family at breakfast, but took some food in his hand and hurried away.

While one member of the household hurried to the nearest telephone station to notify the police at Northfield, others followed Martin down the road and attempted to engage him in conversation.

Martin had little to say and in a few moments abruptly left his companions, entered the woods and disappeared. Officers who took up the trail later spent the day in futile search.

PURSUERS ALWAYS OUTWITTED.

The way in which Martin has for nearly a week evaded his pursuers, occasionally stopping at a farmhouse and begging food, but always disappearing at the approach of any considerable number of men, and yet remaining always within a radius of 20 miles of the scene of his alleged crime, is thoroughly puzzling to the police and has resulted in terrorizing farmers' families throughout this section.

Martin is regarded practically as an outlaw. That he is clever is proved by the way in which he has repeatedly outwitted those in pursuit of him. In whatever direction he has taken his advent has been followed by reports of hen roots robbed and orchards visited.

Daily he appears at some point where he is recognized either by acquaintances or those familiar with the description of him sent broadcast, but never where there are officers or sufficient number of men to effect his capture.

A large revolver protrudes from his hip pocket and it is believed that he would not hesitate to use the same if necessary.

From daylight yesterday 200 men armed with all sorts of firearms and other weapons have continued the organized search begun Sunday.

The men are divided into three posses, working under the direction of Deputy Sheriffs Martin Fitzgerald and Benjamin Gates of Montpelier, and Frederick Mosely of this town respectively.

Every foot of ground within 10 miles of this place has been gone over. Even after nightfall the search has been continued, and last night sentinels were posted at numerous points on all roads leading out of this place and a system of signals has been arranged by which the sentinels can communicate with one another promptly.

FRIENDS MAY BE AIDING HIM.

Martin is in poor health, and for this reason it is believed that he cannot travel more than eight or ten miles a day, and that he is depending less upon his ability to cover long distances than upon his wits to elude his pursuers when they are close upon him.

Martin is unique in many ways. He is supposed to be a native of Calais, where his father, James Martin, lives. His first appearance in Northfield was last winter when he hired a hall here and caused advertising matter to be distributed that he would speak on his travels.

Disgusted by lack of patronage, he deserted the lecture platform, and later, it is said, announced himself as an agent for the anti-saloon league. Following this he appeared in the role of a private detective, and also as an agent for farm machinery. He became acquainted with Mrs. Trombley through having her do his washing.

Martin's case recalls that of the negro, Osborne, who several years ago broke into a house and attempted to assault a woman. The negro was arrested the day following, and at his trial in the county court received a sentence of 20 years in state prison.

The town officials are considering the advisability of offering a reward for the capture of Martin, and it is expected that an announcement will be made by them today.

THE POLITICAL HUNTING SEASON HAS OPENED.

BOTH ARRESTED

Boston Police Made Good Capture

BELL BOYS SUSPECTED OF BLOWING OPEN SAFE

Money Found in Their Possession

By Associated Press to The Sun

BOSTON, Sept. 29.—The police last evening, acting under the directions of Deputy Hanscom, arrested Curtis Montjoy, aged 29, and George Dorsey, aged 24, as they alighted from a train at 10.50 at the Huntington avenue station, and thus brought to a sudden end the flight of the men who had started yesterday morning from Jamestown, N. Y., where, it is alleged, they had an hour before boarding the train, blown open a safe in the Clifford hotel and stolen the strong box inside it, as well as the contents of the money drawer.

Both are colored and were employed at the hotel as bell boys. Dorsey not long ago lived on Buckingham street in this city, and the other went to Jamestown from Chicago. The strong box was found by the police, last evening in a bag that Dorsey carried, and it was still unopened, although there was evidence of an attempt to force the cover. In the pockets of one was found $50 and on the other $20. Dispatches from Jamestown say that there was about $150 in the box. Both men say they will go back without requisition papers.

Nothing was known of the break at the hotel until yesterday morning, when the safe was found to have been blown open and the money taken.

When the Jamestown police were told of it, one of the patrolmen remembered of having seen two colored men board the 3 o'clock train for the east. As it is rather unusual for passengers to get on that train, he noticed them particularly, and was able to give a pretty good description of them.

As Montjoy and Dorsey were both missing from their morning duties at the hotel, it was at once presumed that they were the guilty ones, and descriptions of them were telegraphed to different cities, particularly to Boston.

Chief Watts detailed some of his inspectors to cover the North and South stations. Last evening Deputy Hanscom thought it would be a good idea to keep an eye on some of the outlying stations, as he thought the fugitives might decide to leave the train before reaching town, so he assigned some patrolmen from Charlestown to look out for Prison point, and sent some division 16 patrolmen to cover the Huntington avenue station.

The patrolmen had hardly taken up their posts at the Huntington avenue station when the train rolled in, and from it there stepped two colored men who answered the description of the men wanted. They were locked up in the city prison and the fact reported to the Jamestown police.

HENRY LLOYD

By Associated Press to The Sun

CHICAGO, Sept. 29.—Henry D. Lloyd, a widely-known writer on economic subjects, died yesterday at his home in Winnetka, of pneumonia, after a week's illness. He was born in New York city May 1, 1847. He published a manual for voters with the characteristic title, "Every Man His Own Voter," which was distributed throughout the city in that campaign.

Lloyd came to Chicago in 1872, and until 1885 occupied a position as an editorial writer on the Chicago Tribune. Since then he has devoted his time to the publication of articles on labor problems in the current magazines.

TOOK TWO GAMES

Boston Americans Defeat St. Louis

By Associated Press to The Sun

BOSTON, Sept. 29—The champions concluded the regular schedule yesterday, with a double victory over St. Louis, shutting the visitors out in the second game. The first game was marred by clumsy fielding but was close enough to be interesting. The visitors played listlessly in the second game and could do nothing with Dineen's pitching. The errors of Bowcock and Shannon were costly and Sudhoff was batted freely. Interest centred in the clever fielding of Boston, though no sensational plays were made. The score:

PLAYED CIRCUS

Little Boy Shot in the Head

By Associated Press to The Sun

UTICA, Sept. 29.—Clarence Broughton, Nelson Marco and several other children of Little Falls arranged a juvenile wild west show and were exhibiting before a crowd of youthful companions, who had paid one cent each for admission, yesterday, when young Broughton was introduced to the audience as William Tell, and explained that he would shoot an apple off the head of Marco, who posed for the event some distance away.

Broughton elevated his rifle, took deliberate aim, and without exhibiting a sign of fear Marco stood with arms folded while the young marksman pulled the trigger and sent a bullet crashing through his forehead. Physicians were called and say that the boy may die.

LYMAN MILLS

ASK FOR AN ABATEMENT OF TAXES.

By Associated Press to The Sun

SPRINGFIELD, Sept. 29.—The arguments in the case of the Lyman mills of Holyoke, petitioner for abatement of taxes, against the city of Holyoke, were heard by Judge E. B. Sheldon of Boston, in the equity sitting of the Superior court yesterday.

The case which has been pending for seven years, involves the valuation of the Lyman mills plant. The Holyoke assessors estimate its value at $1,103,150, and have imposed taxes on that basis since 1896.

Commissioner Arthur Lord, who first heard the case, found for the city of Holyoke.

The evidence submitted before Commissioner Lord was placed before Judge Sheldon in six large typewritten volumes, and further evidence will be introduced.

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 29.—Rear Admiral Stephen B. Luce, whom some of the republicans intended to ask to become a candidate for mayor, will not run for the office.

The admiral is spending a few weeks in the Adirondacks and has written to a friend here that he could not consent to enter politics to such an extent as running for mayor would require.

Many republicans who felt that the admiral would make a popular candidate are disappointed.

HAD ROUGH TIME

Young Men Caught in Storm

BEACHED THEIR YACHT ON PEDDOCK'S ISLAND

Baled Water All Night Long

By Associated Press to The Sun

DEDHAM, Sept. 29.—There are 13 young men of East Dedham, Germantown and Roslindale who say they are through with yachting, for a time, at least, because of the experience they had Sunday.

The party was composed of 11 members of the Twelve associates and two guests. The remaining member of the associates, George Ratcliffe, staid at home, and does not regret that he missed the trip.

It was late yesterday afternoon when the 13 tired and drenched, but happy, arrived at their homes to be received with joy by their anxious families. Ever since Sunday night, when their non-appearance caused their friends to worry, numerous inquiries had been made.

The party left the South Boston yacht clubhouse about 3 Sunday morning on a smelt fishing trip. The yacht was in charge of Paul Young, its owner, and a crew of four men. The day was passed fishing near Minots light, where they anchored.

Having finished fishing the anchor was shipped and the party started for home, little realizing the tedious night before them. In the midst of their merriment the storm broke and then ensued a terrible experience for all. Tossed about like an eggshell the yacht seemed about to go down every minute. Finally the danger was increased by the vessel springing a leak. Taking turns the water was baled out as fast as it came in. All night long they were tossed about.

At 8.45 yesterday morning, however, they succeeded in beaching the yacht on Peddocks Island. All were thoroughly drenched and tired out.

Going across to Hingham they boarded the 12 o'clock boat to Boston, after sending word to their relatives. The yacht was left at Peddocks Island.

STREET CAR SERVICE

BROCKTON ALDERMEN HANDLE IT WITHOUT GLOVES.

By Associated Press to The Sun

BROCKTON, Sept. 29.—The local street car service was handled without gloves by the aldermen last night and two orders, one directing the mayor to appear before the railroad commissioners and the other calling for a mass meeting of citizens, were passed.

The first order authorizes the mayor to go to the railroad commissioners with a request that the 15-minute schedule on Belmont street recently abolished by the road, be restored and that a general improvement in service be made. The mass meeting is called for Monday evening at 8 o'clock, at which Mayor Coulter and the members of the street railway committee are to be present.

It is expected that this meeting will draw a large attendance of citizens, and data will be collected at this time for the mayor to present to the railroad commissioners.

Alderman Rapp was the author of the orders, and declared it a shame that the city should put up with such wretched service as is now provided. Women as well as men at certain times in the day have, he said, to stand on fenders and running boards and between car seats to journey to their homes, and he spoke of a case where cars supposed to seat 65 carry from 105 to 110 passengers every morning.

Alderman Cox referred to the recently passed law which deprives the city of authority in regulating its car service and said the matter should be agitated until the commissioners do something for the relief of the city.

INDICTMENTS VALID

IN THE CASE OF DRIGGS AND MILLER.

By Associated Press to The Sun

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—The validity of the indictments against Ex-Congressman Edmund H. Driggs of Brooklyn and George F. Miller, of New York agent of the Brandt-Dent Automatic Cashier company, charging them with participation in the postal frauds, was upheld in a decision handed down yesterday by Judge Thomas in the United States District court in Brooklyn.

Driggs was charged with receiving money while a congressman for furthering the interests of the Automatic Cashier company and Miller was accused of paying money to corrupt a congressman.

Demurrer was interposed in behalf of Mr. Driggs on the ground that the facts set forth in the indictment were insufficient to constitute a crime, that the case as alleged was barred by the statute of limitations, and that the sections under which the indictments were found were unconstitutional.

Judge Thomas holds that the alleged crime was committed while Driggs was a congressman and that so far as the statute of limitations was concerned the alleged payments were all made within three years before the indictment was found.

CHICAGO, Sept. 29.—The marchers in the big centennial parade tonight will be compelled to tramp over the route without a musical note to cheer them. The Musicians' union last night positively refused to take part in the parade or to have anything whatever to do with the centennial celebration if the marine band of Washington is to play at the mass meeting in the Auditorium on Thursday night which is to be the final act of the celebration.

The union declares that its constitution forbids its members to have anything to do with an event in which enlisted men in the government service take part. The union, therefore, demanded that the invitation to the marine band be withdrawn or the union musicians would decline to furnish music for any part of the centennial celebration. The committee refused the demand and the playing by the marine band Thursday night will therefore be the only music of the celebration.

The secretary has all the papers in the case before him. After examining them, his answer to Paymaster Briscoe probably will be supplemented by an official endorsement of Admiral Evans' review.

POLICE GUARD

At Offices of Lake Superior Company

Two Frenchmen Were Shot by the Police—The Situation in the Soo is Very Exciting

By Associated Press to The Sun

SAULT STE MARIE, Mich., Sept. 29—Last night the situation in the Canadian Soo, which has been the scene of serious rioting by the discharged employes of the Consolidated Lake Superior company, was very grave.

A meeting of the employes of the company was held in Barnes' hall yesterday morning and its proceedings were of the most heated character. The particular grievance which seemed to have inflamed the men to acts of disorder, was the promises of pay yesterday when the men who made the promises, the employes believe, knew they could not be fulfilled.

Immediately after this meeting adjourned, the men went in a body to the office of the company determined to get their money or "get satisfaction," as they put it.

The doors of the office were locked and guarded by the police and all the men got was a bulletin posted upon the door which read as follows:

"Officers and employes of the Consolidated Lake Superior Co:

"The president and directors in New York have been unable to raise the money to pay the wages and salaries now due the men and officers of the company. Advices received from New York this morning indicate that our president and directors have a plan to raise the money necessary to not only pay the men, but to start up the works that seem to promise such success. The plan has the indorsement and promised support of Sir Wilfred Laurier, the premier of Canada, and G. W. Ross, premier of Ontario, and it is expected to produce the necessary money inside of 30 days. While we regret very much the inability of the company to pay today, the fact remains that there is no money to pay with.

"There seems to be only one thing left for them to do, and that is to accept offers of work elsewhere, leave their checks with friends, responsible attorney or business men to collect for them when the company pays. Bear in mind that your wages will have to be paid ultimately and constitute a justice obligation against the company which all the property and other assets will be liable for."

The notice instead of allaying the excitement of the crowd which by this time was estimated to number 1500, made them furious and despite the efforts of the combined strength of the local police and the company's private police force, rocks and other missiles soon filled the air, directed at the windows of the office buildings.

The assault was successful and a mass of frenzied rioters secured possession of the ground floor of the building, destroying everything movable that came in their path. A crowd of the office staff with drawn revolvers prevented their gaining access to the upper floors of the building. Every window and door in the building is smashed.

Some one then turned in an alarm of fire with a view of using the hose upon the mob. The firemen turned several streams on the crowd and drove them quite a distance from the building.

The arrival of the troops on the grounds armed with blank cartridges about 2 o'clock served to restore some semblance of order. The rioters then contented themselves with throwing stones at the building and hurling injectives at the soldiers, who established a "dead line," and prevented any approach toward the building by any of the rioters.

No reinforcements of militia have arrived from outside and the only defense against the mob which grows hourly, is a more or less demoralized police department and a small company of militia men. The greater number of the mob are ignorant Italians, Finns, Norwegians and Frenchmen, the latter perhaps the hardest of all to handle. All have been drinking more or less, although the bars yesterday afternoon obeyed an order to close up. The mob is one which cannot be reasoned with and the man they seem most anxious to get at is Mr. Coyne, the assistant manager, who, in the absence of Mr. Shields, is in charge of the works. Mr. Coyne discreetly kept out of sight all day. Late yesterday afternoon the leaders of the mob held a conference and demanded that the company house the men in their hotel and boarding houses and feed them until the money for their wages is forthcoming. In order to appease the crowd this demand was granted and the men have taken possession of the White House, a large boarding house operated by the company. Provisions are being sent there to feed them.

An attempt is being made to put the street car system in the Canadian Soo, which suspended operations in the morning after an attack had been made upon it, into operation again. Two cars were sent out into yesterday heavily guarded.

Inasmuch as most of the rioters were not on the streets at the time this trial was made, no disorder occurred. It is estimated that there are 2000 men in the Soo, and these are reinforced by all the idle rabble in town. A train carrying 500 more woodsmen was expected to arrive on the Algoma Central late last night. The local police force is being strengthened by the addition of all the deputies who can be found, each man being given a badge and a revolver and ordered to use the latter whenever necessary. Considerable feeling has been aroused over the shooting of two Frenchmen by the police during the trouble yesterday morning. The rioters claim that the officers used their revolvers when it was unnecessary. Neither of the men is fatally hurt, however.

The mob threatens an attack upon police headquarters with a view of effecting the release of all the men, who have been arrested. Both that building and that occupied by the fire department is guarded against attack.

The problem yesterday's developments have created is beyond the solution of any of the company officials on the grounds. Apparently their only hope is that the anger of the mob will spend itself and that the men will get out of town by degrees.

COLDER

BUNCOED BY "SPOOK"

A Chelsea Man Makes the Charge

By Associated Press to The Sun

BOSTON, Sept. 29—Yielding to the bidding of his controlling spirit, as he supposed, Fred S. Barstow, a well known coal and wood dealer in Chelsea, took out a policy of insurance on his life, but subsequently discovered that the spirit he consulted was not one that had guided his destiny.

Since it was solely at the suggestion and advice of the spirit that he procured the policy, he is anxious to return it, now that he has learned, as he claims, that it was only a spiritualistic medium, who had assumed the appearance and shape of his controlling spirit, that he talked to.

While he has implicit confidence in the counsel that his governing spirit might give to him, he has little faith in any advice that might come from what he regards as an imposter, and wants his money back.

With that end in view he has brought a suit in the Municipal Civil court against E. T. Johnson of Salem, an agent for the Prudential Life Insurance company to recover $2000.

The case came up for trial yesterday before Judge Bolster in one of the civil sessions, but as the defendant had made no answer nor entered the appearance of counsel, it was ordered for a new marking, with the understanding that if the defendant did not appear damages would be assessed if the court concluded that the plaintiff was entitled to recover.

Plaintiff declares that the defendant is the agent of the insurance company named, and that the defendant, with intent to deceive him, represented that his controlling spirit desired him to take out an insurance policy.

Barstow is a believer in Spiritualism and held that the spirit of departed men could counsel and advise people while on this earth, which he asserts the defendant knew.

He affirms that the defendant induced a certain supposed Spiritualistic medium, at the time living in this city, to take the appearance and shape of the controlling spirit and to advise him to take out said policy of insurance.

The medium, on account of the inducements of the defendant according to the plaintiff, took upon herself the form and appearance of the latter's controlling spirit, and while thus masquerading, as told, advised and ordered him to take out said insurance with the company mentioned.

While the medium was thus acting as the dominating spirit of the plaintiff, the latter, having implicit confidence in and trusting the same, gave the defendant agent an order for a policy of insurance on his life.

He declares he has learned that the advice was not given by his controlling spirit, and that the supposed Spiritualistic medium was not a proper one, and the order given to him was made on account of deceit, so he offered to return the policy to the company's agent from the city of Witches, and made a demand for the return of his money, but the agent refused to accede to the demand.

He did not require any insurance and never would have obtained any if it were not for the misrepresentations that he alleges were made to him. He says he has suffered a loss and wishes to be reimbursed, so asks the court to aid him in obtaining justice.

AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENTS

IMMENSE EXPORT FROM UNITED STATES LAST YEAR.

Agricultural implements exported from the United States last year amounted to 21 million dollars in value; in 1892 they amounted to only 4½ million dollars in value; in 1882, to less than 4 million dollars; in 1872, to 2½ millions, and in 1863 to less than a half million dollars. The growth of exportation of this class of manufactures has been extremely rapid. Prior to 1865 the exportation of agricultural implements had never reached as much as a million dollars, and during the 25 years following that date the growth was slow, the total having reached about $3,850,000 in 1890. From that date forward, however, the growth was rapid. By 1895 the total was 5½ million dollars; in 1900, 16 millions, and, as already indicated, in 1903, 21 millions.

Of this total of 21 million dollars worth of agricultural implements exported last year, nearly 3 million dollars in value went to France, and about an equal sum to Argentina; a million and a half to the United Kingdom, and about an equal sum to Germany; a million and a quarter to Australia, and over a million to Africa. These are the figures of 1903. In 1893 the value of agricultural implements sent to France was but about $300,000, as against nearly 3 millions in the year just ended. The value of those sent to Germany in 1893 was about $300,000, against about 1¼ millions in the year just ended. To Argentina the value in 1893 was about 1¼ millions, against nearly 3 millions in the year just ended.

These facts, presented by the department of commerce and labor, through its bureau of statistics, are especially interesting at the present moment, because of the publication now being made by that department and bureau of a series of reports from consuls in various parts of the world on the sales and opportunities for sales of agricultural implements in the various sections of the world which they represent. These reports were called for by the department of state some months since at the request of the National Association of Agricultural Implement and Vehicle Manufacturers, and are to be printed in pamphlet form for the use of that association at its approaching annual meeting.

Few articles show a more rapid growth in exportation than do agricultural implements, or a wider distribution. As already indicated, the total has grown from a little over a half million dollars in 1861 to over 21 millions in 1903, or nearly 40 times as much in 1903 as in 1861, while manufacturers of iron and steel, which growth has been looked upon as phenomenal, are only about 12 times as much in value of exports in 1903 as in 1861. The distribution of American agricultural implements has also extended to nearly all parts of the world. The bureau of statistics' export statement shows that reapers and mowers were sent in 1902 to over 70 different countries, and plows and cultivators to even a larger list of countries and dependencies. The sound of the American mower and reaper is heard in British, French and Portuguese Africa, in Egypt, in European and Asiatic Turkey, in European and Asiatic Russia, in Japan, in India, in Australia, and in practically all of the South American countries and all of the countries of Europe, while the American plow and cultivator go to practically every country in the world.

CROWDED ROOMS

Discussed by the School Board Last Night

EVENING DRAWING SCHOOL TEACHERS APPOINTED

Opinion Received From City Solicitor

The school board met in regularly monthly session last evening and discussed the subject of overcrowded schoolrooms.

The subject was brought up by a joint report of the committee on teachers and rules, which provides for emergencies in such cases as the overcrowding of schoolrooms.

The report was submitted by Mr. Thompson, the chairman of the committee on rules, and is in pursuance of the civil service system of securing teachers for the schools. In the report the committee recommended the insertion in Section 4 of Chapter II of the rules the following: "If a teacher is absent he shall report the fact to the training school and a substitute teacher shall be sent at once to fill the vacancy. When a schoolroom is found to have an average attendance of fifty or more he shall notify the committee on teachers and, if they approve, shall notify the training school to send a teacher as an assistant to the regular teacher or as a temporary teacher in an overflow room if one can be opened. At the next meeting of the school committee he shall report the case for action in approval or disapproval by the board."

In connection with this amendment changes are made by rescinding parts of Section 12 of Chapter I and Section 3 of Chapter III.

Included in the report of the superintendent of schools were a few facts concerning the conditions of the school relative to the number of pupils being accommodated. Supt. Whitcomb reported in connection with this that there are 253 less pupils in the schools of Lowell this year than there were last year for the corresponding week. While this fact is encouraging as far as the crowding of the schools in general is concerned it does not relieve the congested conditions that are found in several instances. The superintendent stated that in several of the schools there are from 50 to 60 pupils in rooms that are constructed for the accommodation of a much smaller number. The remedy for this is mentioned in the report for the committees on teachers and rules which was accepted and adopted.

By a unanimous vote the committee on teachers was given full power to act in this matter.

DRAWING SCHOOL TEACHERS.

Dr. Allen, in his report on the evening drawing schools, submitted a list of teachers for election to the staff employed in these schools. This list includes the following: Machine drawing, S. G. Stephens, W. M. Foster, F. W. Farnham, H. S. Crysler, A. D. Colby, J. B. Conant, C. S. Jennings and C. F. Dupee; architectural drawing, H. P. Graves, D. G. W. Manson, H. Rourke and Ralph Hayden; modelling, Miss E. Elizabeth Whitney, K. Burrage and E. Merchant; free-hand drawing, H. W. Wright, M. Paul, M. E. Cushing, E. C. Greene and C. Staples; substitutes, John T. Burns; janitor, Frank R. Hough; clerk, Miss Blake.

By vote of the committee the clerk cast one ballot for the election of all recommended by the sub-committee.

The managers of the Merchants and Manufacturers' exposition, to be held in Boston next month asked in a communication that the schools of this city be closed for one day to give the children an opportunity to attend the exposition and see the government exhibit and other displays. The matter of closing the schools was left over with the chairman and superintendent.

The superintendent reported that he had received from City Solicitor William A. Hogan an opinion in writing on the matter recently referred to him regarding the purchasing of revised school books with or without a two-thirds vote of the committee. In his opinion, the solicitor stated, that the question is one rather of fact than of law. The communication was read and accepted.

On motion of Mr. Regan it was voted to grant a leave of absence until the end of the present term of Miss Mary H. McGovern.

Dr. Marston and Dr. Taylor were the absentees.

A Busy Season For the Sculptors of America

THAT this is proving a banner year for American artists must be evident to all who have observed the increased patronage bestowed by our men of wealth upon the wielders of the brush and the chisel. Nor can there be any doubt in view of the increased activity of workers in every branch of art that recent years have witnessed a rapid development of the aesthetic side of the general public. A few years ago the recently advanced proposition to erect at Washington a national gallery of art much on the lines of the famous Louvre of France would have aroused but mild curiosity; today men of riches have enthusiastically espoused the project, and there is a widespread conviction that it will not be long before a national art gallery will be a reality. This impetus to art has undeniably been strengthened by our great expositions of recent years, such as the Columbian, the Pan-American, the Transmississippi and the Charleston, and lovers of the beautiful are now hopefully awaiting the Louisiana Purchase exposition at St. Louis, confident that it will not fail to play its part in educating the artistic tastes of the people.

A consideration of but one phase of the aesthetic features of the big fair will make it manifest that the quest of the beautiful will not be neglected. In studios in widely separated cities and towns sculptors are hard at work and have been hard at work for months making designs and models for the magnificent groups and individual pieces with which it is proposed to embellish the fair grounds and buildings. Foremost sculptors of the land have been engaged by the chief of the sculptural department, Karl Bitter, who in making his selections and drawing up his scheme has had the assistance of such men as Ward, St. Gaudens and French. When it is stated that there will be scattered throughout the territory covered by the exposition no less than 250 groups and over 1,000 single pieces of sculpture the magnitude of the undertaking will be manifest, as also must be the beneficent results to be attained by such a display of high art.

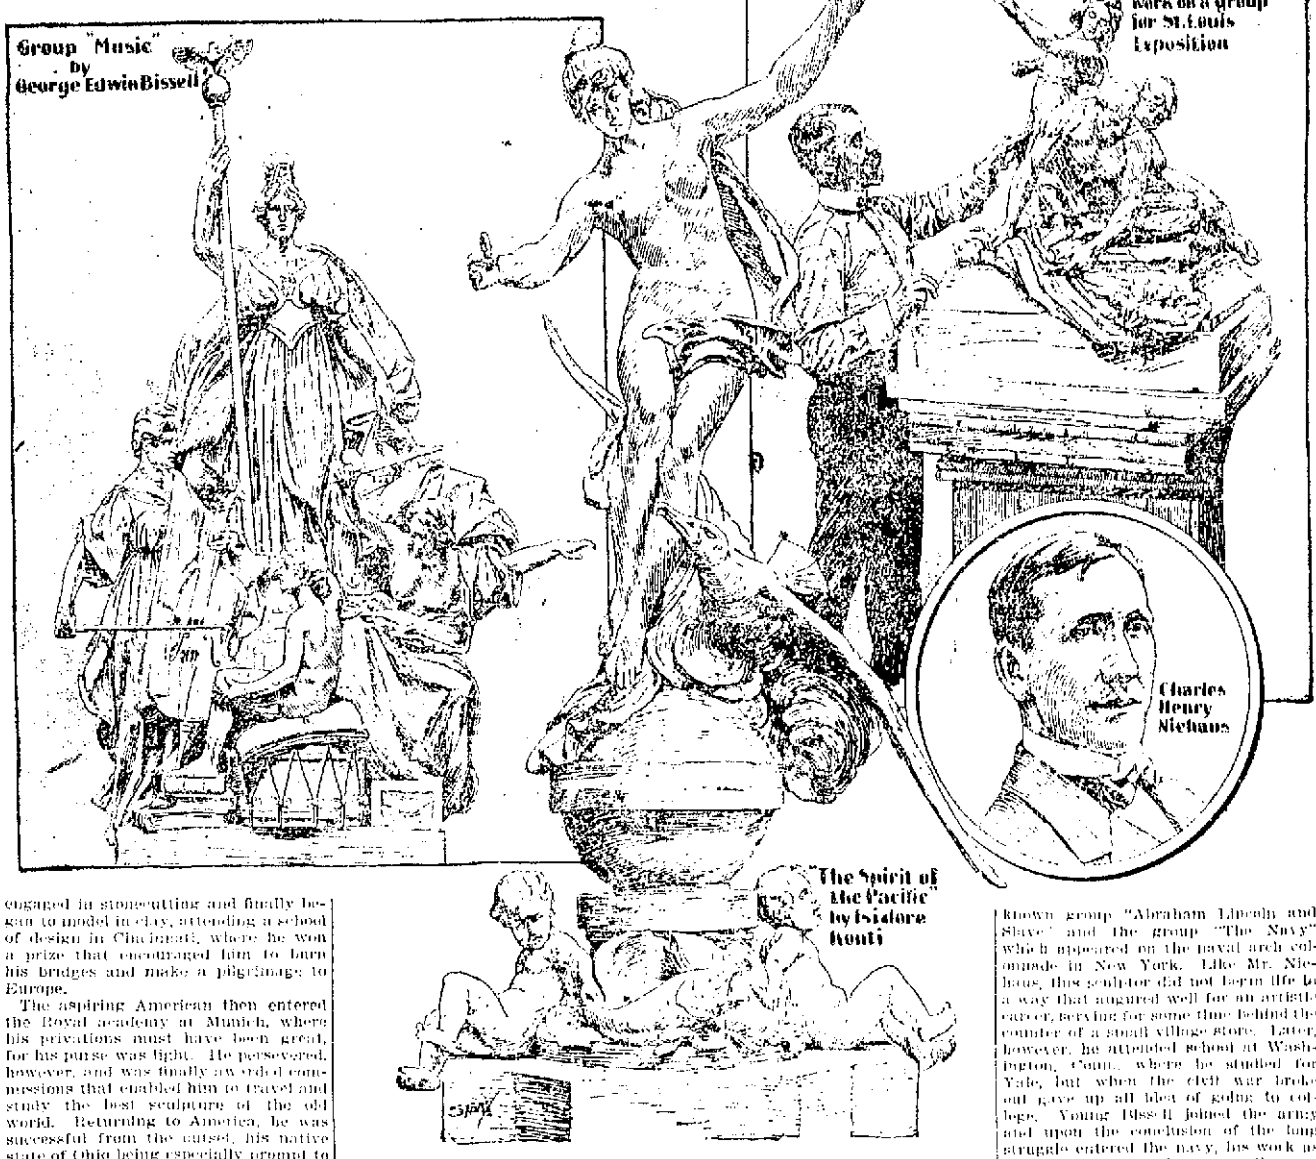

One of the more conspicuous groups will be that known as "The Apotheosis of St. Louis," a feature so arranged as to be the first object to catch the visitor's eye after he passes through the main entrance into the grounds. At the foot of an immense architectural base will be seated a female figure symbolical of the city of St. Louis bidding her guests welcome. On either side of the figure heralds will be grouped, and the base itself will support an equestrian statue of the French monarch Louis IX., from whom the city derived its name.

The artist to whom Mr. Bitter intrusted the execution of this work is Charles H. Niehaus, long one of our better known sculptors and a man whose career should inspire the thousands of ambitious young men and women of America struggling to win fame and fortune. Mr. Niehaus as a boy had no opportunity to secure the art education for which he longed, since he had to earn his living at an early age. But the trade he adopted, wood engraving, proved in itself a valuable education. He became an expert draftsman, engaged in stonecutting and finally began to model in clay, attending a school of design in Cincinnati, where he won a prize that encouraged him to burn his bridges and make a pilgrimage to Europe.

The aspiring American then entered the Royal academy at Munich, where his privations must have been great, for his purse was light. He persevered, however, and was finally awarded commissions that enabled him to travel and study the best sculpture of the old world. Returning to America, he was successful from the outset, his native state of Ohio being especially prompt to recognize his merit. Since he opened his American studio he has chiseled some notable pieces of statuary, among which may be mentioned a design for the monument of William the Silent, the statue of Moses in the Congression-al library, the Hahnemann monument in Washington and the statues of Farragut and Lincoln and the one of McKinley at Muskegon, Mich.

"The very center of the exposition picture, the cascades, will be adorned with statuary that cannot but earn the praise of all lovers of art. The cascades sculpture has been divided between two artists, H. A. MacNeil supplying the central decorations, while the side work will be executed by Isidore Konti, whose studio is in New York. The side cascades are to represent the Atlantic and Pacific oceans, and for "The Spirit of the Pacific" Mr. Konti has modeled a flying female figure with an albatross, while he symbolizes the Atlantic by a vigorous youth standing amid clouds, arm uplifted, and an eagle at his feet. One of the prettier minor groups which Mr. Konti has designed for his cascades decorations typifies the animal wealth of the ocean. The illustration shows Mr. Konti at work on this group.

The main entrance to the Liberal Arts palace is to be beautified by two groups from the studio of George Edwin Bissell, the author of much monumental sculpture, including the well known group "Abraham Lincoln and Slave" and the group "The Navy" which appeared on the naval arch colonnade in New York. Like Mr. Niehaus, this sculptor did not learn life in a way that augured well for an artistic career, serving for some time behind the counter of a small village store. Later, however, he attended school at Washington, Conn., where he studied for Yale, but when the civil war broke out gave up all idea of going to college. Young Bissell joined the army and upon the conclusion of the long struggle entered the navy, his work as a sculptor not beginning until many years after he had come of age. Like so many other artists, he journeyed to Paris, where he ultimately established a studio. Of late years both his home and his studio have been at Mount Vernon, N. Y.

Among the many other sculptors to receive commissions from Mr. Bitter are two picturesque figures, Charles Albert Lopez and James A. Fraser. The former is a Mexican by birth and a Cuban by blood, while the latter spent many years near the Sioux reservation. In addition to modeling a statue of Bienville, the French officer who during the reign of Louis XV. was governor of Louisiana and founded the city of New Orleans, Mr. Lopez has designed a quadriga for the Liberal Arts palace, in which task he has worked in collaboration with F. G. R. Roth, the well known sculptor of animal life. It is said that this quadriga will take rank as one of the most beautiful effects in the sculptural features of the Arts palace. Mr. Fraser will be represented by an equestrian statue of a Cheyenne chief, which Mr. Bitter intends to place on one of the approaches to Art hill as a reminder of the Indian tribe whose home was once the Mississippi valley. This young artist, for Mr. Fraser, who is a Minnesota man, is but twenty-eight years old, is also busily engaged upon a statue of Thomas Jefferson to appear on one side of the Missouri building's main entrance, the statue on the other side being of Napoleon.

Mr. Bitter himself, despite the demands made upon his time by the administrative duties of his office, will be represented by some interesting work, as among other things, he is engaged in modeling the sculpture for the Louisiana Purchase monument. To him will also fall the task of overseeing the designing of models and their enlargement into figures that are to please the eyes of the millions who will visit the fair. His career is full of interest to those who delight in studying the personality and development of men. Born in Austria in 1867, his sculpture won Bitter a gold medal in his native city of Vienna before he was twenty years old, but the pleasure that this gave him was soon wiped out by the information that he had been drafted into the army as a private. Luckily for him, he incurred the enmity of a martinet of a lieutenant, and in less than a year young Bitter deserted, ultimately making his way to this country, where he lost no time in taking out naturalization papers. He soon secured employment with a firm of architectural decorators and while working for them as a "skilled laborer" entered into competition for an important commission. His competitors were sculptors who did not regard him as a dangerous rival, and great was their surprise when he secured the award.

Two years later Mr. Bitter was commissioned to make the designs for the Administration building at the Columbian exposition, and his work was such that when the Pan-American exposition came into being he was appointed director of sculpture. He thus brings to bear upon his present task an intimate acquaintance with the prerequisites of exposition statuary, and those who make the trip to St. Louis will doubtless find that he has profited greatly from his past experience in this line of work.

ARCHIBALD M. WINTHORPE.

A CELEBRATED PORTRAIT BY THE FAMOUS TITIAN.

Madonna Isabella d'Este, Marchese di Mantova, was one of the foremost figures in the Italian renaissance. It is not so generally known that the monarchs of England are descendants of the ancient family into which she married. One of the Estes wedded a German princess of the house of Guelph, and their son received in 1071 the investiture of the duchy of Bavaria, becoming an ancestor of the houses of Brunswick and Hanover. The celebrated Titian portrait of Isabella d'Este, from which the accompanying illustration was made, is to be found in the Imperial museum at Vienna.

A PERILOUS OCCUPATION.

As the accompanying illustration shows, samphire gathering is an occupation that has its dangers. The samphire is a perennial plant, a native of Europe, which grows chiefly on rocky cliffs near the sea. It makes an excellent pickle and is also used as a salad, but can only be gathered by those who are accustomed to dizzy heights.

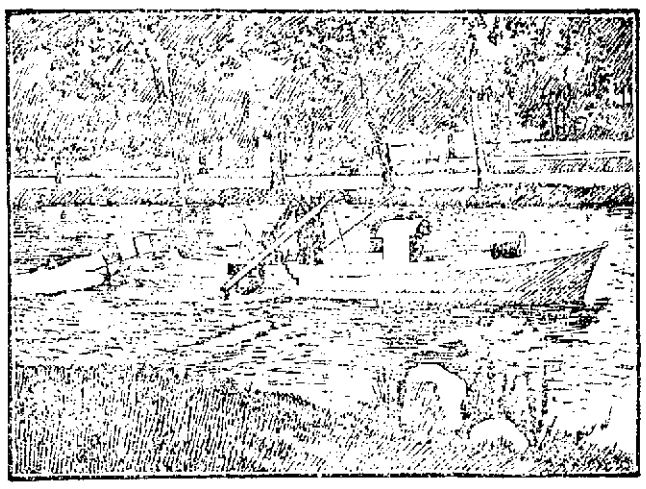

UNIQUE PHASES OF LIFE FROM ALL OVER THE WORLD

GENERAL OLIVER, THE NEW ASSISTANT SECRETARY OF WAR.

General Robert Shaw Oliver, the new assistant secretary of war, comes to the department after a long experience as soldier and business man. He has served in the regular army and has also been active for more than thirty years in developing the national militia. General Oliver took part in the civil war as a volunteer and was afterward commissioned in the Seventeenth United States infantry. He was later transferred to the cavalry service, in which he did good work during several Indian campaigns. After leaving the army he moved from Boston, where he was born fifty-six years ago, to Albany, with the civic life of which city he has since been closely identified. In 1870 General Oliver was married to Miss Marion Rathbone, the daughter of General John E. Rathbone, a wealthy manufacturer of Albany. Their family consists of one son and three daughters. The Misses Oliver are very good looking and equally accomplished. They have spent much time abroad with their mother completing their education and are also fine athletes, being at home in golf, tennis and equestrianship. There can be no doubt that while social and official Washington will welcome their advent, the society circles of Albany will greatly regret their departure to the Capital City.

CUTTING EEL GRASS BY MACHINERY.

An inventive Long Islander whose home is on the shore of the Great South bay, the waters of which often become choked by the rapidly growing eel grass, has invented a machine to rid the bay of this nuisance, and it is probable that he will find his machine very much in demand in other sections of the country. The illustration shows the machine being "tried out" on a Long Island pond.

THE KING OF BOOKS.

Many bibliophiles will envy the title accorded James C. Young of Minneapolis by the foreign press, though none will deny his right to be termed the

JAMES CARLETON YOUNG.

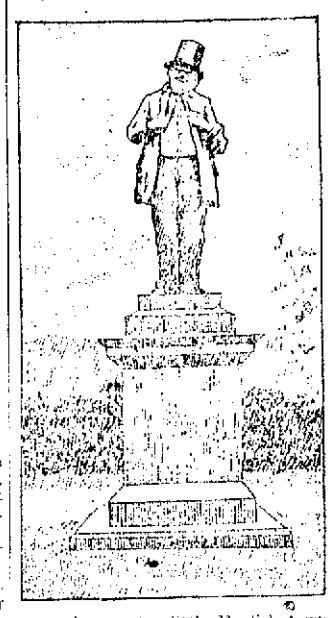

"king of books." His collection, which includes many thousands of volumes, is undoubtedly the most unique in the world, embracing as it does not only sumptuously bound and first editions, but hundreds of copies signed by the authors, many of whom are dead.

POSSIBLE CONSUMPTION CURE.

That radium and thorium can be used to cure consumption is the belief of Frederick Soddy, the chemical English chemist. He thinks the radioactive gas from these metals can be inhaled and that this will kill the germs of tuberculosis

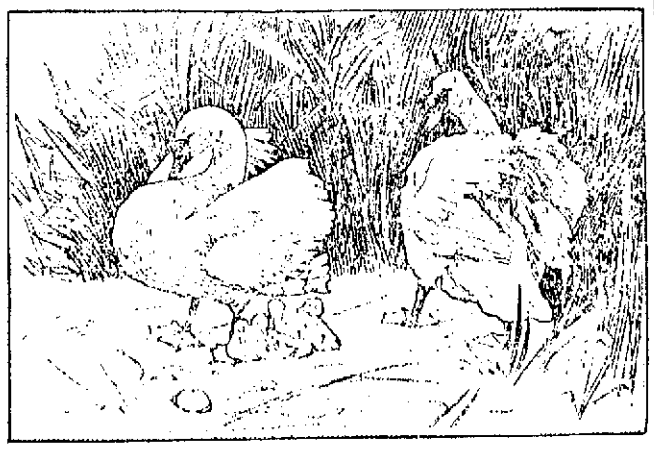

STATUE TO A BLIND MAN.

A unique interest attaches to the statue shown in the illustration. Its subject was for forty years the bell man of a quaint little English town, fulfilling his duties despite the fact that he was blind. The statue is also noteworthy as being one of the few in which the figure wears a "plug" hat.

SWAN RAISING A SOCIETY FAD.

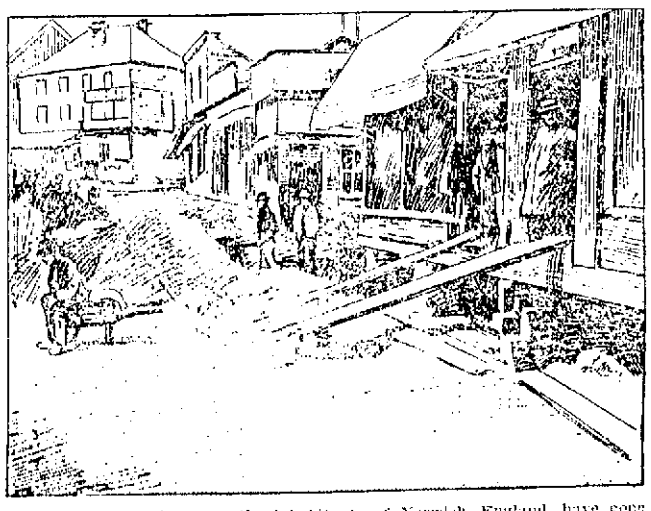

One of the recent equal destroying fads of the wealthy is the breeding of swans. The photograph from which the accompanying illustration was made was obtained on the estate of a millionaire who has a pronounced taste for the propagation of all manner of waterfowl. It gives an excellent idea of the graceful lines of the swan. If their song was but as attractive as their appearance no fault could be found with them.

"THE LITTLE FATHER OF THE RUSSIAN FLEET."

One of the most interesting objects that figured in the recent bicentenary celebration of the founding of St. Petersburg was the boat, shown in the accompanying illustration, presented to Czar Ivan the Terrible by Queen Elizabeth. When Peter the Great was a boy in Moscow he used to play with this boat and had it repaired so that he could sail in it on a small lake. This aroused in him an interest in naval matters that lasted throughout his life, culminating in the founding of the Russian navy, Peter's first war ships being virtual replicas of this boat. It was Peter who christened her "The Little Father of the Russian Fleet," a name by which she has been known ever since.

A TOWN WITH SINKING STREETS.

For the past six years the inhabitants of Norwich, England, have gone to bed without knowing whether their houses would be standing when they awoke in the morning. Norwich is built over vast rock salt mines, many of which have been worked and abandoned while others are still being excavated. The result is that there are great cavities just under the earth's crust, and often the shell, if that term is permissible, is too thin to support longer the weight of the buildings. The illustration shows a portion of the main street of Norwich and the way in which the people have to jack up their stores and houses. Some of the streets of the town have sunk more than twelve feet in the last few years.

HON. GUY CURRIER

May be Colonel Gaston's Running Mate

The democratic candidate for lieutenant-governor will probably be selected today when several of the party leaders meet to talk over convention matters.

Two names are prominently mentioned for the office, ex-Mayor Philip O'Connell of Worcester, and ex-Senator Guy W. Currier of Methuen.

O'Connell has stated through friends, that he prefers not to have his name considered, and this eliminates him.

Currier is not over-enthusiastic, but will accept if the party leaders really wish him to run.

The remainder of the ticket is settled on. E. A. Ezekiel of Springfield will be named for secretary of state, F. N. Tetreault of Southbridge for auditor, T. C. Thatcher of the Cape for treasurer, and J. J. Flaherty of Gloucester for attorney-general.

The Hon. C. G. Hamlin will probably make the speech nominating Gaston.

REPUBLICAN PLATFORM.

The platform which the republican party will adopt at the convention Friday is ready, and today ex-Governor Crane will submit it to the resolutions committee.

The ex-governor, always brief in expressing his views and opinions, has made the platform very brief. It is not a radical document and the republican leaders who have seen it are well pleased.

Tariff revision is not dealt with at length; neither is Canadian reciprocity. A year ago Eugene N. Foss caused trouble with his ideas of reciprocity. A flexible plank was built and the situation nicely tided over. In a somewhat like manner tariff revision will be handled this year.

Secretary Moody is to attend the convention and will make the speech nominating Lieutenant-Governor Guild. The republican managers believe Secretary Moody will add great life to the convention and the campaign. As announced previously, Senator Hoar will place Governor Bates' name before the convention.

A new scheme will be executed in selecting the convention vice-presidents. Each member of the state committee will name one, thus providing a vice-president for every senatorial district.

All kinds of plans are under process of framing for making the "night before" an event that will cheer the visiting delegates, and start them working.

Saturday the Middlesex club will hold a dinner in honor of the nominees, Governor Bates will be present and speak. The first big rally of the campaign will occur at Brockton Oct. 9. The socialists are causing havoc in Plymouth county, and a cry for help has been sent to this city. It has been heeded, and several speakers will go to Brockton to help stem the socialist tide. It is probable Governor Bates will speak at this rally.

Starting next Tuesday the Governor and council will make a three days' trip inspecting state institutions in the western counties. Unless the program is changed no speeches will be made, and the trip will be one of stern business.

CASTO THEATRE

The premiere at the Casto Theatre yesterday was a most auspicious one, and two large and well satisfied audiences were in attendance. The bill is one of the strongest ever offered at this popular theatre, and every act made a tremendous hit. Comedy from start to finish is the rule of the show, and the laugh is continuous from the rise of the curtain.

Of course the musical comedy "Too Much Married" proved to be the great laughing attraction of the performance. When the audiences witnessed the show there was not one who doubted the statement that the comedy had been enthusiastically received during the tour of the last three months. The adventures of Bob Henshaw in his endeavors to secure a family and thus obtain possession of the family fortune are most amusingly told by the experienced company. There is not a hitch or wait of any kind, and the lines will keep any one laughing. During the action of the comedy the specialties introduced are songs by James A. Beall, Frank N. Doyle, Joseph F. Morran and Lillian Crone; "The Callahan Cadets," by Al. Haynes and Julia Redmond, instrumental selections by the Bartolls, introducing Lille Bartoll, the wonderful child instrumentalist, and the side-splitting song, "Ikey Goldstein," by Margaret Rosa. Catchy music abounds and the choruses will rank with some of those heard in the highest priced companies which have appeared in this city.

One of the funniest acts Lowell citizens have had the pleasure of seeing in some time is that of Borani and Navaro, the original "Weary Waggles," of the "Foxy Grandpa" company, and the acrobatic girl, who present a comedy acrobatic act which proved a novelty in every sense of the word. William Tomkins in his "Topical Talks," was an immediate favorite, and the monologue which he delivers is far ahead of any other. Thoroughly up-to-date, this monologue alone is worth the price of admission. Lavine and Leonard, comedy jugglers and automobilists, as the program states, certainly proved their right to these titles. From their entrance in the automobile until the "auto" explodes there is not a dull moment in the act. Miss Ray Cox made a hit in her songs, stories and impersonations. The crowds at the Casto this week, will be large, and it would be well to secure reserved seats, which may be done by calling 'phone 815-3. The box office is open from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m.

ACTRESS SORRY

She Tried to Commit Suicide

By Associated Press to The Sun

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—"I was so tired of it all, and I knew this would come. That is all."

Lying on a cot in Roosevelt hospital, with a self-inflicted bullet wound in her left breast, and her strength fast ebbing away, pretty Florence Wickliffe Young, an actress, hovers between life and death. A pearl-handled revolver which she had always carried for self protection while on the road was the weapon with which she fired the shot.

Miss Young is 27 years old, and lived with her sister, Rose, a magazine writer, at 128 West 43d street. Yesterday morning Miss Rose Young left her room to go out to breakfast. Her sister Florence was still in bed. She had gone down one flight of stairs when she heard a pistol shot, which caused her to hurry back to the apartment. Arriving there she was horrified to find that her sister had shot herself in the breast. She summoned a policeman and he, in turn, summoned Coroner Scholer, because of the young woman's serious condition.

"I have been in poor health and for a long time my nerves have been completely shattered," said the wounded girl to the coroner. "Because of my ill health I have been unable to secure an engagement, and when one finally did come, a few weks ago, I was unable to take it, being too weak to play the part offered me. My sister has been most kind to me during my enforced idleness. But I am tired of it all—tired of taking her money. That is why I wanted to end it. I am sorry now. I did not think what I was doing."

Miss Young was known on the stage as Florence Wickliffe. In 1901 she played the part next to Miss Maxine Elliott with Nat C. Goodwin in "When We Were 21."

Surgeons at the hospital hold out little hope of her recovery. They probed for the bullet yesterday, but failed to find it.

TEMPLE THEATRE

The Temple Theatre, Lowell's new vaudeville house, opened its doors to the public yesterday afternoon, and a large audience attended the initial performance. Last evening the theatre was crowded and the bill presented by Manager Murray was up to date and promises to be a winner. Refined vaudeville will be given here, and the management feels that its efforts will meet with a hearty response from the play-going public. The week's program is a winner, and it includes seven numbers, introducing some good singers, dancers and a remarkably clever lightning change artist. One of the most unusual features of this playhouse is the arrangement of the gallery as there are no seats in it that do not command a perfect view of the stage.

Murray and Aiken made a great big hit in their curtain raiser, entitled "A Postmaster's Welcome." The wonderful boy artist, Master D. Alan Coogan is all that is claimed of him. His clever singing and dancing were loudly applauded.

Phil Morton tells about some of his experiences at Atlantic City this summer in his original Irish dialect. Phil has a remedy which he says is a sure cure for the blues. Miss Leona Hanson, one of the Hub's prettiest exponents of acrobatic dancing, gives a very clever exhibition and is certain to win favor. The Zoda sisters, high class singers, gave a touch of the concert stage to the performance, thereby adding to the variety of the bill. Crowley and Foley, a pair of men with educated feet, dancers in any style, were brought back until tired out. Eddie and Lottie Dwyers, the headliners of the evening, doing a clever singing, dancing and comedy sketch. "Billy" Gilmore is the pianist at the Temple. There will be a matinee every afternoon this week.

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

Minnequa council, Order of Pocahontas, held its regular meeting last night in Odd Fellows Temple. Preparations were made for a supper which is to be held on the 17th of the coming month.

Lowell lodge, No. 36, Odd Ladies, held an oyster supper, from 5 to 8 o'clock, last night. Arrangements were made in record to the anniversary to be held Oct. 15, by a gathering of the members at the home of the Sen. Rep. Sister Addie M. Leede.

DENNIS HEALEY.

SAID FAREWELL

Grand Reception to Pres. Dennis Healey

BY LOCAL LEATHER WORKERS' UNION

Many Valuable Gifts Tendered Him

The leather workers of this city turned out in great numbers last evening to tender a farewell reception to their esteemed fellow-worker, Dennis Healey of this city, who today leaves for Philadelphia to assume the duties of national president of the Amalgamated Association of Leather Workers of America, in new headquarters which have been recently fitted up for him.

The reception was given by local union, No. 3, of which Mr. Healey has been president for four years, while he is now entering upon his second term as head of the national association.

Over 500 members and friends of the popular official were present at the reception in Leather Workers' hall, and Michael McMullen, vice-president, in behalf of the members of the union, presented Mr. Healey with a solid gold watch and chain, a Foresters' charm, a meerschaum pipe, a fountain pen and $75 in gold.

In the course of his presentation speech Mr. McMullen referred to Mr. Healey's consistency throughout his career as a labor leader as the secret of his success. He also spoke of the pleasant relations between employer and employe in the factory which employs all the local leather workers and said that they were due to the good sense of the man now leaving them.

Mr. Healey was taken by surprise completely as one after the other the beautiful gifts were tendered him and when he had suddenly recovered, he made a neat speech of thanks, saying incidentally:

"The trades union, as an education of the great mass of the adult population of this country at the present time is more protected than the public schools and it wields a great influence over the common people. From my experience with the organized laboring man I have learned much and in leaving you would say a few things to you. In time I hope you will ask for a shorter day. Meanwhile stand shoulder to shoulder, don't be arrogant, but try to appreciate fully the fine conditions you have reached through your splendid organization. Your officers are the voice of the body and are entitled to your respect and have a better knowledge of things than the members in general. Therefore listen to their advice and don't antagonize them.

"In thanking you for these presents, I hope to see from afar this Lowell union outstrip in the future its fine record in the past. I hope soon to see a movement for a shorter day from Maine to California and I sincerely hope you men will stand staunch adherents of the movement when it arises.

"You are simply a collective investment, as a union; individual investment doesn't reap much. You are just the same as those who form a corporation of capital, you have the same right. Labor should get more from its investment than capital.

"Keep in good standing and be sure of consistency in your actions. At all times, no matter where I may be, the welfare of this organization will be first in my mind. You will, I assure you, never be forgotten.

"If ever you have any friction with the management of the factory, use calm, deliberations in your action. Don't be hasty, and always make your national officers acquainted with the true situation."

At the conclusion of his remarks, Mr. Healey was given three cheers and a tiger.

After the presentation James F. Gilligan, formerly recording secretary, was elected president of the union, and James J. Carney, recording secretary.

The following program was then enjoyed:

Songs, by Edward F. Shea, Odie Mirgan, David Barry, John Lindsay, John Mooney, William Johnson, John Gleason; and dancing by Leo Fitzgerald, Cornelius Conole and Fred Remmey. Refreshments were served during the evening.

PITTSBURG TEAM

On Its Way to the Hub

By Associated Press to The Sun

PITTSBURG, Sept. 29.—The Pittsburg baseball team, champions of the National league, left last night for Boston where they will on Thursday begin a series of nine games for the championship of the world with the Boston team, pennant winners of the American league. The Pittsburg club will stop at Buffalo today and arrive at Boston on Wednesday. Pres. Dreyfus with a large party of enthusiasts will leave here Thursday night to encourage the home team. Mr. Dreyfus announced yesterday that he had received from President Soden of the Boston Nationals permission to play in the clubs territory. This is made necessary by the rules of the National league which gives the home club exclusive rights within five miles of its city.

The schedule as arranged for the post season series is as follows:

At Boston October 1st, 2nd and 3rd.

At Pittsburg October 5th, 6th, 7th and 8th.

The club winning five games will be given the championship. Should it be found necessary to play more than the seven games scheduled, the others will be played at Boston or some other city mutually agreed upon.

District Attorney Jerome Wants $100,000

SECURING EVIDENCE AGAINST GAMBLING HOUSES

Took All the Money He Received Last Year

By Associated Press to The Sun

NEW YORK, Sept. 29—District Attorney Jerome yesterday made application to the board of estimates and apportionment for $100,000 for his contingent fund for the ensuing year. In explaining the need for the money Mr. Jerome said:

"I have spent the money I received last year in securing evidence against gambling houses and closing them. I have been kept in touch with the gambling situation and know what should be done. I am reliably informed that the gambling houses in Manhattan are wide open now and I want to get the money so that I can go against these places as I have done before. I have positive information on this subject and it is absolutely necessary that I get the money."

BRINGS NEW STRENGTH AND HEALTH

One of Lowell's Leading Prosperous Merchants Recommends Vital Force.

While we get very many testimonials from people in all walks of life telling about the curative merits of Dr. Bartlett's Vital Force, it is gratifying to receive an unsolicited letter from such a widely known and prosperous merchant as M. Bellefontaine, proprietor of a large house furnishing and installment store on Aiken street, Lowell, Mass. Mr. Bellefontaine writes:

"As a tonic and invigorator for the nerves when subjected to mental strain and overwork, I have found Dr. Bartlett's Vital Force invaluable. I am fully satisfied that it is an efficacious remedy for that tired, worn-out feeling, and I have recommended it to many of my friends. I consider it superior to anything in the line of advertised remedies for dyspepsia, and I only wish every family had a bottle of it, because I am positive it would save much sickness and doctor's bills. In conclusion, I believe there is nothing better for strengthening and renewing the system than Dr. Bartlett's Vital Force, and what is good for adults must be a sure remedy for children."

Respectfully yours,

MILLER BELLEFONTAINE,

267 Aiken St., Lowell, Mass.

June 23, 1903.

Dr. Bartlett cures where others fail. Why suffer from day to day when such a physician is willing to take your case under his care and cure you where a cure is possible. It is advisable to call at his office early as he is always crowded with patients. His marvellous success in the treatment of chronic diseases is sufficient proof that what his patients say about him are "laurels for the true worth."

ST. MICHAEL'S SCHOOL

Observes Centenary and Its Patronal Feast

The Children Attended Special Services This Morning — Centenary Observance Held in School and Church—School Reopens With Promise of Bright Future

Today is the feast of St. Michael, and was appropriately observed by the children of St. Michael's school, this morning. Mass was celebrated at 8:30 o'clock at which the school children with their teachers attended in a body. The children's choir sung a hymn to St. Michael, a hymn to the Sacred Heart, while at the close of mass the entire congregation sang "Holy God, We Praise Thy Name." Services in honor of St. Michael will also be held at the church this evening, to which the public are invited. In honor of the day the school children were given a holiday.

Rev. Fr. Shaw, the zealous pastor of St. Michael's, was the recipient of warm congratulations from the parishioners today for the results of his hard work, all are now impressively apparent in a renovated school with a bigger attendance than ever before, a beautiful and modernly appointed convent for the good sister whose co-operation was his best aid in his great work while the future points to a period of unprecedented success for parish and school.

The school opened with 450 pupils and more coming in almost daily, necessitating the services of an extra teacher, and it will be run on a high plan under the able direction of Sister Mary Bertrand, the new superior at St. Michael's, a nun of rare talent and wide experience. Sister Mary Bertrand was one of the original band of Dominican nuns who established St. Patrick's parochial school in Watertown, Mass., some 15 years ago. At that time parochial schools were unknown in Watertown and vicinity and the sisters met with bitter and undisguised opposition from the residents of that town. So intense was the feeling that the first graduates of St. Patrick's found it impossible to get into the Watertown High School and the result was the establishment by the Dominicans of St. Patrick's High School which today ranks on an even footing with any high school in New England. After several years at Watertown, Sister Mary Bertrand returned to Kentucky where she supervised studies at St. Catherine's Academy, a fashionable boarding school at Springfield, leaving the academy to become mistress of novices at the "mother-house" of the order which position she held until this summer when she was assigned to St. Michael's, this city.

CENTENARY EXERCISES.

Owing to the fact that today was the patronal feast day of the church, the exercises in commemoration of the establishment of the first Catholic church in New England, which are being held in all New England parochial schools today, were held Sunday at St. Michael's with church exercises as a close to a period of special readings on Catholic church history for two weeks prior. In each of the classes the teachers took up day by day different periods in the history of the Catholic church in America and by systematic topical illustration followed the progress of the church in America in a general way from the coming of Columbus down to the time of the establishment of the first church in Boston. Then the history of the church in New England was gone into in detail and the work of the different episcopates including Bishop Cheverus, Fenwick, Fitzpatrick and the present beloved Archbishop Williams. With each was outlined the work of the early Catholics in building up the diocese and as a fitting close to this interesting course of study Rev. Fr. Carney on Sunday afternoon delivered a thoughtful address to the children on "The Sacrifice of the Feast and the Spirit that is Needed Today." The address was delivered at the vesper services when the school children attended as a body. Rev. Fr. Carney also officiated at the vesper service while all the clergymen of the parish were within the sanctuary. Hymns were sung by the children's choir, the rosary was recited in thanksgiving and the service closed with benediction of the blessed sacrament and the singing of Te Deum by the congregation.

Beautiful lithographic pictures of the interior of the Holy Rosary chapel will be received in a short time by those who have taken certificates for the benefit of the chapel altar.

ST. PATRICK'S SCHOOL.

At St. Patrick's boys' school exercises in observance of the centennial were held this morning. The teachers explained to the different classes the meaning of the occasion and reviewed the early history of the Catholic church in this state. They pointed out the many advances made and the great sacrifices that were necessary to accomplish the great work done by the church. In some of the class rooms the pupils took part in the exercises. Addresses and essays on Bishop Cheverus and his zealous co-laborers, and also on the blessings Irish emigration has brought to this country, were read.

SACRED HEART SCHOOL.

The 50th anniversary of the establishment of the first Catholic church in New England was observed at the parochial school of the Sacred Heart church this morning wit happropriate exercises.

The principal event on the program was an interesting historical lecture by Rev. Fr. Flynn, O. M. I., who pictured in a very elaborate manner the foundation of the Catholic church in Boston and its growth up to the present time.

The children also assisted in the observance of the anniversary.

IN THE ARCHDIOCESE.

The observances incident to the centennial celebration of the dedication of the first Catholic church in Boston will today be participated in by the pupils of the parochial school system of the Boston archdiocese, and nearly 50,000 scholars will take part as a unit in commemorative exercises, which have been ordered by the Rev. Louis S. Walsh of Salem, supervisor of parochial instruction, and approved by Archbishop Williams.

The programs will be held in 75 separate schools connected with 68 distinct parishes. In the city of Boston alone 26 schools will make in the observances, this being the whole number of schools in Suffolk county, with the exception of one, which is located in Chelsea. A short historical review will form a part of the exercises in all the schools.

The official letter concerning the celebration sent by the Rev. Fr. Walsh to the rectors having charge of the various schools recommends that a picture of the first church of the Holy Cross be displayed in the school rooms and that a short description of the building be given by the teachers or others in charge.

The letter also suggests that biographical notice be given of the three chief ecclesiastics of the early days of the church, namely, the Rt. Rev. Bishop Carroll of Baltimore, under whose ecclesiastical jurisdiction the church then came; the Rev. Francis Matignon, the pastor, and the Rev. John L. Cheverus, who was assistant priest of the church, afterwards first bishop of Boston, and still later a cardinal.

The official letter also notes the conditions prevailing among the early Catholics of the city, speaking of the Church of The Holy Cross as made up of Irish, French and Spaniards, and a few persons of other nationalities, and refers to the great sacrifices, trials and triumphs of the Catholic people and of the church in New England. The communication also suggests simple historic tableaux, to be accompanied with recitations and songs of praise and thanksgiving for the great growth of the church during 150 years.

The supervisor's letter gave the school authorities the privilege of holding their literary programs yesterday afternoon and the Immaculate Conception school took advantage of the opportunity.

WILD SCENES

Police Called in to Quiet the Republicans

Former Lieut-Gov. Woodruff in the Thick of the Fray — Men Were Pummelled, Clothes Torn and Disorder Prevailed

By Associated Press to The Sun

NEW YORK, Sept. 29—It was early today before the turmoil and disorder in the Kings county republican convention ceased and the work of naming a ticket was concluded. There was marked friction because of the inability of the conference to give representation on the ticket to all the elements of fusion, but the big battle of the night was over the nomination for district attorney, a prerogative of the republicans. Timothy L. Woodruff, Michael Daly and the other leaders had agreed that the place should go to George F. Elliott, but the convention was stampeded to Henry Belden Ketchum after a contest on the floor that was at times so disorderly that police reserves had to charge the rough elements in the aisles.

When Elliott was placed in nomination for district attorney in conformity to the program the delegates received his name in silence and a moment later began calling for Ketchum. The partisans of Norman S. Dike also began yelling for him. Woodruff, who was in the chair, endeavored to restrain the unruly elements, but the convention refused to heed him. Ketchum started for the platform to withdraw his own name, but was seized by his friends and dragged from the hall. Most of his clothes were torn and he was so badly used that he fainted. A quarrel in the middle of the hall started a fight that threatened to become general. Woodruff jumped from the platform and made for the fighters, resolved to personally aid in putting them, and was himself roughly handled. The police were called into the hall and a charge down the aisles partly restored order.

LIQUOR CASES

Two More Called in Police Court Today

The case of Joseph Kershaw for illegally keeping liquor, was called in police court today and was continued to October 3. He was asked to show goods to the value of $300 for his appearance on that date.

Slarros Geanos, arrested on a fraternity warrant, was continued to Oct. 10.

Because Joseph Hamel wouldn't jump right up and leave his work in the mill and buy tobacco for Louis White, the latter threw a penknife at Hamel and stabbed him in the thumb. He cut him quite severely and a doctor was brought into requisition. Hamel is a mere boy and he had to remain idle for two weeks. White promised to pay him his ordinary wages but failed to and that is why the case was aired in police court this morning. When White was asked to plead, Deputy Welch thought he said "lobo."

"He's had some experience," said the assistant prosecuting officer, but when the incident was sifted it was learned that it was only a peculiar way that White has of saying "no."

White was allowed to go under promise that he would pay the complainant two weeks' wages.

Owen McCaffrey went to jail for four months because he assaulted his wife and he deserved it. Mrs. McCaffrey appeared on the witness stand with an injured eye and bruised arms and shoulders. Owen's fists were not hard enough in his estimation and he used a chair. It was not his first appearance in court for assault and battery on his wife and Judge Hadley remembered him. "I wish I could send you to a whipping post," said the court. "There's nothing left for me to do but to send you to prison." he continued. "but I would much rather see you whipped for your miserable and cowardly action." McCaffrey blamed it all on his wife but the evidence was against him.

Frank L. Wright, charged with illegally keeping liquor, pleaded not guilty and was granted a continuance to Thursday.

Peter Monahan, for assault and battery on Peter Geanacopolous, was fined $13 and an extra $5 for drunkenness was added. The trouble took place last Sunday morning and an extract from the proprietor of evidence went to show that Monahan had partaken of three bottles of beer before the trouble occurred, but there wasn't one among all the witnesses who would say that Peter was drunk. The court, however, setting gauge upon his capacity and decided that Peter was drunk. It was admitted on all sides that the complainant and others disturbed Peter more or less during the early hours of the Sabbath, but Peter had no business to let his angry passions rise and it cost him the small sum of $18 to know that he shouldn't have done it.

Napoleon Larock was in police court a few days ago, and, on a complaint charging him with assault and battery and larceny, was sentenced to the house of correction for one year and a half. He appealed and today withdrew his appeal.

Arthur Poirier pleaded guilty to the larceny of a watch and chain. It seemed to be a mistake all around and the complainant in the case was willing to settle the case outside police court portals.

Bridget McSorley charged with drunkenness was sentenced to the workhouse for a term of six months.

CONSOLS DROPPED

REACHED LOWEST PRICE SINCE 1896.

By Associated Press to The Sun

LONDON, Sept. 29—Consols touched 87 at noon today, the lowest point since 1896, and then hardened somewhat. The whole feeling on the stock exchange was one of extreme depression and nervousness. No disposition was shown to support prices and whatever stocks were offered the quotations were immediately lowered against the seller. Americans showed a further decline in sympathy with yesterday's movement in New York, the position of the U. S. Steel issues being given as the dominating influence.

The markets later improved, the recovery of consols including a generally better feeling.

ATONEMENT DAY

Feast of Yom Kippur Begins Tomorrow

MOST SOLEMN OF JEWISH FESTIVALS

Service Will be Held in Local Synagogue

With the setting of the sun tomorrow evening comes the solemn feast of "Yom Kippur, the Day of Atonement," one of the most important days in the Jewish calendar and strictly and solemnly observed by orthodox Jews the world over. The day is observed with fasting and prayer, and the more pious Jews remaining in the synagogues during the entire 24 hours.

It is during the services Wednesday evening that the Kol-Nidrie, the most soul-stirring of all the beautiful Jewish services, fully 10 centuries old, is heard. In many instances the music is adapted to modern orchestras, and in this way is heard in the sanctuaries of the reformed. In the synagogues the Kol-Nidrie is chanted by the cantor, assisted by augmented choirs of boys, which adds greatly to the solemnity of the occasion.

Another feature in the observance of the holiday is the memorial service. In the synagogues of the orthodox the large edifices are flooded with light, owing to the large number of candles used on this occasion. In the temples of the reformed this part of the services is the most solemn and impressive.

During the observance of Yom Kippur the spirit of peace will settle over the homes of the Jewish people, and the vanities of the world are entirely forgotten. It would be impossible to find the place of business of an orthodox Jew open during the day, and even the home is deserted, as is attested by the crowded temples and synagogues.

In the synagogues of the orthodox old men dressed in their own shrouds and caps read softly from their prayer books or say aloud the fervent responses. On no other day is the vast distance between the reformed and orthodox more apparent than on the Day of Atonement.

The synagogues of the orthodox will open Wednesday evening with the setting sun, and will remain open until the same hour Thursday. The temples of the reformed open at 7.30, and after the services will close, to open again early Thursday morning. All houses of worship will be open Thursday the entire day.

DIVORCE CASE

THE HOLBROOK AFFAIR WAS NOT HEARD.

By Associated Press to The Sun

SPRINGFIELD, Sept. 29.—Yesterday's divorce session of the Hampden county Superior court was crowded, in the expectation that libels involving prominent society people would be heard.

The case of special interest, that of Florence Holbrook against George M. Holbrook, was not reached.

Robie L. West of Monson asked for the nullification of his marriage to Nellie Perking of Brandon, Vt. He testified that in May, 1901, he was married in Hardwick, and in September of the same year discovered that his wife had under the name of Nellie Calkins, married Charles Holden in Hampton, N. Y., in September, 1892. The respondent offered no defence and the nullification of the marriage was ordered.

Josephine S. Harper of Holyoke, was given a divorce from her husband, Edward A. Harper of Gernfisk, Mich., on the grounds of desertion.

Decrees nisi were issued in the cases of Anna B. Newsome of Springfield against John Newsome of Caldwell, N. Y., and of William C[illegible] of Brooklyn, N. Y., for neglect to provide suitable maintenance, and desertion, respectively.

WHIPPING POST

14 Prisoners Were Publicly Whipped

By Associated Press to The Sun

WILMINGTON, Del., Sept. 29.—The most severe whippings ever known in Delaware since the whipping post was re-established were meted out to offenders at the New Castle county workhouse, when the lash was administered to 14 culprits for various crimes by Warden Meserve. Between 200 and 300 persons saw the whippings. The crowd was so great that it was necessary to close the gates, and several times Warden Meserve, who applied the lash, had to request order. About a dozen women were in the crowd.

Frank Ward was the first man brought out. As the cat o'nine tails first cut the air with a wicked swish, Ward cowered and clung tightly to the post. As each blow fell he cringed as did every other of the 14. Their muscles would begin to twitch even before the lash descended. Theodore Walcott, a negro, made more protestation than any of the others, crying lustily and praying alternately. Just before he received his last blow, he cried: "I never will take another pair of shoes, master."

"Whiskers" Mullin, charged with highway robbery, took his 10 lashes without a murmur, although after the first 10 had been laid on, each one sent streams of blood trickling down his back. Several of those who had pushed their way to the front of the crowd were sorry they did so, as they turned their eyes away and cringed almost as much as the prisoners. They could not force their way out and were compelled to stay through the whole proceeding.

SMALL FORTUNE

Will be Spent by the Ancients

By Associated Press to The Sun

BOSTON, Sept. 29.—A small fortune will be spent in showing the London Honourables how Americans can entertain their guests and large sums will be spent by the London delegation themselves.

It is estimated that not less than $250,000 will be spent from the time the London company leaves London until they return again.

Private entertainment makes the largest figure in the expense, this being calculated on the basis of costly entertainment provided for the visitors at Providence, New York, Washington, Buffalo and Montreal, where money will be spent freely to give the visitors a royal time.

Steamship fares will equal at least $5000 and railroad transportation, with the luxurious special trains ordered and the distance traveled, will easily eat up $7000.

Both companies will be lavish with souvenirs, and while the London company has appropriated $10,000 for that purpose, the Boston company will spend at least $5000 more than that.

For the accommodation of guests in the several cities and in Boston, $25,000 makes a not too lavish an amount to devote to that purpose.

In cigars an expert has allowed $5000, while the hotel chef has figured that $5000 will easily be spent for wines and so forth.

Music and uniforms need the addition of at least $10,000 more, while $5000 will be spent in decorating throughout the cities visited.

Everything added will make an expenditure of at least a quarter of a million dollars.

The following will be the program of the entertainment in the afternoon:

Solo .... Miss Lilian Stevens
Sand dancing .... [illegible]
Duet .... [illegible] Children
Fancy Dancing .... O'Dwyer Children

In the evening a concert will be given by the Mozart quartet, composed of John McMahon, James E. [illegible], William F. Thornton and Joseph Mulphy, assisted by Mary E. Monroe and Jennie Kerwin. The accompanist will be William F. McAloon.

Aside from the fact that an excellent program is offered, the object of the entertainment should appeal to the members and friends of the Sacred Heart parish.

The church was damaged to the extent of $5,000 by the explosion and the loss comes heavily on the parish. Huntington hall should be crowded on both occasions tomorrow.

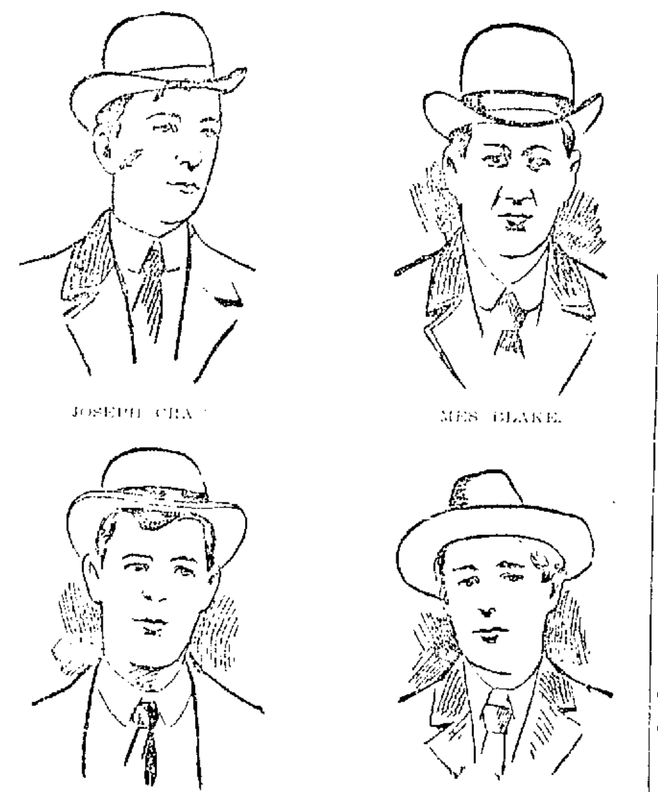

CARTER AND RUHLIN

FOUGHT SIX ROUNDS TO A DRAW.

By Associated Press to The Sun

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 29.—"Kid" Carter and Gus Ruhlin fought a hard six-round draw last night at the Washington Sporting club. Carter was the aggressor in five of the six rounds, but Ruhlin evened matters up by giving the most punishment. In the fourth Carter was sent to the floor and took the count, and in the sixth round Carter struck Ruhlin a glancing blow which cut the latter under the right eye. Ruhlin weighed 194½ pounds and Carter 171½.

SAFE ROBBERS

JOSEPH CRA[MER]. MRS. BLAKE. JOHN WHITE. JOSEPH BREEN.

FOUR MEN ARRESTED IN WESTERN PART OF THE STATE, SUPPOSED TO BE A GANG OF SAFE ROBBERS.

Charge Made Against Four Men Under Arrest

By Associated Press to The Sun

BOSTON, Sept. 29.—The four young men arrested in the western part of the state a week ago loaded down with burglars' tools are supposed to be a part of the gang which has made life a burden to country postmasters and railroad agents, according to the story told by State Detective McKay of Northampton, who arrived at the state house yesterday with pictures of the quartet.

When arrested they styled themselves Joseph K. Breen, Joseph Cramer, John White and James Blake. Blake has a record. On April 29, 1899, he participated in a safe-blowing job at Ashburnham, was subsequently arrested in this city by Inspectors Abbott and Gilmore, and was sentenced to four years in the state prison. At that time he gave his name as John Lombard. The others are unknown to either the state police or the Boston officers.

Cramer admitted that he was born in this city, and he must have lived here within recent years, for as soon as he saw McKay he called him by name, and added: "You used to be chief of police at Hyde Park." Cramer refused to tell anything about himself, however. He says he is a shoemaker. The men known as White and Breen claim to be bridge builders. Blake says he was a laborer.

Last Tuesday morning the postoffice at South Hadley was entered, the safe blown open and about $150 worth of stamps taken. The burglary was promptly reported and Officer McKay was notified. Shortly after sunrise two men who had come into Ware on an early morning train were corralled by Chief of Police Fitzgerald of that place. As they were being taken to the [illegible] both made a break for it [illegible] Blake, drew a revolver and attempted to shoot Fitzgerald. The officer grabbed the revolver and used it as a bludgeon. Meanwhile the other suspect had [illegible] down the street to the river and boldly plunged in, swimming across holding above his head a parcel which is supposed to have contained the booty taken from the South Hadley postoffice. He reached the woods and escaped.

Meanwhile, the other men who had taken an early north bound train from South Hadley were spotted by the station master. They had purchased tickets for Miller's Falls and the sheriff at that place was promptly notified. The latter [illegible] posse, and when the [illegible] men were overcome. [illegible] resistance, one of them had two revolvers, while each of the others had a single weapon. They were [illegible] with nitroglycerine [illegible] and caps.

A week ago Saturday an attempt was made to rob the railroad station at Rockville, Ct., a diversion that was interrupted by the arrival of the watchman. A lively duel ensued, but the would-be robbers escaped. The [illegible], however, says the picture of Blake is the counterfeit presentment of [illegible] upon whom he so suddenly [illegible].

"This fact, coupled with the fact that these five men apparently constituted one active, working body, justifies the assumption in the minds of the police, that the safe robberies at Sharon and other places may be fairly charged up to them. Since their arrest, at any rate, there has been a sudden cessation of safe robberies along the lines of the Boston & Albany and New York, New Haven & Hartford railroads.

The escape of the fifth man, supposedly with the booty obtained at South Hadley, makes it impossible to definitely prove that charge against them, but Blake is held on a charge of assault with intent to kill, while the other three are charged with having burglars' tools in their possession. Deputy Chief Shaw of the state police would welcome information of the identity of the three unrecognized members of the party.

LAWRENCE BOY

HAS BEEN COMMENDED FOR BRAVERY.

By Associated Press to The Sun

LAWRENCE, Sept. 29.—Midshipman Walter Diman, who has been commended by Sec'y of the Navy Moody for bravery for saving from drowning a Frenchman in Chinese waters, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Diman of 62 Bailey street, this city.

Midshipman Diman is 24 years of age and a graduate of Annapolis. Unassuming in manner, his act is no surprise to his friends. To them his course in exposing himself to the dread cholera seems even braver than his rescue of the drowning Frenchman. Not long ago an American on duty in Chinese waters contracted cholera, and a request was sent to young Diman's ship for medical attendance. With the doctor Midshipman Diman went to the man-of-war on which the sick man was, and the two did all that they could to aid him.

Young Diman is filling the position of intelligence officer, the mission of the man-of-war on which he is stationed being to ascertain the whereabouts of all Americans, so that in the event of trouble it will be possible to reach them. He has been in Chinese waters nearly two years.

FREIGHT RATES

Reported Movement to Advance Them

By Associated Press to The Sun

NEW YORK, Sept. 29. Reports have been extensively circulated of late that a concerted movement, taking in all the large railroad systems of the country is under way to bring about an advance in freight rates on January 1. The eastern trunk lines, according to the reports in question are planning an increase equal to about 10 per cent.

When the matter was called, by the Journal of Commerce, to the attention of one of the best known trunk line officers at this port he declared the report absolutely absurd.

"Of course, there will be the usual end-year cleaning up of commodity rates—rates on raw materials, etc., for short distances to manufacturers and others," he said, "but it is ridiculous to talk about any general 10 per cent. advance. The basis first class between New York and Chicago has been 75 cents ever since 1882. There can certainly be no advance on that figure, for trade would not stand it. The only way, therefore, that an advance could be made, would be an advance in classification. A general advance in classification always meets with great opposition and never will be attempted unless the railroads must have it. Three years or so ago—when conditions warranted it—when materials and labor had advanced to such figures as to make railroading at the old figures a losing business, advances were made by means of classification which ranged between 5 and 7 per cent. These advances were in every way justified. Today there has certainly been no further advance in materials which, if anything, are a shade lower. Labor is not much higher, so that there is no excuse whatever for any general advance to say nothing of the alleged advance of ten per cent."

However, it has been learned that the trunk line managers are considering the adjustment of import rates and a joint conference of New York, Missouri river lines has been called to meet in New York, October 8.

For years home manufacturers have suffered greatly on account of relatively lower import rates. An agreement has been prepared between the steamship lines and the railroads whereby all import rates are to be based on Baltimore, which will be the 100 per cent. point.

Salen Replies to Dick's Letter

By Associated Press to The Sun

CLEVELAND, Sept. 29—Charles P. Salen, chairman of the Ohio democratic State executive committee, has replied to Chairman Dick's letter declining the Democratic challenge to Senator Hanna to a debate, saying:

"The paramount issue of the senatorial contest in this campaign is the public record of Senator M. A. Hanna and his unfitness by reason thereof to be returned to the United States senate.

"If you are not aware that John H. Clarke has attacked his public record and joined issue with the present senator upon his record, first, in fathering the ship subsidy bill, which seeks to take from the people's treasury $9,000,000 annually and put it into the treasury of the steamship companies; second, in forcing through the legislature the reactionary and expensive municipal code, which denies home rule to the cities of the State, and third, using his official position to secure for himself and associates franchise privileges to the injury of the people you can get this information in by inquiring of Senator Hanna himself."

"BROWN" ARMY

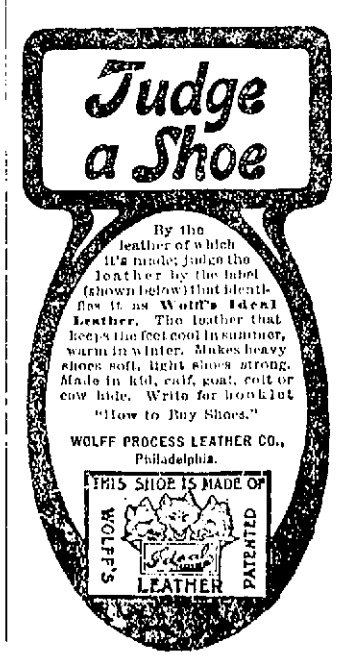

Won First of the Mimic Battles

By Associated Press to The Sun

CAMP YOUNG, WEST POINT, KY., Sept. 29.—The first real work of the troops assembled here for the army manoeuvres began yesterday. It centered on the solution of the various problems which confront the advance and rear guards of an army in the neighborhood of an army in time of war. The same relative problems were set before the rear guards of the Blue and the Brown armies.

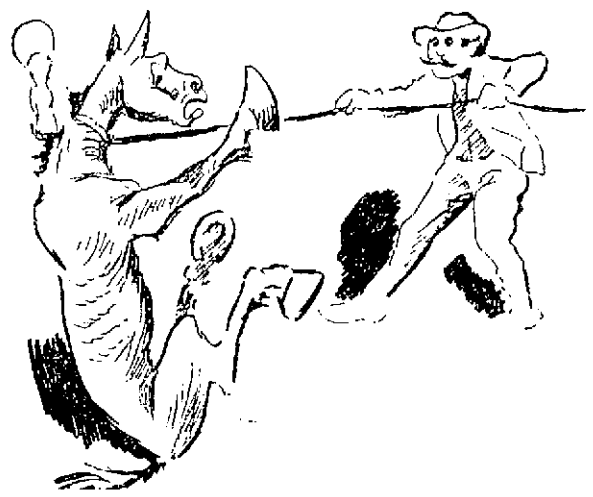

After a day spent in manoeuvring among the hills, the first of the mimic battles ended with an apparent advantage in favor of the "Brown" army. The conditions prevailing were those governing the proper employment of advance and rear guard of the armies.

The chief incident of the day was the capture of Captain Mitchell of the signal corps and a small detachment of his men by a troop of the Seventh Cavalry.

ACROBATIC HORSE

Turned Somersaults in Merrimack Square

A TWISTER.

He Had the Blind Staggers—Jew Peddler Bought Him at Auction Stable—Big Crowd Watched the Horse Perform

There'll be more jealous Jew peddlers in town for a week or two than ever before in the history of this great manufacturing city. A new horse has arrived in their midst and he's a circus horse from 'way back. He's a contortionist, an acrobat, a go-as-you-please or he can play short stop in a runaway. He gave two performances yesterday, forenoon and evening, and he was well received.

The audience in the evening was made up mostly of women and children with a few policemen and street sweepers thrown in.

This great equine performer is owned by a Jewish peddler whose number is the unlucky one plus three. It was by mere accident that the peddler came into possession of the equine and self with certain streets, caused the poor peddler many unhappy hours.

MADE HIS DEBUT.

The first performance by the horse and the peddler was in Kirk street yesterday forenoon. The circus tent was pitched in front of the High school building and the crowd was attracted by a few loud "whoas," and an occasional "get up there." Open word from the peddler and the horse did as he pleased. The performance lasted about 15 minutes and at the end of that time the peddler was ready for the hospital and the horse looked more than ever a home yard subject. He reared and plunged, turned somersaults, walked on his hind feet, went to sleep standing up, refused to eat oats, spat in the peddler's face, did the kangaroo walk and the bunches-couches and just as the curtain was about to drop on the last act, Agent Richardson stepped in and seized the gate receipts. The peddler objected as strenuously as his failing health would permit and the horse slept until the affair was settled. Then he awoke from what must have been unpleasant dreams. He was ugly and refused to budge. Three whips and two barrel staves were worn out on his steel bound frame and still he stood his ground. A little later the sparring began to get in their work and just for exercise he walked to a woodyard at the corner of John and Paige streets. There he remained until the September sun was painting the horizon in colors that poets rave about.

SCORED A SUCCESS.

The next performance was in Merrimack square and all that transpired in Kirk street was repeated plus a few extra stunts that had been shut out by the appearance of Agent Richardson. There was a large attendance, however, and the crowd remained until the acrobatic equine with the peddler attachment started a side step in the direction of a plate glass window. Then a street sweeper took a hand and, with the aid of a broom handle, exercised a peculiarly effective influence on the horse and the latter finally decided to take a walk. He had divested himself of his bridle and the peddler was attached to him by means of a rope about the performer's neck and the strange pair disappeared in the direction of Central street with Agent Richardson a close second. Such was the close of an incident that was both laughable and pathetic.

This horse should not have been sold under the hammer, blanket or anything else. He is surely afflicted and should have been relieved of his misery long ago.

NOT FIT TO SELL.

When the society for the prevention of cruelty to animals gets right down to business it will with the sanction of the proper authorities attend the auctions and instead of allowing poor, dismantled and bedraggled old skates to pass on into the hands of some miserable trader, the society's representative will order the horse sent to the rendering works. There are horses seen in the streets every day whose bones long since should have blanched on the sand hill at South Lowell. Poor, feeble brutes that would be stricken with heart disease if placed in a bedded stall. And, it too often happens, that the erstwhile proud drawer of an elegant family carriage passes over to his old age, when spavin stiffness is upon him, to the hands of cruel jockeys whose purpose in life is as cheap as the tobacco that streaks their contumelious lips.

THE ACROBATIC HORSE.

DREW COLOR LINE

WHITE WOMAN WAS BOMBARDED WITH CROCKERY.

By Associated Press to The Sun

PROVIDENCE, Sept. 29.—A white woman who drew the color line yesterday at the Hotel Hallett was bombarded with plates and other crockery.

The irate negro, known as George Fones, came to work in the hotel from Boston seven weeks ago.

Yesterday he ordered Annie Dunlavey not long ago a resident of county Roscommon, Ireland, to serve him his food. She dissented and stood glaring at him with her arms akimbo, declaring: "I never have carried food to a nigger. You will have to take just what the chef leaves out for you on the chopping block and don't you forget that either."

Then Fones shied all the dishes which came handy at Miss Dunlavey and there was a panic among the kitchen force. The girl was struck before she could escape into another apartment.

Then the negro fled from the house and the city.

HER LUNG OPENED

YOUNG WOMAN DIED AFTER UNIQUE OPERATION.

By Associated Press to The Sun

STAMFORD, Conn., Sept. 29—Miss Lizzie Gremmel of Exeter, N. H., who underwent a unique operation for relief from tuberculosis at the Stamford hospital on Sept. 5, died last night at that institution.

Miss Gremmel was 28 years old and a daughter of Solon Gremmel. She contracted tuberculosis from overwork while preparing for musical life.

She tried various specialists and climatic change without relief, and as a last resort determined to submit to the desperate operation by which her right lung was opened and the cavities therein cleaned and drainage of the lung established.

The operation was performed by Dr. Briggs of Stamford, assisted by Dr. John Roland Hazen and Dr. Frederick Whitehorn of New York. Drs. E. E. Rowell, Jr., and Root of Stamford.

Miss Gremmel rallied and for a time seemed to be getting along favorably. She was able to leave her room in an invalid's chair and sit on the hospital veranda.

A few days ago there was a change for the worse. Her entire system seemed to have become poisoned. She sank rapidly and last night the end came, with her devoted sister and a brother by her side.

Dr. Hazen performed an autopsy this morning. The result could not be ascertained.

"Gratitude compels me to acknowledge the great merit of your Vegetable Compound. I have suffered for four years with irregular and painful menstruation, also dizziness, pains in the back and lower limbs, and fitful sleep. I dreaded the time to come which would only mean suffering to me. Six bottles of Lydia E. I feel like another person now. My aches and pains have left me. I am satisfied there is no medicine so good for sick women as your Vegetable Compound, and I advocate it to my lady friends in need of medical help."—Mrs. B. A. When women are troubled with menstrual irregularities, weakness, leucorrhœa, displacement or ulceration of the womb, that bearing-down feeling, inflammation of the ovaries, backache, they should remember there is one tried and true remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

LUCY LARCOM

Lowell Mill Girl Who Became a Poet

The Boston Globe today has the following sketch of Lucy Larcom:

"The happy childhood of Lucy Larcom, who became one of the most successful of New England's women poets, was passed in Beverly. But in 1835 necessity forced Lucy's mother, then a widow, to move to Lowell. Lucy went to work in one of the mills. Speaking of her experience there she said, when she had become famous:

"That the manufacture of cloth should as a branch of feminine industry ever have suffered a shadow of discredit will doubtless appear to future generations a most ridiculous barbarism. To prepare the clothing of the world seems to have been regarded as womanly work in all ages. The spindle and the distaff, the picturesque accompaniments of many an ancient legend, have, to be sure, changed somewhat in their adaptation to the machinery which robes the human millions, but they are, in effect, the same instruments used to supply the same need, at whatever period of the world's history."

The mill girls started some fortnightly papers which did not live very long, one paper was called "The Casket," another "The Bouquet," and another "The Diving Bell." Lucy and her sister Emeline contributed. "The Lowell Offering" was started in 1840 and "The Operatives' Magazine" later. Finally both were united in one magazine called "The Lowell Offering." The editors were Harriet Farley and Harriet Curtiss, both factory girls. The contributors were also factory girls. It once had a subscription list of 4000. It ran successfully for five years. The fame of some of its contributors spread over the world.

Lucy Larcom contributed poems and prose articles. She began her career as an amateur writer and operative very early. When 11 years old her work was changing the bobbins on the spinning frames, and the hours of work were sometimes from 5 in the morning to 7 at night. The bobbins had to be changed every three-quarters of an hour. On the sides of one of the windows in the mill she pasted newspaper clippings containing favorite poems.

Her sympathy for honest industry (see 'Lucy Larcom, Life, Letters and Diary,' edited by Daniel Dulany Addison) without any regard for its fortuitous position in so-called 'society,' was developed by her acquaintance with those earnest girls who were struggling for their own support and education."

She early took an interest in the freedom of the slave. She even had scruples about working on the cotton produced by slave labor. In one of her poems she said:

When I have thought what soil the cotton plant
We weave is rooted in, what waters it—
The blood of souls in bondage—I have felt
That I was sinning against light, to stay
And turn the accursed fibre into cloth
For human wearing.

After working five years in the spinning room she was made bookkeeper in the cloth room of the Lawrence mills.

In 1846 Emeline married and Lucy went west with her and her husband. Their new home was a log cabin on Looking Glass Prairie in Illinois. The settlement was called Frogdom by some of the inhabitants. In this new region Lucy taught school, getting $40 for three months' work. Later she was able to earn $14 a month teaching in other places. She did her own washing and ironing. She next entered a female seminary, paying her tuition part in money and part by teaching. She graduated when 28. She removed to Beverly and opened school there. In 1854 she began to teach in Wheaton seminary at Norton. For years she had been preparing herself for literature. She could read when she was 2 1-2 years old and early began to express her feelings in prose and verse. Whittier was a sort of literary godfather to her.

She gave up teaching in 1862, but in 1864 took a few pupils and devoted considerable of her time to painting. In 1865 she became a magazine editor. The first volume of poetry was printed when she was 44 years old. In 1874 she and Whittier brought some books together. In 1875 she wrote "An Idyl of Work," dedicated to working women. It is a long poem, in blank verse describing the life of Lowell factory girls in the 40's. She had already written for the Atlantic Monthly an article entitled "Among Lowell Mill Girls." Until she was 69 years old, Lucy Larcom was able to support herself on the income derived from her literary work. She died in 1893. Her name is worthy of a conspicuous place among the heroic souls who have toiled with hand and brain and won a high place in arts or letters.

Has Had More Experience in the Treatment, and Made More Great Cures of Difficult, Protracted and Chronic Diseases and Weaknesses of Men Than Any Other Living Specialist

Dr. Lougest's treatment has been tested on more than twenty thousand (20,000) men, middle-aged and old men, who, as the results of errors or excesses, were tortured by the woes of nervous debility or decay. It has never yet failed, even in the worst cases, to bring back manly power, remove every trace or symptom of weakness, build up the physical and mental health, and prepare man anew for the duties and pleasures of both married and single life.

Lost manhood, seminal weakness, effects of youthful indiscretions, nervous debility, pimples and blotches, hair falling out, loss of memory and energy, impotence, rheumatic pains, discharges and all private diseases quickly and permanently cured by an original and never-failing treatment. Blood poison, ulcers, stricture, carbuncles and diseases of the kidneys, bladder and blood cured in the shortest possible time, without the use of mercury or hindrance from business. Dr. Lougest's treatment for the complete cure of stricture and all unnatural discharges is the most wonderful of modern times. No matter how long the discharge has continued nor how many self-styled specialists have failed to relieve, let alone cure, Dr. Lougest will positively guarantee to stop the discharge entirely within six days by means of his New Method Treatment. This treatment removes stricture, positively without pain, detention from business or the use of obnoxious or injurious medicines. No Experiment! No Failure! Nine tenths of all the long standing discharges, strictures and weaknesses of men are caused by the experiments of the many inexperienced and self-styled specialists of the present day.

Many a man who has been fooled by the "Pay When Cured" racket, knows that it is the last and only resort of a dying-out pretenders to get a patient into his clutches. Beware of such schemes. Don't be deceived by misleading statements such as these seemingly charitable offers.

Don't entrust your lives to anyone not qualified by years of experience to treat you. Don't even step your foot across the threshold of an office run by inexperienced, irresponsible illiterate pretenders. You had better save your money and let the disease take its own course than be practiced and experimented upon and in the end lose both your money and life.

Dr. Lougest's offices occupy the entire building of five floors at 313 Columbus avenue, and they are supplied with every known means and device that science, skill, knowledge and money can provide that will aid in determining the exact location and nature of these diseases and effecting their cure promptly and thoroughly, and by the same sure methods as are used in the most celebrated Paris hospitals, which invariably result in

A Vigorous Legal Battle is Promised

ONE JUROR CHOSEN IN FIRST HOUR

The Defense Has Eleven Lawyers

By Associated Press to The Sun

LEXINGTON, S. C., Sept. 28.—J. C. Tillman, formerly lieutenant-governor of South Carolina, was arraigned in the circuit court for Lexington county, today under an indictment charging him with the murder of N. G. Gonzales, editor of the Columbia "State."

The trial is being conducted on behalf of the state by Solicitor Thurmond, assisted by five other attorneys, while eleven lawyers with Judge Croft as chief counsel, appear for the defense. Judge Frank B. Gary is presiding.

It became manifest at the very outset that every inch of ground is to be vigorously contested during the trial. The case opened with the expectation that a jury could be secured by 3 p.m. today when the taking of testimony could be proceeded with, but only one juror was secured during the first hour.

RECEIVER NAMED

FOR THE CONSOLIDATED LAKE SUPERIOR COMPANY.

By Associated Press to The Sun

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Sept. 28—John G. Carruth of Philadelphia, president of the International Title & Trust company was today appointed receiver for the Consolidated Lake Superior company by Judge Platt, in the U. S. district court. His bond was placed at $10,000.

Judge Lynde Harrison of this city, counsel for the company, said the company consented to the appointment of the receiver.

The application for the receivership was presented by Judge Walter C. Noyes of the firm of Noyes & Brandegee of New London, in behalf of H. F. Rothermel, Jr., Samuel M. Clemens, Jr. and Joseph F. Junkins of Philadelphia, attorneys for certain stockholders of the company. It was set forth in the application that the directors of the company had failed to take up the loan of $5,050,000 of Speyer & company of New York; that the actual value of the plant as expressed in the amount expended in buildings, machinery and other properties, is far in excess of the amount of the loan; that the stockholders fear that of a forced sale were allowed they would lose the entire amount of their investment. A receiver was therefore asked for and also a temporary injunction to prevent the sale of the property under foreclosure proceedings.

Judge Lynde Harrison, counsel for the company, presented a written statement, saying that the company admits the truth of the allegations contained in the complaint and consents to the appointment of a temporary receiver and to the issuance of an injunction to prevent the sale of the property and to prevent the issuance of suits against the receiver.

After the receiver had been appointed, it was announced that further proceedings would be held in New York state.

SCORED BY THE FEDERATION OF LABOR.

By Associated Press to The Sun

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Sept. 28—A temporary victory was scored by the defendants in the suit of D. E. Loewe & Co., hat makers in Danbury, who are backed by the American Anti-Boycott association, against the officers of the American Federation of Labor, the officers of the United Hatters of North America and 250 members of the United Hatters as individuals. After a hearing before Judge George W. Wheeler of the superior court the amount of the attachment was reduced to $60,000. This was a very substantial reduction, as the real estate covered by attachment is held at an assessed valuation of $128,000 and the bank accounts of the individual defendants aggregate $52,000.

This hearing was on a motion by counsel for the defendants for the reduction of the amount of attachment, for an order for the substitution of a bond for the property attached and for an order requiring the oral examination of the members of the firm of D. E. Loewe & Co. as to the actual amount of damages sustained by the firm in consequence of the strike and boycott.

HELD MONEY CLUTCHED IN HER HAND.

By Associated Press to The Sun

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—While performing an autopsy yesterday on the body of eight-year-old Annie Jedlicka, who was run over by a truck near her home, 1359 Avenue A last Friday morning, Coroner's Physician O'Hanlon, found a twenty-five-cent piece tightly clasped in the child's right hand.

Annie got the money a few minutes before she was killed and was on her way to buy a doll with it. In her excitement she didn't hear the shout of a truckman whose horse she darted in front of.

The child didn't regain consciousness until she reached the Presbyterian hospital. The money had remained in her hand after the accident, and when one of the nurses attempted to take it away the child begged to be allowed to keep it. No one attempted to take the money away from the child after that and it remained in her fingers while the doctors performed an operation.

The Grand Army at San Francisco, he said, resolved to appeal to Congress and to all patriotic citizens for a pension for veterans of the civil war, 62 years old and over, who saw sixty days or more of actual service, and to their widows after them.

BOYS EXAMINED

Relative to False Alarm From Box Nine

Fred Regan, 17, and Edward Larose, 14, were examined before Superintendent Moffatt, Chief Engineer Hosmer, Deputy Welch and Inspector Walsh in Supt. Moffatt's office this afternoon relative to the false alarm from box 9, corner of Common and Salem streets, Friday night, September 18.

The boys did not deny that they pulled the alarm but said they did not do it maliciously. Their story was to the effect that on their way through Common street a woman rushed out of a house and told them to ring in the alarm for a chimney fire close by. Regan broke the glass in the box, the other boy opened the door and Regan turned the key.

They did not remain at the box until the firemen came, because, they said, they did not think it necessary. They were lectured as to the seriousness of such an offense and allowed to go.

HER SAD PLIGHT

Young Portuguese Girl Sent to Almshouse

Secretary Courtney of the Pauper department meets with many unusual and sad cases in his daily routine, but in all his experience he never met a case to compare with one which engaged his attention today.

This morning a young Portuguese girl, who only recently came to this country, applied for admission to the city hospital, being in a delicate condition. The secretary upon inspecting her passports, learned to his surprise that she is only 12 years of age.

The girl came here direct from Portugal only three weeks ago and was able to pass the immigration officers, having a sister in this city who was able to support her until she could procure some employment. It is quite evident that she was shipped away from home when her condition became known.

Sec. Courtney sent the girl to the state hospital at Tewksbury.

PUGILIST TALKS

He Tells About His Conversion

By Associated Press to The Sun

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—The Ark of Salvation chose the humble stage of Miner's Theatre as its resting place yesterday. Its crew was sixty strong and they delivered themselves of twenty-three songs set to the music of popular airs from "The Good Old Summer Time" to "Hiawatha."

The three-score Salvationists are being led by Commander Booth-Tucker on a nine-day crusade of the Bowery. The most notable among them were "Billy" Smith, ex-featherweight pugilist, and his wife. Billy is slim, good looking and pugilistically developed. He told a story yesterday about a former friend who poured a lamp of burning oil over his wife and is now in prison for it.

"I'd ha' been like dat, meself," confessed the featherweight Salvationist, "if me wife hadn't got typhoid and promised de Lord dat if she ever got well she'd join de Salvation Army. One night her an' me passed the meeting place of Corps 16.

"'Come along, Billy,' sea she.

"'Me in dere?' says I. 'Not fer mine, Not fer a t'ousand.'

"Honest," interpolated Billy, taking the audience into his confidence, "I t'ought dey was all a lot o' grafters."

Officer Spitz here took advantage of a shout from the 900 Roweyites assembled to start up "Hiawatha" to this effect:

I remember well the day
When I did stray,
Far, away.

"If de Lord tolt me t' go down among yous an' t'row out de biggest man dere, I'd do it," concluded Billy, before sitting down.

Sister Osborn gave thanks that on Miner's stage "artificial things have given place to real things" and Commander Booth-Tucker then began to tell how "Mayor Noah braved the scoffs of the weather bureau and the threats of the lunacy commission in building his ark."

"And if you don't all get into the ark, right now, you'll be drowned just like those scoffers were. Thirty-two millions of you are now swept into eternity every year," he concluded.

Two women and thirteen men climbed into the "mercy seat," after varying amounts of urging.

PEACE FAR OFF

Parks and Anti-Parks Men Battle

By Associated Press to The Sun

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Sept. 28.—The atmosphere of peace that settled over the convention of the Structural Iron and Bridge Workers association, Saturday, has been rudely disturbed over Sunday and this morning, the tension between the Buchanan and Parks contingents was close to the breaking point. Before the convention met today, a split seemed inevitable. Samuel Parks refused to discuss the caucus he and his followers held last night with the avowed intention of mapping out a campaign to capture the convention and elect H. F. Donnelly of Albany, N. Y., as president and Mr. Buchanan was equally reticent in talking of the alleged plans of the anti-Parks element to walk out if the New York element should enforce matters their way.

The report of the committee on president's address in which it was believed President Buchanan would be attacked for his attitude in the New York troubles was one of the matters up for consideration when the convention met this morning, still behind closed doors.

STEEL STOCKS

Showed Extreme Weakness in the Market

By Associated Press to The Sun

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—Last week's liquidation was renewed at the opening of today's stock market. Extreme weakness was shown by steel securities, all of which went to new low records, the five per cent. bonds selling down to 68¾ and the common stock to 15 in the first hour. The traction shares also showed pronounced heaviness and a number of the higher class railway shares made declines of one point and over. One of the early features was a three-point break in Louisville & Nashville. Metropolitan Street railway at 108¾ touched the lowest price reached in years. The selling movement came from all parts of the room and was doubtless inspired in a large measure by lower quotations from abroad, all the European financial centers showing an unfriendly attitude toward this market. Brokers reported large sales for Philadelphia, Pittsburg and middle west accounts. Efforts to rally the market soon after the opening and at other times during the early session proved unsuccessful.

PITTSBURG MARKET WEAK

By Associated Press to The Sun

PITTSBURG, Pa., Sept. 28.—The local stock market was weak at the opening today and prices showed further declines, but there was no excitement. U. S. Steel common opened at 15⅝ and with heavy selling declined to 11⅞.

RUSH OF SHORTS

Attempt to Cover in the Cotton Market

By Associated Press to The Sun

NEW YORK, Sept. 28. There was a wild rush of September shorts to cover in the cotton market this morning and the price for that delivery rose and fell in a manner that recalls the earlier days of the bull campaign. Closing on Saturday at 11.12, it opened this morning at 11.16. The next sale was at 11.17, and from this it jumped to 11.25. Then it was forced up 5 and 10 points at a time until 12.05 was reached, a net gain of about a cent a pound or nearly $50 on a trading contract of 100 bales. At this level the demand subsided somewhat and reacted to 11.50, the decline being almost as rapid and sensational as the upward movement. It was a noticeable day for September, and while notices of considerable cotton were issued, hey were reported to be promptly stopped by a broker representing the New Orleans bull crowd and they evidentally fell short of covering the entire outstanding short interest. At any rate, shorts became urgent buyers soon after the call and the New Orleans leader was an active supporter of the option, indicating apparently a willingness to accept all actual cotton offerings. The balance of the list was fairly active and firm, showing net gains of 7 to 14 points at the best, easing off slightly afterward with September.

THE VATICAN

MAY TAKE PART IN THE WORLD'S FAIR.

By Associated Press to The Sun

ROME, Sept. 28.—The negotiations for the participation of the Vatican in the St. Louis exposition are proceeding satisfactorily.

It is considered probable that the Holy See shall send as its representative an important cardinal of the curia. The chief difficulty is that the tradition and etiquette of the Vatican are against sending cardinals, except as ablegates to foreign countries and they are never sent to expositions or fairs. The difficulty will probably be overcome by sending a cardinal to America in connection with church affairs and he will afterwards proceed to St. Louis thus paying to the United States papacy's highest tribute.

DESTROYED BY FIRE

THE OLCOTT HOUSE WAS BURNED DOWN

By Associated Press to The Sun

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., Sept. 28.—The Olcott House, at Wurstboro, Sullivan county, one of the largest and oldest hotels in that county, was destroyed by fire early today, together with adjoining buildings. Little of the contents of the hotel was saved. The horses and cattle were burned to death. The loss is heavy.

BANKING SYSTEM

Is Said to Face a Crisis

By Associated Press to The Sun

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 28.—Within the last three weeks a condition has arisen which, if continued, will render it impossible for national banks henceforth to issue circulating notes at a profit. As national banking associations are organized primarily to earn dividends, although they are in a sense, as Secretary Shaw says, the servants of the people, it is evident that with the chance of profit gone, not much new bank currency will be issued. In conversation with a correspondent several days ago, Secretary Shaw made the significant statement that there was no longer any inducement for banks to issue circulation, and in his speech before the bankers of Maryland and the District of Columbia on Thursday last he made the same statement.

The fact is, as freely admitted by the secretary of the treasury, that the time has come which has been for years predicted by the opponents of the circulation feature of the national banking system. It has been said that the time would naturally come when government bonds would not be available for use as a basis of bank circulation, and so the bank currency system has been denounced as a makeshift scheme, merely temporary in character. This consideration has been one of the principal weapons of that school of financiers who have declared that "the government should go out of the banking business."

In his speech, above referred to, Secretary Shaw asks what substitute can be found for government bonds as a basis for bank currency, but he does not answer the question himself. The great bulk of the 2 per cent. bonds, which are used almost exclusively as security for circulation, are already on deposit in the treasury as security either for bank notes or federal deposits in the banks. Only a handful of this class of bonds is on the market, and this fact is shown only too plainly in the high prices prevailing at a time when the secretary of the treasury proposes to increase the deposits of public money.

After the notice was issued last Wednesday that the refunding operations would be resumed, there was a fall in prices of the 2 per cent. bonds. But even now they are quoted at 108 and 109.

The refunding operations do not promise success. The conditions in the bond markets are not favorable, and the bondholders do not seem by any means eager to exchange their 3 and 4 per cent. bonds for the long term 2s.

There has been a surprising slowness in the redemption of the 5 per cent. loan of 1904, and from present indications the proposition of Secretary Shaw to liquidate the loan at once and charge it to the sinking fund for 1905, will not meet with general favor among holders of the bonds.

CAUSE OF ACCIDENT

STATEMENT MADE BY VICE PRESIDENT FINLAY.

By Associated Press to The Sun

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—Vice President Finlay of the Southern Railway, made the following statement today regarding the accident to the mail train in the vicinity of Danville, yesterday:

"The train consisted of two mail cars, one express car and one baggage car for the storage of mails. The trestle is very little damaged as the train jumped the track about 40 feet north of the trestle on sound track, in good line and surface and proper gauge. The trestle was in first class condition and was so well braced that the engine and train falling on the outside of the curve knocked down the outside posts and left the others standing. Eye witnesses report that the train was approaching the trestle at a rate of speed of 30 to 35 miles per hour. The loss of life and the personal injuries are very much regretted. The cause of the accident is being investigated. The trestle was promptly repaired and the first train passed over it at 9.10 this morning."

LOW ATTACKED

First Gun of Democratic Campaign

GROUT AND FORNES ON TAMMANY TICKET

Jerome Will Stump for Fusion

By Associated Press to The Sun

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—After having taken time to think it over, politicians of all parties and factions became more than ever incredulous yesterday of the sincerity of the suggestion made by Charles F. Murphy, leader of Tammany hall, that Tammany might solve the problem it faces in regard to the King's county democratic organization by placing Edward M. Grout and Charles V. Fornes on the democratic city ticket. Mr. Grout seemed to be the only man who still believed that there was any possibility of such a thing. Inquiry established the fact that Mr. Grout had signified his willingness to take a nomination from Tammany without letting his fusion colleagues and the managers of the political organizations which had already nominated him know he was in negotiation with Tammany and that he was ready to accept the overtures made to him.

The fusionists were amazed yesterday at Mr. Grout's apparent willingness to permit his name to be placed on the Tammany ticket. Senator Platt and Timothy L. Woodruff declared that he could not accept and retain his self-respect. Their opinion was shared by E. R. L. Gould of the Citizens' Union. R. Fulton Cutting, with the optimism which is characteristic of him, said he saw no reason why the two fusion candidates should not receive Tammany support. Mayor Low declined to commit himself.

In Tammany there was jubilation over Mr. Grout's declaration that he would take a Tammany nomination if it should be offered. Not one of the Tammany leaders believes he will have a chance to accept, but Mr. Murphy has demonstrated his skill as a political guide by inducing Mr. Grout to turn his back on his fusion associates. They recalled the fact that in 1895 Mr. Grout, after having aided in bringing about the nomination of his friend, Edward M. Shepard, as a candidate for mayor of Brooklyn on an independent ticket, had turned around and accepted the ring democratic nomination.

"Another clearing of the atmosphere" was predicted confidently by the leaders of the fusion movement last night. Without exception the leaders of the Republican and "citizens' union organization declared that former Lieut.-Gov. Woodruff, in notifying Mayor Low, Comptroller Grout and Mr. Fornes formally of their renomination as the anti-Tammany candidates as Mayor Low's home tomorrow, would state the situation with reference to Mr. Murphy's proposed Tammany indorsement, and that in their replies Messrs. Grout and Fornes would define their positions.

Dist.-Atty. Jerome's heart will remain true to fusion and Mayor Low until after election day. Mr. Jerome will go on the stump for the fusion ticket. After the election he will act with democrats to reorganize the democracy. This announcement was made for Mr. Jerome by his friends after the return of the district attorney to this city from Lakeville last night. Mr. Jerome would not allow himself to be quoted regarding the exciting events which were transpiring.

It was said to be time something definite came from Mr. Jerome, however in view of the fact that last week he met Mr. Nixon in consultation at the request of one of the independent democrats who had signed the request to Mayor Low to again be a candidate for mayor, and that reports which Mr. Jerome would not then discuss had been spread that he might go on the stump for Mr. Nixon in case the latter became a candidate for mayor. It can be stated for Mr. Jerome that he never has had any intention of doing anything else than supporting the fusion ticket with all his energies.

In a bitter attack upon Mayor Low as partisan, the democratic managers fired the first gun of their campaign tonight in the guise of an address to the democratic voters of the city. Declaring that Mayor Low has shown himself to be a republican, and that he is under control of the republican leaders of the state and nation, the address asserts that there can be no such thing as non-partisanship in the present municipal struggle, and calls upon democrats to wait the action of the democratic city convention next Thursday night, promising that the ticket which will be placed in the field then will meet their approval.

William Hepburn Russell, late commissioner of accounts and chairman of the executive committee of the Greater New York democracy, now a supporter of Tammany, wrote to Mayor Low yesterday a letter replying to Mr. Low's acceptance of his resignation from the service.

"Not Richard Croker in the palmiest days of his power," Mr. Russell says, "ever dared to make an entire city ticket with a single stroke of his pen. Yet you accomplished this remarkable feat, and now charge me with sacrificing or wiling to sacrifice the interests of the city of New York because as a democrat I do not regard a bipartisan ticket headed by a republican as something to be hailed with delight by those independent democratic voters without whose votes the election of a fusion ticket is quite impossible.

As matters stand today I have determined to give my support to the democratic ticket as against the bipartisan ticket, of which you are the head. One ticket will be just as nonpartisan as the other, and notwithstanding the opinion of Chairman Bruce of the republican committee to the contrary, I believe that democratic office holders are likely to be quite as honest and faithful to the interests of the city as republicans, masquerading as non-partisans."

Declaring the present municipal campaign to be a battle for the world between heaven and hell, the Rev. Dr. Portland Meyer, last night in the Baptist Temple, Brooklyn, denounced Tammany and its methods. "This is a battle against Tammany iniquity. If that thieving organization gets another chance to steal, it will make up for lost opportunity and double the crime. This will be a battle for church and school and home and health and life itself. We have sent Tweeds and McKanes to Sing Sing and Crokers into exile, but this may be a Gettysburg.

"The issue ought to be defined, and the lines drawn distinct and sharp. It is a fight between good and bad, between honesty and dishonesty, between plunder and principle, between traitorism and truth, between heaven and hell."

HAD GOOD TIME

PRESIDENT NOW READY FOR HARD WORK.

By Associated Press to The Sun

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 28.—The train bearing President Roosevelt to Washington arrived at the West Philadelphia station of the Pennsylvania railroad at 1.04 p. m., and after changing engines left four minutes later.

President Roosevelt alighted from his car and was approached by about 25 people who had gathered on the platform. He smiled and said:

"I am glad to see you. The crowd is so small I guess I can shake hands with you."

One of the newspaper men in the crowd asked the president if he had enjoyed his vacation. He replied:

"I did. I had a bully time and I never felt better in my life. I am now ready for 13 months more of hard work."

Now for football, broken arms and battered heads.

Congratulations to the Mohairs, Hird and Priestley!

The caucuses are over. Now for a great democratic victory in November.

The local democracy presents a clean set of young and capable men for legislative honors in the coming election.

This is a week of conventions—a time when governors, senators and representatives, besides an army of grafters, will be made.

Gaston is gaining right here in Lowell. The sentiment is strong for him among the independent voters, as the returns on election day promise to show.

Aside from Representative Luce, the author of the bill, we know of no one who has gone into ecstasies over the workings of the Luce bill in the Boston primaries.

To the liquor squad—For the few things that you have done, the people will give you praise; for the many offences that you have overlooked you can expect only condemnation.

Nixon is out for the democratic nomination for mayor of New York. "The more the merrier," but it really does look as if Brooklyn hesitated just a trifle too long before trotting out her favorite son.

The Haverhill Gazette hints that Lowell will be avoided by the Ancients and Honorables on account of no-license. We rather think they would enjoy the beauty and order of a no-license city after passing through such cities as Fall River and Boston.

Andover street is too fine a boulevard to be neglected. The Tewksbury officials should not forget the amount of money expended in the construction of that roadway. A little care on the part of the street department of that town would keep the street in presentable condition.

Democrats, beware of the "good fellow" argument. Remember that your democratic friend is just as reliable in the matter of friendship as his republican opponent. The republicans give away nothing, so why should you cast your vote against your party on the ground of "good fellowship."

The health department's crusade on hen roosts should result in abating some of the nuisances that exist in our city and are a menace to public health. It is not the most pleasant thing in the world to have a hennery or a menagerie located close to one's dining or sleeping apartments. The health department cannot act too quickly in this matter.

A girl is running the entire business of the municipality of Linares, Mexico. She occupies all the offices from mayor down and her administration is so acceptable that the Mexican congress will vote her a medal. She is a woman of grit and determination and the success she has attained will, undoubtedly, inspire the woman suffragists to renewed action.

In handling the preliminaries to the nomination of the Tammany candidate for mayor of Greater New York, Charles Murphy, the Tammany leader, has shown himself a most astute political leader. It was no eleventh hour with its inevitable squabble for him. He declared himself and made known his preference when the Brooklyn men refused to come to the front. It looks like a sweeping democratic victory in Greater New York.

Now for another scandal. Colonel Henry Watterson, Louisville's great citizen, charges that the $40,000,000 which was exacted from the United States in accordance with the proposed compact with the Panama Canal company was to have been divided among thieves. The administration is certainly having its troubles, and it only goes to show that the game of "graft" is still the prominent factor in the republican camp.

Tonight the senatorial convention will meet to name Michael J. Mahoney for senator in the sixth district. Mr. Mahoney has served two terms in the house of representatives, and has been heard on all matters of public interest, especially labor matters, that have come before the state legislature during his terms of service and is worthy of the suffrage of the people. He will make a representative senator if favored with the votes of the majority of the citizens of the district.

Colonel Gaston opines that the Luce law is a blow at the independent voter inasmuch as it deprives him of his constitutional right at the primaries. A strange thing about the law is that in Boston it had rather the opposite effect from what was intended. The republicans looked to a reduced democratic vote at the primaries and were disappointed to learn of the immense outpouring of democrats as compared with the number of republicans who exercised their right at the caucus. It does seem that every measure the republican machine in this state frames to injure the democratic party acts as a boomerang.

THE COAL TRUST.

The coal trust starts in to curtail production in order to keep up the price. Yet some people will say that there is no coal trust. If ever there existed a trust anywhere on American soil, it exists in the combination that controls not only the coal supply but the agencies of transportation. There is no use of talking of the government controlling the trusts while the trusts control the government as at present seems to be the case.

TOO MANY FADS.

Mrs. Julia E. Duff, of the Boston school board, charges that fads and specialization greatly hamper the practical work of the public school. She claims that "instead of drawing out the pupil's power by systematic and thorough training in the few essentials, he is constantly deluged with an infinite number of unessentials which serve only to weaken his power of concentration and to waste his mental and physical energy. The consequence is that we are turning out every year thousands of public school graduates who have been taught a smattering of numerous pretty things, but who are wretchedly poor spellers, slipshod readers, inaccurate arithmeticians, totally crude and incompetent speakers and writers, and yet are holders of diplomas certifying to successful examination in all sorts of esthetic courses."

SEEN AND HEARD

Duke, the big yellow dog, that bore so great a likeness to a lion, is dead. A few years ago he was used as a lion by the Hosfords in one of the most comical and unique parades ever seen in this city. He was clipped so as to look the real lion and his trainer was getting along finely in the cage until Duke got a whiff of fried liver and onions cooking at the old homestead. It was then that the natives were treated to the most laughable feature of the parade. It was the first exhibition of a barking lion ever seen in Lowell and it made a great big hit. Duke sniffed the air, wagged his tail, and barked as he never barked before. His cage was nothing more substantial than a dry goods box with slats across and as the second whiff of the liver and onions was wafted his way he broke prison, carrying the dry goods box and his keeper with him to the street. That was the last time Duke ever played lion and last night the poor old fellow moved on to the bow-wow land.

Andrew Carnegie made his first public address when he graduated from short skirts into trousers. Little Andrew, according to the legend, had long envied the children who, every Sunday, dressed in their best, went off to "the school," from which they returned enriched with papers and picture cards. He was a happy boy when he was first sent there.

"Does anyone know a nice text?" asked the pretty teacher, after several children had primly "spoken their parts."

Up went the hand of the boy. The teacher looked surprised.

"Do you know a text, Andrew?" she asked doubtfully.

"Yes," said Andrew. "'A penny saved is a penny earned!'"

When the little Carnegies, including the enterprising Andrew, yearned unwisely for the seductive wares of the neighboring candy shops, their mother used to encourage them to be thrifty by repeating the proverb, "A penny saved is a penny earned." Andrew had hearkened and heeded, hence his precocious text.

Years afterward, when, by a careful observance of this "text," he was in a position to become a philanthropist, the teacher recalled the incident and told it to her friends.

A little story that has to do with the renting of a tenement and into the web of which is also woven a few loose yarns from the tail end of the coal famine, was told me the other day. The house was advertised to rent and a woman saw the ad and found the owner of the house. He was showing the woman through and she seemed fairly well satisfied with the upstairs portion of the house, but the cellar wasn't quite so inviting. She was bent upon seeing it, however, and the man lighted a candle. "Step down ahead of me," he said to her, and the woman stepped. The family that had occupied the house during the coal famine season had used the cellar stairs for wood. The owner of the house didn't know that and when the woman stepped she went all the way and landed in water up to her knees. It wasn't a very deep cellar, to be sure, but the water was there and she was very wet. She hollered, "Murder!" and called to the man to help her up. He wouldn't help her, he said, until she stopped screeching, and when she consented to, he gave her his hand and pulled her up. She wanted to go right away quick, but the shrewd man wouldn't allow her. "You must stay here," he said, "until I get a doctor to see if you're injured."

"But I'm soaking wet," she insisted.

"Can't help that," he replied. "I must have you examined so that if you bring suit I will know where I'm at." Finally, after the woman assured him that she would not bring suit, he allowed her to go. The house is still vacant.

"The trolley car," said a prominent neulist the other day, "is the cause of more distressing and serious eye troubles than all the other so-called abuses of our over civilization. It is true that we will misuse our eyes in many ways, but the worst abuse of them is reading in trolley cars.

"In the steam railroad trains the motion is entirely different from that of the electrically-propelled vehicle. There are few jerks and false starts, and the vibration, owing to the weight of the cars, the solidity of roadbeds, and the steady speed, is not particularly noticeable when reading. But the trolley car does not maintain the same rate of speed for more than a few moments at a time. It is constantly swaying and jerking. The roadbed is so light that the car bounces along like a billiard ball, and the eye that is trying to read is forced to follow quivering lines up and down and criss-cross.

"I have had dozen of patients lately whom I have relieved entirely by merely making them stop reading in the trolley car.

"Many men and women wonder why they have those queer, 'binding' headaches when they reach home after their nightly ride in the cars. Well, most of them have the headache that results from the eye strain. The trouble is insidious, and the eye itself is rarely pained. The pain comes from the strained, superinformed nerves behind the eye, and they carry their trouble on to the brain. Stop reading in trolley cars, and there will be fewer mysterious headaches."

SIX DAY RACE

PHILADELPHIAS ANNUAL EVENT OCCURS NEXT MONTH.

The annual six day go-as-you-please pedestrian race, which has been one of the sporting features in Philadelphia, will take place during the week beginning November 13, and ending November 18.

The race this year will be run under new conditions owing to the law being changed in the state of Pennsylvania and in order to overcome the restrictions against continuous six-day racing Manager Eckhardt has changed the event into a team race. This change promises to make the race more exciting and insures fast work from the start to the finish.

All of the old timers, Canavaugh, Dineen, Hegleman, Golden Glick, Howarth, Cartwright, Barnes, Nolan, Norcum, Davis, the Indian, have already started into training for the big race. But the new conditions of the race make the event a very open one and will give the new element a chance to carry off the first prize.

Entry blanks and all other information pertaining to the race can be had by addressing John P. Eckhardt, 213 N. 13th Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Breaks Into the Polo League

There is considerable talk of Lowell getting into the polo league which is being made up under the direction of Jacob Morse, Tim Murnane and Willie Parsons. The circuit at the present time includes Lawrence, Chelsea, Lynn, Salem, Stoneham and Woburn. It is doubtful if the local enthusiasts want to see Lowell in such a league. They would much rather do without polo for a year or so and then see the real article.

Lowell has been in the habit of seeing good polo, or at least we saw championship polo played here for two years. Towards the latter part of last season the western league had a little the better of the argument and put eastern polo to the very bow-wows and this year all the polo players who are worth anything will be found in the western league. The Lawrence Sun-American in writing on the prospects for polo mentions the names of Pierce, Curtis, Bannon, Devlin, Murphy, Mead and Dawson. "Dickey" Pierce will manage one of the western teams and as for the other players mentioned if they can land positions in the west they will do so. The only thing that will keep those men in the east will be the fact that they are not fast enough for the western players, or rather the fact that they are not fast enough for the western players, or rather the eastern players in the west.

We had our innings with polo in this section of the country and at the present time the west is on top, but next year or possibly the year after the east will be a hot bed and the eastern players together with a number of westerners will make their way to this section of the country and pitch their tents. While we would like to see polo we would much rather not see any for a couple of years than have second rate teams which have no license to appear in a rink.

Bill Parsons, who has been in Los Angeles, writes that his pet scheme, the Ohio league, is up the flue, or in other words, that he has received the freeze out in the west, but Wise Willie wires on: "Tell the people in Lowell and vicinity that they will have polo this year." The above few words caused "Me and Jake" to look into the matter of the new league and after looking it up decided that they would gain control of the whole shooting match by allowing the league promoters to use the name of the American league. The promoters, directors, or whatever they termed themselves, fell easy victims and even went so far as to appoint "Me and Jake" president and secretary. Bill Parsons is now on his way east to get into the game which his advance guard made easy for him. Oh, Willie! You are the wise one.

RUSSIAN FORCE

250,000 Troops in the Far East

By Associated Press to The Sun

TIEN TSIN, Sept. 29.—The military strength of Russia in the far east is now as follows:

In Manchuria proper 50,000 men of all arms, including 18 batteries of artillery; on the lines of communication between Port Arthur and the Amur province, 110,000 men, and at Port Arthur and Talienwan, 90,000 men.

Thirty forts have been erected at Port Arthur and forty other are under construction. All the peaks in this district are being fortified.

In addition to the land forces there are always forty Russian vessels at Port Arthur and forty others constantly under steam at Talienwan. Three battleships, two cruisers and four destroyers are expected to arrive in Chinese waters October 15.

They left Chicago at 4 o'clock yesterday morning and are four hours ahead of their schedule time.

PRELIMINARY EXAMINATION

IN THE CASE AGAINST SENATOR GREEN.

By Associated Press to The Sun

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., Sept. 29.—The preliminary examination of Senator George E. Green on charges of conspiracy and bribery in connection with post office investigations took place here yesterday, before U. S. Commissioner Hall. U. S. District Attorney Curtiss, on behalf of the government, moved that the proceedings be adjourned until October 10, stating that he had not given the matter necessary research to present it to this court at present.

John E. Stanchfield said that the defendant was ready to proceed with the case and he now wished it understood that the defense did not ask for the delay. He realized, however, that it is proper that the district attorney should have time to look over the case. The commissioner thereupon adjourned the case until October 12.

OUT IN DUNSTABLE

GAME WARDENS ARE THICKER THAN PARTRIDGES.

According to the statement of some Nashua sportsmen the game wardens are thicker than partridges just over the Massachusetts border in the town of Dunstable, and especially in the vicinity of Island pond. Last week a couple of Nashua men went over that way to hunt partridges and gray squirrels. The actions of two men they saw attracted their attention, and, meeting some one shortly afterward at a farmhouse, they inquired about the men they had seen and were informed they were game wardens. It seems, according to a report, that the wardens in Tyngsboro and Dunstable are paying particular attention to New Hampshire huntsmen this fall, and if there is any attempt to carry game over the state line some one will be "nabbed." It is whispered that perhaps the activity of the Massachusetts officers is an attempt to "get back" because of the wholesale prosecution of Bay state men who violate the game laws in this state. Game violations are very plentiful in the towns of Hudson, Pelham, Windham and Salem, and the majority of the parties come from Lowell or Lawrence.

MOTHER'S APPEAL

GOVERNOR ODELL DID NOT CARE TO HEAR IT.

By Associated Press to The Sun

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 29—Mrs. Van Wormer, step-mother of the three brothers who are to be executed at Clinton Thursday, called at the executive chamber yesterday morning to make a final appeal in behalf of her step-sons.

Governor Odell declined to see her on the ground that he fully considered the case and that an interview would be a service of useless pain to both.

Mrs. Van Wormer accepted his decision as final and returned home.

FOR MANSLAUGHTER

BOY HELD IN $1200 ON THAT CHARGE.

By Associated Press to The Sun

WORCESTER, Mass., Sept. 29—Fred Wilson, sixteen years old, was arraigned for manslaughter before Judge Samuel T. Utley in the criminal session of the central district court yesterday. He was held in $1200 for his appearance in the court at the juvenile session today.

Wilson is charged with shooting Carl H. Fingall Saturday night.

ELIJAH MORSE DEAD.

MEDFORD, Mass., Sept. 29—Elijah Glover Morse, well-known as a paper box maker of Boston, died at his residence in West Medford yesterday, aged 65 years. Apoplexy was the cause of death. He leaves a widow and three children.

What Is Life?

In the last analysis nobody knows, but we do know that it is under strict law. Abuse that law even slightly, pain results. Irregular living means derangement of the organs, resulting in Constipation, Headache or Liver trouble. Dr. King's New Life Pills quickly re-adjusts this. It's gentle, yet thorough. MARTIN AT LARGE

He Succeeds in Eluding His Pursuers

By Associated Press to The Sun

NORTHFIELD, Vt., Sept. 29.—Adelbert Martin, who is under indictment for murderous assault upon Mrs. Stephen Trombley at South Northfield last Tuesday night, has again sent his defi to the officers who are searching for him, through farmer John Verge, at whose home he stopped for food, and to whom he said that the three deputy sheriffs on his track would never catch him alive.

Martin appeared at the farm in the town of Warren, 17 miles north of this place, early yesterday, and asked for something to eat. He was promptly recognized and an effort was made to detain him. He, however, declined an invitation to sit down with the family at breakfast, but took some food in his hand and hurried away.

While one member of the household hurried to the nearest telephone station to notify the police at Northfield, others followed Martin down the road and attempted to engage him in conversation.

Martin had little to say and in a few moments abruptly left his companions, entered the woods and disappeared. Officers who took up the trail later spent the day in futile search.

PURSUERS ALWAYS OUTWITTED.

The way in which Martin has for nearly a week evaded his pursuers, occasionally stopping at a farmhouse and begging food, but always disappearing at the approach of any considerable number of men, and yet remaining always within a radius of 20 miles of the scene of his alleged crime, is thoroughly puzzling to the police and has resulted in terrorizing farmers' families throughout this section.

Martin is regarded practically as an outlaw. That he is clever is proved by the way in which he has repeatedly outwitted those in pursuit of him. In whatever direction he has taken his advent has been followed by reports of hen roosts robbed and orchards visited.

Daily he appears at some point where he is recognized either by acquaintances or those familiar with the description of him sent broadcast, but never where there are officers or sufficient number of men to effect his capture.

A large revolver protrudes from his hip pocket and it is believed that he would not hesitate to use the same if necessary.

From daylight yesterday 200 men armed with all sorts of firearms and other weapons have continued the organized search begun Sunday.

The men are divided into three posses, working under the direction of Deputy Sheriffs Martin Fitzgerald and Benjamin Gates of Montpelier, and Frederick Mosely of this town respectively.

Every foot of ground within 10 miles of this place has been gone over. Even after nightfall the search has been continued, and last night sentinels were posted at numerous points on all roads leading out of this place and a system of signals has been arranged by which the sentinels can communicate with one another promptly.

FRIENDS MAY BE AIDING HIM.

Martin is in poor health, and for this reason it is believed that he cannot travel more than eight or ten miles a day, and that he is depending less upon his ability to cover long distances than upon his wits to elude his pursuers when they are close upon him.

Martin is unique in many ways. He is supposed to be a native of Calais, where his father, James Martin, lives. His first appearance in Northfield was last winter when he hired a hall here and caused advertising matter to be distributed that he would speak on his travels.

Disgusted by lack of patronage, he deserted the lecture platform, and later, it is said, announced himself as an agent for the anti-saloon league. Following this he appeared in the role of a private detective, and also as an agent for farm machinery. He became acquainted with Mrs. Trombley through having her do his washing.

Martin's case recalls that of the negro, Osborne, who several years ago broke into a house and attempted to assault a woman. The negro was arrested the day following, and at his trial in the county court received a sentence of 20 years in state prison.

The town officials are considering the advisability of offering a reward for the capture of Martin, and it is expected that an announcement will be made by them today.

THE POLITICAL HUNTING SEASON HAS OPENED.

BOTH ARRESTED

Boston Police Made Good Capture

BELL BOYS SUSPECTED OF BLOWING OPEN SAFE

Money Found In Their Possession

By Associated Press to The Sun

BOSTON, Sept. 29.—The police last evening, acting under the directions of Deputy Hanscom, arrested Curtis Merrjoy, aged 20, and George Dorsey, aged 21, as they alighted from a train at 10.30 at the Huntington avenue station, and thus brought to a sudden end the flight of the men who had started yesterday morning from Jamestown, N. Y., where, it is alleged, they had an hour before boarding the train, blown open a safe in the Clifford hotel and stolen the strong box inside it, as well as the contents of the money drawer.

Both are colored and were employed at the hotel as bell boys. Dorsey not long ago lived on Buckingham street in this city, and the other went to Jamestown from Chicago. The strong box was found by the police, last evening in a bag that Dorsey carried, and it was still unopened, although there was evidence of an attempt to force the cover. In the pockets of one was found $50 and on the other $20. Dispatches from Jamestown say that there was about $150 in the box. Both men say they will go back without requisition papers.

Nothing was known of the break at the hotel until yesterday morning, when the safe was found to have been blown open and the money taken.

When the Jamestown police were told of it, one of the patrolmen remembered of having seen two colored men board the 2 o'clock train for the east. As it is rather unusual for passengers to get on that train, he noticed them particularly, and was able to give a pretty good description of them.

As Merrjoy and Dorsey were both missing from their morning duties at the hotel, it was at once presumed that they were the guilty ones, and descriptions of them were telegraphed to different cities, particularly to Boston.

Chief Watts detailed some of his inspectors to cover the North and South stations. Last evening Deputy Hanscom thought it would be a good idea to keep an eye on some of the outlying stations, as he thought the fugitives might decide to leave the train before reaching town, so he assigned some patrolmen from Charlestown to look out for Prison point, and sent some division 16 patrolmen to cover the Huntington avenue station.

The patrolmen had hardly taken up their posts at the Huntington avenue station when the train rolled in, and from it there stepped two colored men who answered the description of the men wanted. They were locked up in the city prison and the fact reported to the Jamestown police.

HENRY LLOYD

WRITER ON ECONOMIC SUBJECTS IS DEAD.

By Associated Press to The Sun

CHICAGO, Sept. 29.—Henry D. Lloyd, a widely-known writer on economic subjects, died yesterday at his home in Winnetka, of pneumonia, after a week's illness. He was born in New York city May 1, 1847. From 1869 to 1872 Mr. Lloyd was assistant secretary of the American free trade league, organized by William Cullen Bryant, David A. Wells and other prominent reformers. He took an active part in the organization of the young men's municipal reform association of New York in 1880, which contributed materially to the overthrow of the Tweed machine in that year. He published a manual for voters with the characteristic title, "Every Man His Own Voter," which was distributed throughout the city in that campaign.

Lloyd came to Chicago in 1872, and until 1885 occupied a position as an editorial writer on the Chicago Tribune. Since then he has devoted his time to the publication of articles on labor problems in the current magazines.

TOOK TWO GAMES

Boston Americans Defeat St. Louis

By Associated Press to The Sun

BOSTON, Sept. 29.—The champions concluded the regular schedule yesterday, with a double victory over St. Louis, shutting the visitors out in the second game. The first game was marred by clumsy fielding but was close enough to be interesting. The visitors played listlessly in the second game and could do nothing with Dineen's pitching. The errors of Bowcock and Shannon were costly and Sutthoff was batted freely. Interest centred in the clever fielding of Boston, though no sensational plays were made. The score:

PLAYED CIRCUS

Little Boy Shot in the Head

By Associated Press to The Sun

UTICA, Sept. 29.—Clarence Broughton, Nelson Marco and several other children of Little Falls arranged a juvenile wild west show and were exhibiting before a crowd of youthful companions, who had paid one cent each for admission, yesterday, when young Broughton was introduced to the audience as William Tell, and explained that he would shoot an apple off the head of Marco, who posed for the event some distance away.

Broughton elevated his rifle, took deliberate aim, and without exhibiting a sign of fear Marco stood with arms folded while the young marksman pulled the trigger and sent a bullet crashing through his forehead. Physicians were called and say that the boy may die.

LYMAN MILLS

ASK FOR AN ABATEMENT OF TAXES.

By Associated Press to The Sun

SPRINGFIELD, Sept. 29 The arguments in the case of the Lyman mills of Holyoke, petitioner for abatement of taxes, against the city of Holyoke, were heard by Judge E. B. Sheldon of Boston, in the equity sitting of the Superior court yesterday.

The case which has been pending for seven years, involves the valuation of the Lyman mills plant. The Holyoke assessors estimate its value at $1,103,170, and have imposed taxes on that basis since 1896.

Commissioner Arthur Lord, who first heard the case, found for the city of Holyoke.

The evidence submitted before Commissioner Lord was placed before Judge Sheldon in six large typewritten volumes, and further evidence will be introduced.

ADMIRAL LUCE

By Associated Press to The Sun

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 29. Rear Admiral Stephen B. Luce, whom some of the republicans intended to ask to become a candidate for mayor, will not run for the office.

The admiral is spending a few weeks in the Adirondacks and has written to a friend here that he could not consent to enter politics to such an extent as running for mayor would require.

Many republicans who felt that the admiral would make a popular candidate are disappointed.

HAD ROUGH TIME

Young Men Caught in Storm

BEACHED THEIR YACHT ON PEDDOCK'S ISLAND

Baled Water All Night Long

By Associated Press to The Sun

DEDHAM, Sept. 29.—There are 13 young men of East Dedham, Germantown and Roslindale who say they are through with yachting, for a time, at least, because of the experience they had Sunday.

The party was composed of 11 members of the Twelve association and two guests. The remaining member of the association, George Ratcliffe, would at home, and does not regret that he missed the trip.

It was late yesterday afternoon when the 13, tired and drenched, but happy, arrived at their homes to be received with joy by their anxious families. Ever since Sunday night, when their non-appearance caused their friends to worry, numerous inquiries had been made.

The party left the South Boston yacht clubhouse about 3 Sunday morning on a squid fishing trip. The yacht was in charge of Paul Young, its owner, and a crew of four men. The day was passed fishing near Minots light, where they anchored.

Having finished fishing the anchor was shipped and the party started for home, little realizing the tedious night before them. In the midst of their merriment the storm broke and then ensued a terrible experience for all. Tossed about like an eggshell the yacht seemed about to go down every minute. Finally the danger was increased by the vessel springing a leak. Taking turns the water was baled out as fast as it came in. All night long they were tossed about.

At 8.45 yesterday morning, however, they succeeded in beaching the yacht on Peddocks Island. All were thoroughly drenched and tired out.

The party comprised Gustave Richter, George Streng, Charles Smith, George Schmidt, Henry A. Pipping, Theodore G. Erler, Otto A. and Henry C. Windmann, brothers, Max Lemmer, John Geist, Arthur L. Morgner, Henry Derau and Paul Tauber.

REV. A. P. WEDGE

BROCKTON ALDERMEN HANDLE IT WITHOUT GLOVES.

By Associated Press to The Sun

BROCKTON, Sept. 29.—The local street car service was handled without gloves by the aldermen last night and two orders, one directing the mayor to appear before the railroad commissioners and the other calling for a mass meeting of citizens, were passed.

The first order authorizes the mayor to go to the railroad commissioners with a request that the 15-minute schedule on Belmont street recently abolished by the road, be restored and that a general improvement in service be made. The mass meeting is called for Monday evening at 8 o'clock, at which Mayor Coulter and the members of the street railway committee are to be present.

It is expected that this meeting will draw a large attendance of citizens, and data will be collected at this time for the mayor to present to the railroad commissioners.

Alderman Rapp was the author of the orders, and declared it a shame that the city should put up with such wretched service as is now provided. Women as well as men at certain times in the day have, he said, to stand on fenders and running boards and between car seats to journey to their homes, and he spoke of a case where cars supposed to seat 65 carry from 105 to 110 passengers every morning.

Alderman Cox referred to the recently passed law which deprives the city of authority in regulating its car service and said the matter should be agitated until the commissioners do something for the relief of the city.

INDICTMENTS VALID

IN THE CASE OF DRIGGS AND MILLER.

By Associated Press to The Sun

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—The validity of the indictments against Ex-Congressman Edmund H. Driggs of Brooklyn and George F. Miller, of New York agent of the Brandt-Dent Automatic Cashier company, charging them with participation in the postal frauds, was upheld in a decision handed down yesterday by Judge Thomas in the United States District court in Brooklyn.

Driggs was charged with receiving money while a congressman for furthering the interests of the Automatic Cashier company and Miller was accused of paying money to corrupt a congressman.

Demurrer was interposed in behalf of Mr. Driggs on the ground that the facts set forth in the indictment were insufficient to constitute a crime, that the case as alleged was barred by the statute of limitations, and that the sections under which the indictments were found were unconstitutional.

Judge Thomas holds that the alleged crime was committed while Driggs was a congressman and that so far as the statute of limitations was concerned the alleged payments were all made within three years before the indictment was found.

BANDS ON STRIKE

Chicago Parade Without Any Music

By Associated Press to The Sun

CHICAGO, Sept. 29.—The marchers in the big centennial parade tonight will be compelled to tramp over the route without a musical note to cheer them. The Musicians' union last night positively refused to take part in the parade or to have anything whatever to do with the centennial celebration if the marine band of Washington is to play at the mass meeting in the Auditorium on Thursday night which is to be the final act of the celebration.

The union declares that its constitution forbids its members to have anything to do with an event in which enlisted men in the government service take part. The union, therefore, demanded that the invitation to the marine band be withdrawn or the union musicians would decline to furnish music for any part of the centennial celebration. The committee refused the demand and the playing by the marine band Thursday night will therefore be the only music of the celebration.

I., under date of Sept. 8th, says: "Many of our acts are long and tiresome, and I find that your medicine stimulates the nerves and makes one feel like new. I am taking it for dyspepsia and nervousness, and I have received such wonderful benefit from Paw Paw that I cheerfully write this testimonial of thanks to you—the discoverer of this wonderful medicine."

Mr. E. C. Miller of 22 Cope St., Providence, R. I., writes under date of Sept. 8th, as follows: "I took your Paw Paw for indigestion and sleeplessness. I never received so much benefit from any medicine as I have from your Paw Paw. It has cured me of dyspepsia of five years' standing."

Is your appetite uncertain? Do you have a heavy, oppressed feeling after eating? Are you nervous, wakeful, fretful? It is your stomach. Call it what you may; let your doctor call it what he may, the trouble starts with your stomach and the real cure must start with your stomach.

Munyon's Paw Paw is the stomach's friend. It invigorates, it vitalizes, it soothes the strained, overworked, afflicted parts and helps them to work naturally. You feel better because you are better. The gentle exhilaration that comes with the use of Munyon's Paw Paw is the exhilaration of healthfulness. It is permanent. It is the spirit of youthful power come again.

Professor Munyon says:

"I ask the brain-fagged merchant;

"I ask the nerve-racked mother;

"I ask the wearied minister;

"I ask the lawyer with every faculty strained;

"I ask the weary worker, whatever his mental or physical calling, to try my Paw Paw and see if I have said or can say one word that is too strong in its praise.

"I know that it will do all I claim for it. I know it will prevent indigestion, insomnia and nervousness. I know it will restore the overworked and abused stomach to natural action, and I also know that with the stomach right the nerves and brain and every organ of the body will be right."

"Whisky or beer lift you up and let you fall. Throw them away. My Paw Paw lifts you and holds you up."

Two Frenchmen Were Shot by the Police—The Situation in the Soo is Very Exciting

By Associated Press to The Sun

SAULT STE MARIE, Mich., Sept. 29—Last night the situation in the Canadian Soo, which has been the scene of serious rioting by the discharged employes of the Consolidated Lake Superior company, was very grave.

A meeting of the employes of the company was held in Barnes' hall yesterday morning and its proceedings were of the most heated character. The particular grievance which seemed to have inflamed the men to acts of disorder, was the promises of pay yesterday when the men who made the promises, the employes believe, knew they could not be fulfilled.

Immdediately after this meeting adjourned, the men went in a body to the office of the company determined to get their money or "get satisfaction," as they put it.

The doors of the office were locked and guarded by the police and all the men got was a bulletin posted upon the door which read as follows:

"Officers and employes of the Consolidated Lake Superior Co:

"The president and directors in New York have been unable to raise the money to pay the wages and salaries now due the men and officers of the company. Advices received from New York this morning indicate that our president and directors have a plan to raise the money necessary to not only pay the men, but to start up the works that seem to promise such success. The plan has the indorsement and promised support of Sir Wilfred Laurier, the premier of Canada, and G. W. Ross, premier of Ontario, and it is expected to produce the necessary money inside of 30 days. While we regret very much the inability of the company to pay today, the fact remains that there is no money to pay with.

"There seems to be only one thing left for them to do, and that is to accept offers of work elsewhere, leave their checks with friends, responsible attorney or business men to collect for them when the company pays. Bear in mind that your wages will have to be paid ultimately and constitute a justice obligation against the company which all the property and other assets will be liable for."

The notice instead of allaying the excitement of the crowd which by this time was estimated to number 1500, made them furious and despite the efforts of the combined strength of the local police and the company's private police force, rocks and other missiles soon filled the air, directed at the windows of the office buildings.

The assault was successful and a mass of frenzied rioters secured possession of the ground floor of the building, destroying everything movable that came in their path. A crowd of the office staff with drawn revolvers prevented their gaining access to the upper floors of the building. Every window and door in the building is smashed.

Some one then turned in an alarm of fire with a view of using the fire hose upon the mob. The firemen turned several streams on the crowd and drove them quite a distance from the building.

The arrival of the troops on the grounds armed with blank cartridges about 2 o'clock served to restore some semblance of order. The rioters then contented themselves with throwing stones at the building and hurling insultives at the soldiers, who established a "dead line," and prevented any approach toward the building by any of the rioters.

No reinforcements of militia have arrived from outside and the only defense against the mob which grows hourly, is a more or less demoralized police department and a small company of militia men. The greatest number of the mob are ignorant Italians, Finns, Norwegians and Frenchmen, the latter perhaps the hardest of all to handle. All have been drinking more or less, although the bars yesterday afternoon obeyed an order to close up. The mob is one which cannot be reasoned with and the man they seem most anxious to get at is Mr. Coyne, the assistant manager, who, in the absence of Mr. Shields, is in charge of the works. Mr. Coyne discreetly kept out of sight all day. Late yesterday afternoon the leaders of the mob held a conference and demanded that the company house the men in their hotel and boarding houses and feed them until the money for their wages is forthcoming. In order to appease the crowd this demand was granted and the men have taken possession of the White House, a large boarding house operated by the company. Provisions are being sent there to feed them.

An attempt is being made to put the street car system in the Canadian Soo, which suspended operations in the morning after an attack had been made upon it, into operation again. Two cars were sent out late yesterday heavily guarded.

Inasmuch as most of the rioters were not on the streets at the time this trial was made, no disorder occurred. It is estimated that there are 2000 men in the Soo, and these are reinforced by all the idle rabble in town. A train carrying 400 more woodsmen was expected to arrive on the Algoma Central late last night. The local police force is being strengthened by the addition of all the deputies who can be found, each man being given a badge and a revolver and ordered to use the latter whenever necessary. Considerable feeling has been aroused over the shooting of two Frenchmen by the police during the trouble yesterday morning. The rioters claim that the officers used their revolvers when it was unnecessary. Neither of the men is fatally hurt, however.

The mob threatens an attack upon police headquarters with a view of effecting the release of all the men, who have been arrested. Both that building and that occupied by the fire department is guarded against attack.

The problem yesterday's developments have created is beyond the solution of any of the company officials on the grounds. Apparently their only hope is that the anger of the mob will spend itself and that the men will get out of town by degrees.

BUNCOED BY "SPOOK"

A Chelsea Man Makes the Charge

By Associated Press to The Sun

BOSTON, Sept. 29—Yielding to the bidding of his controlling spirit, as he supposed, Fred S. Barstow, a well known coal and wood dealer in Chelsea, took out a policy of insurance on his life, but subsequently discovered that the spirit he consulted was not one that had guided his destiny.

Since it was solely at the suggestion and advice of the spirit that he procured the policy, he is anxious to return it, now that he has learned, as he claims, that it was only a spiritualistic medium, who had assumed the appearance and shape of his controlling spirit, that he talked to.

While he has implicit confidence in the counsel that his governing spirit might give to him, he has little faith in any advice that might come from what he regards as an imposter, and wants his money back.

With that end in view he has brought a suit in the Municipal Civil court against E. T. Johnson of Salem, an agent for the Prudential Life Insurance company to recover $2000.

The case came up for trial yesterday before Judge Holster in one of the civil sessions, but as the defendant had made no answer nor entered the appearance of counsel, it was ordered for a new marking, with the understanding that if the defendant did not appear damages would be assessed if the court concluded that the plaintiff was entitled to recover.

Plaintiff declares that the defendant is the agent of the insurance company named, and that the defendant, with intent to deceive him, represented that his controlling spirit desired him to take out an insurance policy.

Barstow is a believer in Spiritualism and held that the spirit of departed men could counsel and advise people while on this earth, which he asserts the defendant knew.

He affirms that the defendant induced a certain supposed Spiritualistic medium, at the time living in this city, to take the appearance and shape of the controlling spirit and to advise him to take out said policy of insurance.

The medium, on account of the inducements of the defendant, according to the plaintiff, took upon herself the form and appearance of the latter's controlling spirit, and while thus masquerading, as told, advised and ordered him to take out said insurance with the company mentioned.

While the medium was thus acting as the dominating spirit of the plaintiff, the latter, having implicit confidence in and trusting the same, gave the defendant agent an order for a policy of insurance on his life.

He declares he has learned that the advice was not given by his controlling spirit, and that the supposed Spiritualistic medium was not a proper one, and the order given to him was made on account of deceit, so he offered to return the policy to the company's agent from the city of Witches, and made a demand for the return of his money, but the agent refused to accede to the demand.

He did not require any insurance and never would have obtained any if it were not for the misrepresentations that he alleges were made to him. He says he has suffered a loss and wishes to be reimbursed, so asks the court to aid him in obtaining justice.

AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENTS

IMMENSE EXPORT FROM UNITED STATES LAST YEAR.

Agricultural implements exported from the United States last year amounted to 21 million dollars in value; in 1893 they amounted to only 4½ million dollars in value; in 1883, to less than 4 million dollars; in 1873, to 2½ millions, and in 1863 to less than a half million dollars. The growth of exportation of this class of manufactures has been extremely rapid. Prior to 1865 the exportation of agricultural implements had never reached as much as a million dollars, and during the 25 years following that date the growth was slow, the total having reached about $18,500,000 in 1890. From that date forward, however, the growth was rapid. By 1895 the total was 5½ million dollars; in 1900, 16 millions, and, as already indicated, in 1903, 21 millions.

Of this total of 21 million dollars worth of agricultural implements exported last year, nearly 3 million dollars in value went to France, and about an equal sum to Argentina; a million and a half to the United Kingdom, and about an equal sum to Germany; a million and a quarter to Australia, and over a million to Africa. These are the figures of 1903. In 1893 the value of agricultural implements sent to France was but about $300,000, as against nearly 3 millions in the year just ended. The value of those sent to Germany in 1893 was about $300,000, against about 1½ millions in the year just ended. To Argentina the value in 1893 was about 1¼ millions, against nearly 3 millions in the year just ended.

These facts, presented by the department of commerce and labor, through its bureau of statistics, are especially interesting at the present moment, because of the publication now being made by that department and bureau of a series of reports from consuls in various parts of the world on the sales and opportunities for sales of agricultural implements in the various sections of the world which they represent. These reports were called for by the department of state some months since at the request of the National Association of Agricultural Implement and Vehicle Manufacturers, and are to be printed in pamphlet form for the use of that association at its approaching annual meeting.

Few articles show a more rapid growth in exportation than do agricultural implements, or a wider distribution. As already indicated, the total has grown from a little over a half million dollars in 1864 to over 21 millions in 1902, or nearly 40 times as much in 1903 as in 1864, while manufacturers of iron and steel, which growth has been looked upon as phenomenal, are only about 15 times as much in value of exports in 1903 as in 1864. The distribution of American agricultural implements has also extended to nearly all parts of the world. The bureau of statistics' export statement shows that reapers and mowers were sent in 1902 to over 50 different countries, and plows and cultivators to even a larger list of countries and dependencies. The sound of the American mower and reaper is heard in British, French, and Portuguese Africa, in Egypt, in European and Asiatic Turkey, in European and Asiatic Russia, in Japan, in India, in Australia, and in practically all of the South American countries and all of the countries of Europe, while the American plow and cultivator go to practically every country in the world.

CROWDED ROOMS

Discussed by the School Board Last Night

EVENING DRAWING SCHOOL TEACHERS APPOINTED

Opinion Received From City Solicitor

The school board met in regularly monthly session last evening and discussed the subject of overcrowded schoolrooms.

The subject was brought up by a joint report of the committee on teachers and rules, which provides for emergencies in such cases as the overcrowding of schoolrooms.

The report was submitted by Mr. Thompson, the chairman of the committee on rules, and is in pursuance of the civil service system of securing teachers for the schools. In the report the committee recommended the insertion in Section 4 of Chapter II of the rules the following: "If a teacher is absent he shall report the fact to the training school and a substitute teacher shall be sent at once to fill the vacancy. When a schoolroom is found to have an average attendance of fifty or more he shall notify the committee on teachers and, if they approve, shall notify the training school to send a teacher as an assistant to the regular teacher or as a temporary teacher in an overflow room if one can be opened. At the next meeting of the school committee he shall report the case for action in approval or disapproval by the board."

In connection with this amendment changes are made by rescinding parts of Section 19 of Chapter I and Section 3 of Chapter III.

Included in the report of the superintendent of schools were a few facts concerning the conditions of the school relative to the number of pupils being accommodated. Supt. Whitcomb reported in connection with this that there are 253 less pupils in the schools of Lowell this year than there were last year for the corresponding week. While this fact is encouraging as far as the crowding of the schools in general is concerned it does not relieve the congested conditions that are found in several instances. The superintendent stated that in several of the schools there are from 50 to 60 pupils in rooms that are constructed for the accommodation of a much smaller number. The remedy for this is mentioned in the report for the committees on teachers and rules which was accepted and adopted.

By a unanimous vote the committee on teachers was given full power to act in this matter.

DRAWING SCHOOL TEACHERS.

Dr. Allen, in his report on the evening drawing schools, submitted a list of teachers for election to the staff employed in these schools. This list includes the following: Machine drawing, S. G. Stephens, W. M. Foster, F. W. Farnham, H. S. Crysler, A. D. Colby, J. B. Conant, C. S. Jennings and C. F. Dupee; architectural drawing, H. P. Graves, D. G. W. Mansur, H. Rourke and Ralph Hayden; modelling, Miss E. Elizabeth Whitney, K. Burrage and E. Merchant; free-hand drawing, H. W. Wright, M. Paul, M. E. Cushing, E. C. Greene and C. Staples; substitutes, John T. Burns; janitor, Frank B. Hough; clerk, Miss Blake.

By vote of the committee the clerk must one ballot for the election of all recommended by the sub-committee.

The managers of the Merchants and Manufacturers' exposition, to be held in Boston next month asked in a communication that the schools of this city be closed for one day to give the children an opportunity to attend the exposition and see the government exhibit and other displays. The matter of closing the schools was left over with the chairman and superintendent.

The superintendent reported that he had received from City Solicitor William A. Hogan an opinion in writing on the matter recently referred to him regarding the purchasing of revised school books with or without a two-thirds vote of the committee. In his opinion, the solicitor stated, that the question is one rather of fact than of law. The communication was read and accepted.

On motion of Mr. Regan it was voted to grant a leave of absence until the end of the present term of Miss Mary B. McGovern.

Dr. Marston and Dr. Taylor were the absentees.

A Busy Season For the Sculptors of America

THAT this is proving a banner year for American artists must be evident to all who have observed the increased patronage bestowed by our men of wealth upon the wielders of the brush and the chisel. Nor can there be any doubt in view of the increased activity of workers in every branch of art that recent years have witnessed a rapid development of the aesthetic side of the general public. A few years ago the recently advanced proposition to erect at Washington a national gallery of art much on the lines of the famous Louvre of France would have aroused but mild curiosity; today men of riches have enthusiastically espoused the project, and there is a widespread conviction that it will not be long before a national art gallery will be a reality. This impetus to art has undeniably been strengthened by our great expositions of recent years, such as the Columbian, the Pan-American, the Transmississippi and the Charleston, and lovers of the beautiful are now hopefully awaiting the Louisiana Purchase exposition at St. Louis, confident that it will not fail to play its part in educating the artistic tastes of the people.

A consideration of but one phase of the aesthetic features of the big fair will make it manifest that the quest of the beautiful will not be neglected. In studios in widely separated cities and towns sculptors are hard at work and have been hard at work for months making designs and models for the magnificent groups and individual pieces with which it is proposed to embellish the fair grounds and buildings. Foremost sculptors of the land have been engaged by the chief of the sculptural department, Karl Bitter, who in making his selections and drawing up his scheme has had the assistance of such men as Ward, St. Gaudens and French. When it is stated that there will be scattered throughout the territory covered by the exposition no less than 250 groups and over 1,800 single pieces of sculpture the magnitude of the undertaking will be manifest, as also must be the beneficent results to be attained by such a display of high art.

One of the more conspicuous groups will be that known as "The Apotheosis of St. Louis," a feature so arranged as to be the first object to catch the visitor's eye after he passes through the main entrance into the grounds. At the foot of an immense architectural base will be seated a female figure symbolical of the city of St. Louis bidding her guests welcome. On either side of the figure heralds will be grouped, and the base itself will support an equestrian statue of the French monarch Louis IX., from whom the city derived its name.

The artist to whom Mr. Bitter intrusted the execution of this work is Charles H. Niehaus, long one of our better known sculptors and a man whose career should inspire the thousands of ambitious young men and women of America struggling to win fame and fortune. Mr. Niehaus as a boy had no opportunity to secure the art education for which he longed, since he had to earn his living at an early age. But the trade he adopted, wood engraving, proved in itself a valuable education. He became an expert draftsman, engraved in stonecutting and finally began to model in clay, attending a school of design in Cincinnati, where he won a prize that encouraged him to burn his bridges and make a pilgrimage to Europe.

The aspiring American then entered the Royal academy at Munich, where his privations must have been great, for his purse was light. He persevered, however, and was finally awarded commissions that enabled him to travel and study the best sculpture of the old world. Returning to America, he was successful from the outset, his native state of Ohio being especially prompt to recognize his merit. Since he opened his American studio he has chiseled some notable pieces of statuary, among which may be mentioned a design for the monument of William the Silent, the statue of Moses in the Congressional library, the Hahnemann monument in Washington and the statues of Farragut and Lincoln and the one of McKinley at Muskegon, Mich.

The very center of the exposition picture, the cascades, will be adorned with statuary that cannot but earn the praise of all lovers of art. The cascades sculpture has been divided between two artists, H. A. MacNeil supplying the central decorations, while the side work will be executed by Isidore Konti, whose studio is in New York. The side cascades are to represent the Atlantic and Pacific oceans, and for "The Spirit of the Pacific" Mr. Konti has modeled a flying female figure with an albatross, while he symbolizes the Atlantic by a vigorous youth standing amid clouds, arm upheld in supplication, and an eagle at his feet. One of the prettier minor groups which Mr. Konti has designed for his cascades decorations typifies the animal wealth of the ocean. The illustration shown Mr. Konti at work on this group.

The main entrance to the Liberal Arts palace is to be beautified by two groups from the studio of George Edwin Bissell, the author of much monumental sculpture, including the well known group "Abraham Lincoln and Slave" and the group "The Navy" which appeared on the naval arch colonnade in New York. Like Mr. Niehaus, this sculptor did not begin life in a way that augured well for an artistic career, serving for some time behind the counter of a small village store. Later, however, he attended school at Warbleton, Conn., where he studied for Yale, but when the civil war broke out gave up all idea of going to college. Young Bissell joined the army and upon the conclusion of the bloody struggle entered the navy, his work as a sculptor not beginning until many years after he had come of age. Like so many other artists, he journeyed to Paris, where he ultimately established a studio. Of late years both his home and his studio have been at Mount Vernon, N. Y.

Among the many other sculptors to receive commissions from Mr. Bitter are two picturesque figures, Charles Albert Lopez and James A. Fraser. The former is a Mexican by birth and a Cuban by blood, while the latter spent many years near the Sioux reservation. In addition to modeling a statue of Bienville, the French officer who during the reign of Louis XV. was governor of Louisiana and founded the city of New Orleans, Mr. Lopez has designed a quadriga for the Liberal Arts palace, in which task he has worked in collaboration with F. G. R. Roth, the well known sculptor of mutual fame. It is said that this quadriga will take rank as one of the most beautiful effects in the sculptural features of the Arts palace. Mr. Fraser will be represented by an equestrian statue of a Cheyenne chief, which Mr. Bitter intends to place on one of the approaches to Art hill as a reminder of the Indian tribe whose home was once the Mississippi valley. This young artist for Mr. Fraser, who is a Minnesota man, is but twenty-eight years old is also busily engaged upon a statue of Thomas Jefferson to appear on one side of the Missouri building's main entrance, the statue on the other side being of Napoleon.

Mr. Bitter himself, despite the demands made upon his time by the administrative duties of his office, will be represented by some interesting work, as, among other things, he is engaged in modeling the sculpture for the Louisiana Purchase monument. To him will also fall the task of overseeing the designing of models and their enlargement into figures that are to please the eyes of the millions who will visit the fair. His career is full of interest to those who delight in studying the personality and development of men. Born in Austria in 1867, his sculpture won Bitter a gold medal in his native city of Vienna before he was twenty years old, but the pleasure that this gave him was soon wiped out by the information that he had been drafted into the army as a private. Luckily for him, he incurred the enmity of a martinet of a lieutenant, and in less than a year young Bitter deserted, ultimately making his way to this country, where he lost no time in taking out naturalization papers. He soon secured employment with a firm of architectural decorators and while working for them as a "skilled laborer" entered into competition for an important commission. His competitors were sculptors who did not regard him as a dangerous rival, and great was their surprise when he secured the award.

Two years later Mr. Bitter was commissioned to make the designs for the Administration building at the Columbian exposition, and his work was such that when the Pan-American exposition came into being he was appointed director of sculpture. He thus brings to bear upon his present task an intimate acquaintance with the prerequisites of exposition statuary, and those who make the trip to St. Louis will doubtless find that he has profited greatly from his past experience in this line of work.

A CELEBRATED PORTRAIT BY THE FAMOUS TITIAN.

Madonna Isabella d'Este, Marchesa di Mantova, was one of the foremost figures in the Italian renaissance. It is not so generally known that the monarchs of England are descendants of the ancient family into which she married. One of the Estes wedded a German princess of the house of Guelph, and their son received in 1071 the investiture of the duchy of Bavaria, becoming an ancestor of the houses of Brunswick and Hanover. The celebrated Titian portrait of Isabella d'Este, from which the accompanying illustration was made, is to be found in the Imperial museum at Vienna.

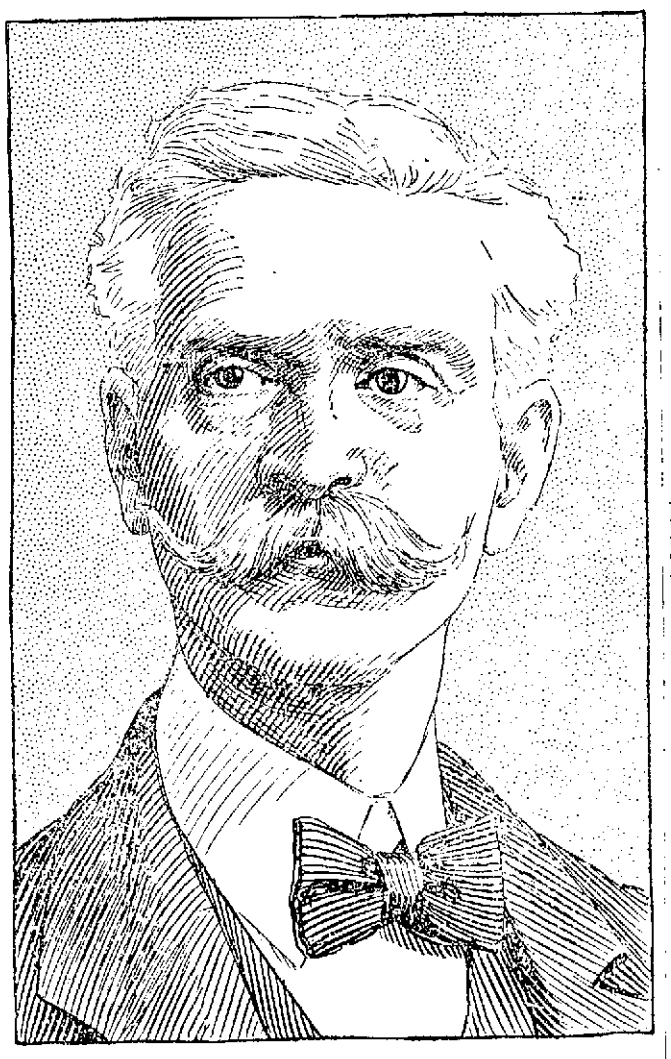

A PERILOUS OCCUPATION.

As the accompanying illustration shows, samphire gathering is an occupation that has its dangers. The samphire is a perennial plant, a native of Europe, which grows chiefly on rocky cliffs near the sea. It makes an excellent pickle and is also used as a salad, but can only be gathered by those who are accustomed to dizzy heights.

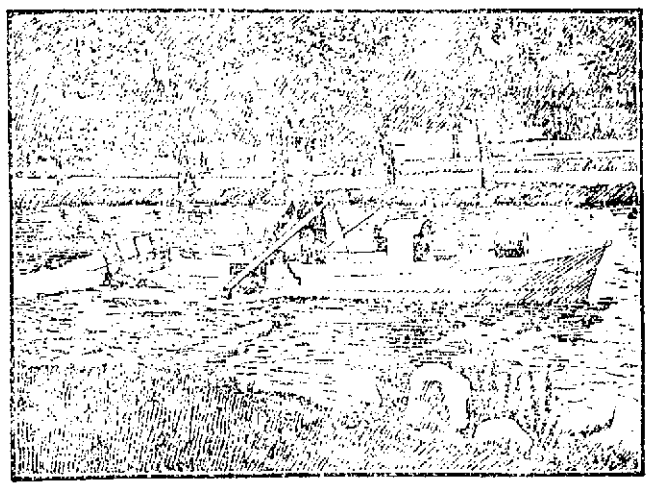

UNIQUE PHASES OF LIFE FROM ALL OVER THE WORLD

GENERAL OLIVER, THE NEW ASSISTANT SECRETARY OF WAR.

General Robert Shaw Oliver, the new assistant secretary of war, comes to the department after a long experience as soldier and business man. He has served in the regular army and has also been active for more than thirty years in developing the national militia. General Oliver took part in the civil war as a volunteer and was afterward commissioned in the Seventeenth United States infantry. He was later transferred to the cavalry service, in which he did good work during several Indian campaigns. After leaving the army he moved from Boston, where he was born fifty-six years ago, to Albany, with the civic life of which city he has since been closely identified. In 1870 General Oliver was married to Miss Marion Rathbone, the daughter of General John P. Rathbone, a wealthy manufacturer of Albany. Their family consists of one son and three daughters. The Misses Oliver are very good boxing and equally accomplished. They have spent much time abroad with their mother completing their education and are also fine athletes, being at home in golf, tennis and equestrianship. There can be no doubt that while social and official Washington will welcome their advent, the society circles of Albany will greatly regret their departure to the Capital City.

CUTTING EEL GRASS BY MACHINERY.

An inventive Long Islander whose home is on the shore of the Great South bay, the waters of which often become choked by the rapidly growing eel grass, has invented a machine to rid the bay of this nuisance, and it is probable that he will find his machine very much in demand in other sections of the country. The illustration shows the machine being "tried out" on a Long Island pond.

THE KING OF BOOKS.

Many bibliophiles will envy the title accorded James C. Young of Minneapolis by the book news. French nobs will deny his right to be termed the

JAMES CARLETON YOUNG.

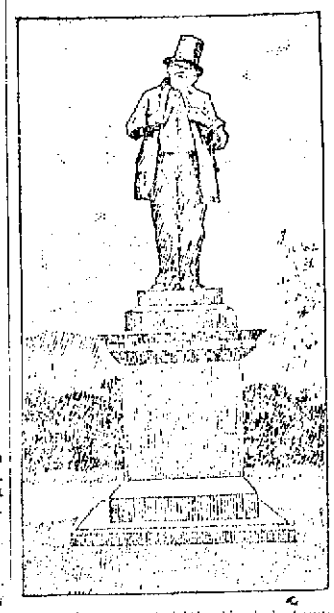

"king of books." His collection, which includes many thousands of volumes, is undoubtedly the most unique in the world, embracing as it does not only sumptuously bound and first editions, but hundreds of copies signed by the authors, many of whom are dead.

POSSIBLE CONSUMPTION CURE.

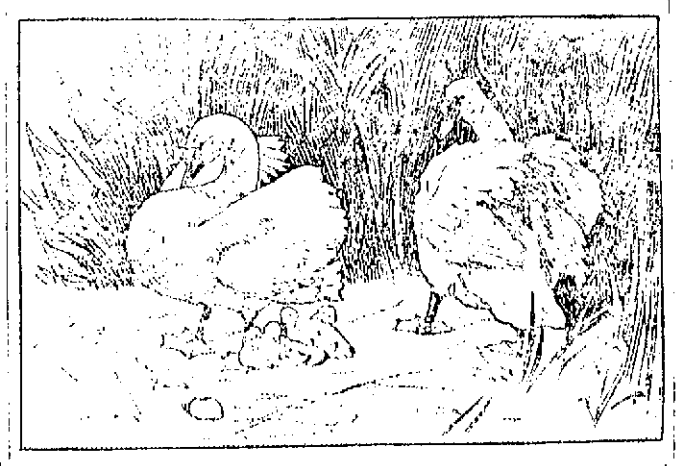

That tobacco in moderation can be used in case consumption is the belief of Frederick Smith, the eminent English chemist. He thinks the disease germ from those weeds can be inhaled and the disease will kill the germs of tuberculosis.

STATUE TO A BLIND MAN.

A unique interest attaches to the statue shown in the illustration. Its subject was for forty years the bell man of a quaint little English town, fulfilling his duties despite the fact that he was blind. The statue is also noteworthy as being one of the few in which the figure wears a "plug" hat.

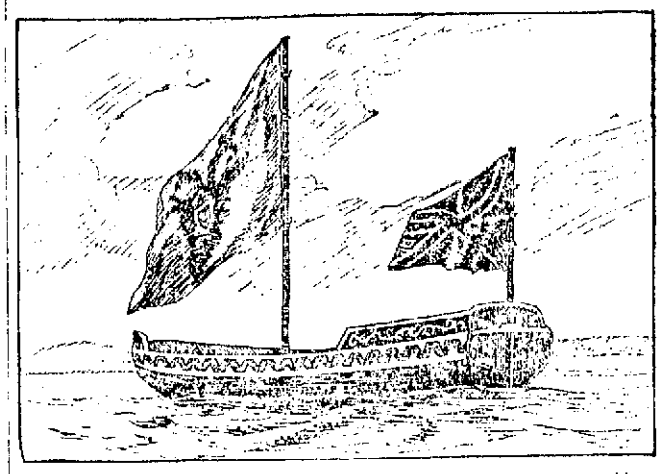

SWAN RAISING A SOCIETY FAD.

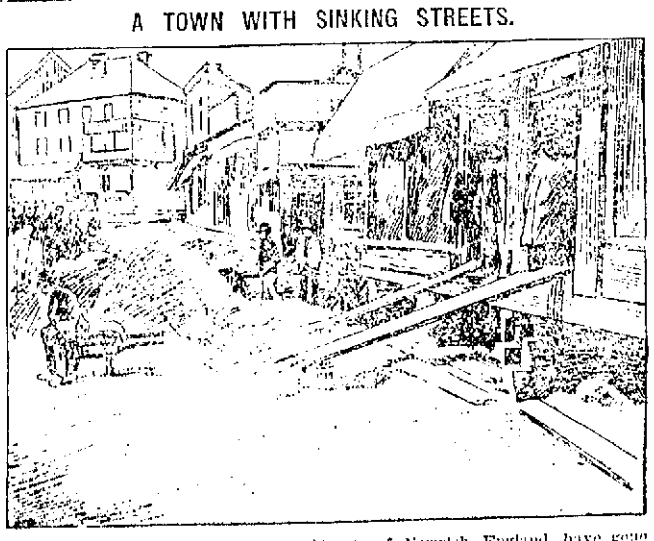

One of the recent most destroying fads of the wealthy is the breeding of swans. The photograph from which the accompanying illustration was made was obtained on the estate of a millionaire who has a pronounced taste for the propagation of all manner of waterfowl. It gives an excellent idea of the graceful lines of the swan. If their song was but as attractive as their appearance no fault could be found with them.

"THE LITTLE FATHER OF THE RUSSIAN FLEET."

One of the most interesting objects that figured in the recent bicentenary celebration of the founding of St. Petersburg was the boat, shown in the accompanying illustration, presented to Czar Ivan the Terrible by Queen Elizabeth. When Peter the Great was a boy in Moscow he used to play with this boat and had it repaired so that he could sail in it on a small lake. This aroused in him an interest in naval matters that lasted throughout his life, culminating in the founding of the Russian navy. Peter's first war ships were virtual replicas of this boat. It was Peter who christened her "The Little Father of the Russian Fleet," a name by which she has been known ever since.

A TOWN WITH SINKING STREETS.

For the past six years the inhabitants of Norwich, England, have gone to bed without knowing whether their houses would be standing when they awoke in the morning. Norwich is built over vast rock salt mines, many of which have been worked and abandoned while others are still being excavated. The result is that there are great cavities just under the earth's crust, and often the shell, if that term is permissible, is too thin to support longer the weight of the buildings. The illustration shows a portion of the main street of Norwich and the way in which the people have to jack up their stores and houses. Some of the streets of the town have sunk more than twelve feet in the last few years.

HON. GUY CURRIER

May be Colonel Gaston's Running Mate

The democratic candidate for lieutenant-governor will probably be selected today when several of the party leaders meet to talk over convention matters.

Two men are prominently mentioned for the office, ex-Mayor Philip O'Connell of Worcester, and ex-Senator Guy W. Currier of Methuen.

O'Connell has stated through friends, that he prefers not to have his name considered, and this eliminates him.

Currier is not overenthusiastic, but will accept if the party leaders really wish him to run.

The remainder of the ticket is settled on. C. A. Ezekiel of Springfield will be named for secretary of state, F. N. Tetrault of Southbridge for auditor, T. C. Thatcher of the Cape for treasurer, and J. J. Flaherty of Gloucester for attorney-general.

The Hon. C. G. Hamlin will probably make the speech nominating Gaston.

REPUBLICAN PLATFORM.

The platform which the republican party will adopt at the convention Friday is ready, and today ex-Governor Crane will submit it to the resolutions committee.

The ex-governor, always terse in expressing his views and opinions, has made the platform very brief. It is not a radical document and the republican leaders who have seen it are well pleased.

Tariff revision is not dealt with at length; neither is Canadian reciprocity. A year ago Eugene N. Foss caused trouble with his ideas of reciprocity. A flexible plank was built and the situation safely tided over. In a somewhat like manner tariff revision will be handled this year.

Secretary Moody is to attend the convention and will make the speech nominating Lieutenant Governor Guild. The republican managers believe Secretary Moody will add great life to the convention and the campaign. As announced previously, Senator Hoar will place Governor Bates' name before the convention.

A new scheme will be executed in selecting the convention vice-presidents. Each member of the state committee will name one, thus providing a vice-president for every senatorial district.

All kinds of plans are under process of framing for making the "night before" an event that will cheer the visiting delegates, and start them working.

Saturday the Middlesex club will hold a dinner in honor of the nominees. Governor Bates will be present and speak. The first big rally of the campaign will occur at Brockton Oct. 9. The socialists are causing havoc in Plymouth county, and a cry for help has been sent to this city. It has been heeded, and several speakers will go to Brockton to help stem the socialist tide. It is probable Governor Bates will speak at this rally.

Starting next Tuesday the Governor and council will make a three days' trip inspecting state institutions in the western counties. Unless the program is changed no speeches will be made, and the trip will be one of stern business.

CASTO THEATRE

The premiere at the Casto Theatre yesterday was a most auspicious one, and two large and well satisfied audiences were in attendance. The bill is one of the strongest ever offered at this popular theatre, and every act made a tremendous hit. Comedy from start to finish is the rule of the show, and the laugh is continuous from the rise of the curtain.

Of course the musical comedy "Too Much Married" proved to be the great laughing attraction of the performance. When the audiences witnessed the show there was not one who doubted the statement that the comedy had been enthusiastically received during the tour of the last three months. The adventures of Bob Henshaw in his endeavors to secure a family and thus obtain possession of the family fortune are most amusingly told by the experienced company. There is not a hitch or wait of any kind, and the lines will keep any one laughing. During the action of the comedy the specialties introduced are songs by James A. Beall, Frank N. Boyle, Joseph F. Morran and Lillian Crone; "The Callahan Cadets," by Al. Haynes and Julia Redmond, instrumental selections by the Bartells, introducing Little Bartell, the wonderful child instrumentalist; and the side-splitting song, "Ikey Goldstein," by Margaret Rosa. Catchy music abounds and the choruses will rank with some of those heard in the highest priced companies which have appeared in this city.

One of the funniest acts Lowell citizens have had the pleasure of seeing in some time is that of Borani and Nevaro, the original "Weary Waggles," of the "Foxy Grandpa" company, and the acrobatic girl, who present a comedy acrobatic act which proved a novelty in every sense of the word. William Tomkins in his "Topical Talks," was an immediate favorite, and the monologue which he delivers is far ahead of any other. Thoroughly up-to-date, this monologue alone is worth the price of admission. Lavine and Leonard, comedy jugglers and automobilists, as the program states, certainly proved their right to these titles. From their entrance in the automobile until the "auto" explodes there is not a dull moment in the act. Miss Ray Cox made a hit in her songs, stories and impersonations. The crowds at the Casto this week will be large, and it would be well to secure reserved seats, which may be done by calling 'phone 815-3. The box office is open from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m.

Mr. R. McDaniel and Walter R. Mosley returned yesterday after a very pleasant season at the Crawford house, White Mountains, N. H.

ACTRESS SORRY

She Tried to Commit Suicide

By Associated Press to The Sun

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—"I was so tired of it all, and I knew this would come. That is all."

Lying on a cot in Roosevelt hospital, with a self-inflicted bullet wound in her left breast, and her strength fast ebbing away, pretty Florence Wickliffe Young, an actress, hovers between life and death. A pearl-handled revolver which she had always carried for self protection while on the road was the weapon with which she fired the shot.

Miss Young is 27 years old, and lived with her sister, Rose, a magazine writer, at 128 West 43d street. Yesterday morning Miss Rose Young left her room to go out to breakfast. Her sister Florence was still in bed. She had gone down one flight of stairs when she heard a pistol shot, which caused her to hurry back to the apartment. Arriving there she was horrified to find that her sister had shot herself in the breast. She summoned a policeman and he, in turn, summoned Coroner Scholer, because of the young woman's serious condition.

"I have been in poor health and for a long time my nerves have been completely shattered," said the wounded girl to the coroner. "Because of my ill health I have been unable to secure an engagement, and when one finally did come, a few weeks ago, I was unable to take it, being too weak to play the part offered me. My sister has been most kind to me during my enforced idleness. But I am tired of it all—tired of taking her money. That is why I wanted to end it. I am sorry now. I did not think what I was doing."

Miss Young was known on the stage as Florence Wickliffe. In 1901 she played the part next to Miss Maxine Elliott with Nat C. Goodwin in "When We Were 21."

Surgeons at the hospital hold out little hope of her recovery. They probed for the bullet yesterday, but failed to find it.

TEMPLE THEATRE

The Temple Theatre, Lowell's new vaudeville house, opened its doors to the public yesterday afternoon, and a large audience attended the initial performance. Last evening the theatre was crowded and the bill presented by Manager Murray was up to date and promises to be a winner. Refined vaudeville will be given here, and the management feels that its efforts will meet with a hearty response from the play-going public. The week's program is a winner, and it includes seven numbers, introducing some good singers, dancers and a remarkably clever lightning change artist. One of the most unusual features of this playhouse is the arrangement of the gallery as there are no seats in it that do not command a perfect view of the stage.

Murray and Alden made a great big hit in their comedietta entitled "A Postmaster's Welcome." The wonderful boy artist, Master D. Alan Coogan is all that is claimed of him. His clever singing and dancing were loudly applauded.

Phil Mason tells about some of his experiences at Atlantic City this summer in his original Irish dialect. Phil has a remedy which he says is a sure cure for the blues. Miss Leona Hanson, one of the Hub's prettiest exponents of acrobatic dancing, gives a very clever exhibition and is certain to win favor. The Zola sisters, high class singers, gave a touch of the concert stage to the performance, thereby adding to the variety of the bill. Crowley and Foley, a pair of men with educated feet, dancers in any style, were brought back until tired out. Eddie and Lottie Powers, the headliners of the evening, doing a clever singing, dancing and comedy sketch. "Billy" Gilmore is the pianist at the Temple. There will be a matinee every afternoon this week.

DENNIS HEALEY.

SAID FAREWELL

Grand Reception to Pres. Dennis Healey

BY LOCAL LEATHER WORKERS' UNION

Many Valuable Gifts Tendered Him

The leather workers of this city turned out in great numbers last evening to tender a farewell reception to their esteemed fellow-worker, Dennis Healey of this city, who today leaves for Philadelphia to assume the duties of national president of the Amalgamated Association of Leather Workers of America, in new headquarters which have been recently fitted up for him.

The reception was given by local union, No. 3, of which Mr. Healey has been president for four years, while he is now entering upon his second term as head of the national association.

Over 300 members and friends of the popular official were present at the reception in Leather Workers' hall, and Michael McMullen, vice-president, in behalf of the members of the union, presented Mr. Healey with a solid gold watch and chain, a Foresters' charm, a meerschaum pipe, a fountain pen and $75 in gold.

In the course of his presentation speech Mr. McMullen referred to Mr. Healey's consistency throughout his career as a labor leader as the secret of his success. He also spoke of the pleasant relations between employer and employe in the factory which employs all the local leather workers and said that they were due to the good sense of the man now leaving them.

Mr. Healey was taken by surprise completely as one after the other the beautiful gifts were tendered him and when he had sufficiently recovered, he made a neat speech of thanks, saying incidentally:

"The trades union, as an education of the great mass of the adult population of this country at the present time is more protected than the public schools and it wields a great influence over the common people. From my experience with the organized laboring man I have learned much and in leaving you would say a few things to you. In time I hope you will ask for a shorter day. Meanwhile stand shoulder to shoulder, don't be arrogant, but try to appreciate fully the fine conditions you have reached through your splendid organization. Your officers are the voice of the body and are entitled to your respect and have a better knowledge of things than the members in general. Therefore, listen to their advice and don't antagonize them.

"In thanking you for these presents, I hope to see from afar this Lowell union outstrip in the future its fine record in the past. I hope soon to see a movement for a shorter day from Maine to California and I sincerely hope you men will stand staunch adherents of the movement when it arises.

"You are simply a collective investment, as a union; individual investment doesn't reap much. You are just the same as those who form a corporation of capital, you have the same right. Labor should get more from its investment than capital.

"Keep in good standing and be sure of consistency in your actions. At all times, no matter where I may be, the welfare of this organization will be first in my mind. You will, I assure you, never be forgotten.

"If ever you have any friction with the management of the factory, use calm deliberations in your action. Don't be hasty, and always make your national officers acquainted with the true situation."

At the conclusion of his remarks, Mr. Healey was given three cheers and a tiger.

After the presentation James F. Gilligan, formerly recording secretary, was elected president of the union, and James J. Carney, recording secretary.

The following program was then enjoyed:

PITTSBURG TEAM

On Its Way to the Hub

By Associated Press to The Sun

PITTSBURG, Sept. 29.—The Pittsburg baseball team, champions of the National league, left last night for Boston where they will on Thursday begin a series of nine games for the championship of the world with the Boston team, pennant winners of the American league. The Pittsburg club will stop at Buffalo today and arrive at Boston on Wednesday. Pres. Dreyfus with a large party of enthusiasts will leave here Thursday night to encourage the home team. Mr. Dreyfus announced yesterday that he had received from President Soden of the Boston Nationals permission to play in the clubs territory. This is made necessary by the rules of the National league which gives the home club exclusive rights within five miles of its city.

The schedule as arranged for the post season series is as follows:

At Boston October 1st, 2nd and 3rd.

At Pittsburg October 5th, 6th, 7th and 8th.

The club winning five games will be given the championship. Should it be found necessary to play more than the seven games scheduled, the others will be played at Boston or some other city mutually agreed upon.

District Attorney Jerome Wants $100,000

SECURING EVIDENCE AGAINST GAMBLING HOUSES

Took All the Money He Received Last Year

By Associated Press to The Sun

NEW YORK, Sept 29.—District Attorney Jerome yesterday made application to the board of estimates and apportionment for $100,000 for his contingent fund for the ensuing year. In explaining the need for the money Mr. Jerome said:

"I have spent the money I received last year in securing evidence against gambling houses and closing them. I have been kept in touch with the gambling situation and know what should be done. I am reliably informed that the gambling houses in Manhattan are wide open now and I want to get the money so that I can go against these places as I have done before. I have positive information on this subject and it is absolutely necessary that I get the money."

BRINGS NEW STRENGTH AND HEALTH

One of Lowell's Leading Prosperous Merchants Recommends Vital Force.

While we get very many testimonials from people in all walks of life telling about the curative merits of Dr. Bartlett's Vital Force, it is gratifying to receive an unsolicited letter from such a widely known and prosperous merchant as M. Bellefontaine, proprietor of a large house furnishing and installment store on Aiken street, Lowell, Mass. Mr. Bellefontaine writes:

"As a tonic and invigorator for the nerves when subjected to mental strain and overwork, I have found Dr. Bartlett's Vital Force invaluable. I am fully satisfied that it is an efficacious remedy for that tired, worn-out feeling, and I have recommended it to many of my friends. I consider it superior to anything in the line of advertised remedies for dyspepsia, and I only wish every family had a bottle of it, because I am positive it would save much sickness and doctor's bills. In conclusion, I believe there is nothing better for strengthening and renewing the system than Dr. Bartlett's Vital Force, and what is good for adults must be a sure remedy for children."

Respectfully yours,

MILLER BELLEFONTAINE,

267 Aiken St., Lowell, Mass.

June 23, 1903.

Dr. Bartlett cures where others fail. Why suffer from day to day when such a physician is willing to take your case under his care and cure you where a cure is possible. It is advisable to call at his office early as he is always crowded with patients. His marvellous success in the treatment of chronic diseases is sufficient proof that what his patients say about him are "laurels for the true worth."

"FRESHIES" HAZED

Textile School Students Have Some Fun

Seven members of the freshmen class of the Textile school, arrayed in the most hideous attire imaginable, paraded through the principal streets of the city last night, much to the amusement of people who were on the streets and thought a "horrible" parade was going on. The "freshies" were corralled by several members of the sophomore class and stripped of their clothing and made to don the most outlandish clothes which must have been collected from some old rag-bag, while the students' faces were daubed with colors of every description.

The hazing party started from upper Merrimack street and marched their victims down Merrimack street, up Central and over Middlesex street to the depot, where the freshmen had to make speeches. On the return trip a stop was made in Jackson street where more speeches were in order, and when the city hall was reached the victims were forced to mount the steps and sing college songs much to the amusement of several hundred people who gathered to see the fun.

The freshmen were then marched up the street to their headquarters in upper Merrimack street, and they thought their troubles were over; in reality they had only commenced, for there was a warm, and also a cold, reception waiting for them when they got inside the house.

Each of the "freshies" had a cake of ice for a chair and they were notified when it got too cold for them to make it known and they would be warmed, but the warming consisted of barrel staves which were applied with great activity.

Speeches and songs were in order and the hazing party had a glorious time until the early hours of the morning. The victims were served a very sumptuous repast which consisted mostly of raw eggs, egg shells, grass and other things pleasing to the taste of the onlookers, but probably not so to the victims.

When one of the freshmen was seen this morning he said, "There is at least one consolation and that is that we [illegible] have a chance to be the onlookers next year instead of the victims." The sophomores claim they will have another string of candidates tonight, and will continue their nightly revels until the whole entering class has been hazed.

SALOONS OPEN

More Trouble Expected in Sault Ste. Marie

By Associated Press to The Sun

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., Sept. 29.—There were no further disturbances late last night nor early today in the Canadian "Soo" but the situation has some elements which do not promise a long continuance of the present peaceful condition.

In the first place every saloon in the town is wide open and most of them, especially in the laboring men's districts, are being patronized heavily by the horde of idle men who composed yesterday's mob.

In the second place, 1500 instead of 400 men as reported last night are at Wirs, a lumbering camp of the company, 12 miles up the Algoma Central road, and it is this body of men the railroad has refused to transport to the "Soo" under present troubled conditions.

Of this number, 75 walked in yesterday, reaching the "Soo" about midnight last night and the rest of them are walking down today. This big accession to the ranks of the unemployed is looked upon as sure to cause trouble unless the authorities show more vigor in dealing with the situation than they did yesterday. The third troublesome feature is the delay in getting additional troops here. Just eight soldiers got in last night and the Grenadiers did not leave Toronto until four o'clock this morning, which means that they cannot be here until late this afternoon or tonight.

The policy of the local authorities in permitting the saloons in the west end of town especially to open up this morning is provoking much criticism.

The police of the Canadian "Soo" today began placing under arrest the leaders of yesterday's riots and within an hour seven were behind the bars of the county jail. The leader of them all is alleged to be Jack Dean. The police allege that throughout yesterday he was to be found wherever a crowd of men gathered, haranguing them and urging them on to further acts of violence.

The ferry boats between the American and Canadian "Soo's" are running today heavily armed with soldiers.

LIQUOR CASES

Two More Called in Police Court Today

The case of Joseph Kershaw for illegally keeping liquor, was called in police court today and was continued to October 3. He was asked to show goods to the value of $300 for his appearance on that date.

Starros Geanas, arrested on a fraternity warrant, was continued to Oct. 10.

Because Joseph Hamel wouldn't jump right up and leave his work in the mill and buy tobacco for Louis White, the latter threw a penknife at him and stabbed him in the thumb. He cut him quite severely and a doctor was brought into requisition. Hamel is a mere boy and he had to remain idle for two weeks. White promised to pay him his ordinary wages but failed to and that is why the case was aired in police court this morning. When White was asked to plead, Deputy Welch thought he said "nolo."

"He's had some experience," said the stalwart prosecuting officer, but when the incident was sifted it was learned that it was only a peculiar way that White has of saying "no."

White was allowed to go under promise that he would pay the complainant two weeks' wages.

Owen McCaffrey went to jail for four months because he assaulted his wife and he deserved it. Mrs. McCaffrey appeared on the witness stand with an injured eye and bruised arms and shoulders. Owen's fists were not hard enough in his estimation and he used a chair. It was not his first appearance in court for assault and battery on his wife and Judge Hadley remembered him. "I wish I could send you to a whipping post," said the court. "There's nothing left for me to do but to send you to prison," he continued, "but I would much rather see you whipped for your miserable and cowardly action." McCaffrey blamed it all on his wife but the evidence was against him.

Frank L. Wright, charged with illegally keeping liquor, pleaded not guilty and was granted a continuance to Thursday.

Peter Monahan, for assault and battery on Peter Geanacopoulos, was fined $3 and an extra $5 for drunkenness was added. The trouble took place last Sunday morning and an extract from the preponderance of evidence went to show that Monahan had partaken of three bottles of beer before the trouble occurred, but there wasn't one among all the witnesses who would say that Peter was drunk. The court, however, set its gauge upon his capacity and decided that Peter was drunk. It was admitted on all sides that the complainant and others disturbed Peter more or less during the early hours of the Sabbath, but Peter had no business to let his angry passions rise and it cost him the small sum of $8 to know that he shouldn't have done it.

Napoleon Larock was in police court a few days ago, and, on a complaint charging him with assault and battery and larceny, was sentenced to the house of correction for one year and a half. He appealed and today withdrew his appeal.

Arthur Poirier pleaded guilty to the larceny of a watch and chain. It seemed to be a mistake all around and the complainant in the case was willing to settle the case outside police court portals.

Bridget McSorley charged with drunkenness was sentenced to the workhouse for a term of six months.

DEATH SENTENCE

Lenousky Was Hanged for Murder

By Associated Press to The Sun

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Sept. 29.—Peter Lenousky was hanged in the county jail this morning. His crime was the murder of Anthony Sennick.

The two were mine workers, employed at the Exeter colliery. Sennick was known to have saved some money, and Lenousky, with Victor Zerambo, another miner, planned to rob him. February 11, 1903, they entered Sennick's chamber in the mine and Lenousky killed him with an axe. The pair rifled their victim's pockets but found only a few cents. Lenousky and Zerambo were arrested, tried and convicted of murder in the first degree. Zerambo subsequently secured a new trial and a second degree verdict was rendered. Lenousky later made a confession in which he admitted having killed Sennick.

BOATS COLLIDED

Both of Them Were Damaged

By Associated Press to The Sun

VINEYARD HAVEN, Mass., Sept. 29. Two four-masted schooners, the names of which are not yet known, collided a short distance west of the Handkerchief lightship early today and sustained considerable damage. The news of the accident was brought here by the captain of the schooner Scotia Queen, which put in to this port from Parrsboro, N. S., for orders. The captain reports that one of the schooners was loaded, apparently with coal and was bound east, running with a strong northwest wind. The other schooner was light and was beating to the westward. As the two vessels came together the crash was heard, but as it was dark at the time it was impossible for the captain of the Scotia Queen to see the full extent of the damage done. He could see, however, that the light schooner lost her jib-boom and headgear. Both vessels anchored after the collision.

CONSOLS DROPPED

REACHED LOWEST PRICE SINCE 1866

By Associated Press to The Sun

LONDON, Sept. 29. Consols touched 87 at noon today, the lowest point since 1866, and then hardened somewhat. The whole feeling on the stock exchange was one of extreme depression and nervousness. No disposition was shown to support prices and whenever stocks were offered the quotations were immediately lowered against the seller. Americans showed a further decline in sympathy with yesterday's movement in New York, the position of the U. S. Steel issues being given as the dominating influence.

The markets later improved, the recovery of consols including a generally better feeling.

BUCHANAN QUITS

Will Let Parks Have His Way

By Associated Press to The Sun

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Sept. 29.—President Frank Buchanan, of the International Association of Structural Iron & Bridge Workers, intimated today to a reporter that he was on the point of stepping down and out of the contest with Samuel Parks.

He was asked whether or not he had yet decided upon his candidacy for re-election as the head of the international association. He answered:

"I have not yet decided whether I shall be a candidate. I have not yet decided whether I shall step down and out and let the majority rule. The majority so far seems to want Samuel Parks and his methods. Now it is a question with me whether it is not my duty as president of the association to let the majority rule. This would, of course mean that I, opposed as I am, to the things that Samuel Parks represents would have to step to one side. I think anyway that I have done my share for trades unionism. You understand, of course, that my action will depend upon how events shape themselves."

The convention today adopted the report of the resolutions committee and censured President Roosevelt for his stand in the Miller case at Washington, censured Governor Peabody of Colorado for his action in the strike of the Western Federation of Miners; endorsed the position of the Central Labor organization of Washington on the question of closed shops and recommended that the various labor organizations of the country raise funds to make a united fight against the decisions by the courts of injunctions against strikers.

FERRY BOAT DAMAGED

WAS IN COLLISION WITH A STEAMER.

By Associated Press to The Sun

BOSTON, Sept. 29. The ferryboat Swampscott, plying between this port and East Boston, was so badly damaged in collision with the steamer City of Gloucester in the harbor today that she was laid up for repairs. The steamer had two holes stove in her port bow, one below the guards about four by three feet, and the other above the guards, about two feet by a foot and a half. The steamer was coming up the harbor from Gloucester and sounded two whistles, which the ferry boat answered, but in the limited space near the old Cunard docks the City of Gloucester was unable to turn and crashed into the Swampscott, striking her on the starboard side and cutting into her guards. The City of Gloucester was tied up for repairs.

ATONEMENT DAY

Feast of Yom Kippur Begins Tomorrow

MOST SOLEMN OF JEWISH FESTIVALS

Service Will be Held in Local Synagogue

With the setting of the sun tomorrow evening comes the solemn feast of "Yom Kipper, the Day of Atonement," one of the most important days in the Jewish calendar and strictly and solemnly observed by orthodox Jews, the world over. The day is observed with fasting and prayer, and the more pious Jews remaining in the synagogues during the entire 24 hours.

It is during the services Wednesday evening that the Kol-Nidrie, the most soul-stirring of all the beautiful Jewish services, fully 10 centuries old, is heard. In many instances the music is adapted to modern orchestras, and in this way is heard in the sanctuaries of the reformed. In the synagogues the Kol-Nidrie is chanted by the cantor, assisted by augmented choirs of boys, which adds greatly to the solemnity of the occasion.

Another feature in the observance of the holiday is th memorial service. In the synagogues of the orthodox the large edifices are flooded with light, owing to the large number of candles used on this occasion. In the temples of the reformed this part of the services is the most solemn and impressive.

During the observance of Yom Kippur the spirit of peace will settle over the homes of the Jewish people, and the vanities of the world are entirely forgotten. It would be impossible to find the place of business of an orthodox Jew open during the day, and even the home is deserted, as is attested by the crowded temples and synagogues.

In the synagogues of the orthodox old men dressed in their own shrouds and caps read softly from their prayer books or say aloud the fervent responses. On no other day is the vast distance between the reformed and orthodox more apparent than on the Day of Atonement.

The synagogues of the orthodox will open Wednesday evening with the setting sun, and will remain open until the same hour Thursday. The temples of the reformed open at 7.30, and after the services will close, to open again early Thursday morning. All houses of worship will be open Thursday the entire day.

DIVORCE CASE

THE HOLBROOK AFFAIR WAS NOT HEARD.

By Associated Press to The Sun

SPRINGFIELD, Sept. 29.—Yesterday's divorce session of the Hampden county Superior court was crowded, in the expectation that libels involving prominent society people would be heard.

The case of especial interest, that of Florence Holbrook against George M. Holbrook, was not reached.

Robin L. West of Monson asked for the nullification of his marriage to Nellie Corkins of Brimfield, Vt. He testified that in May, 1900, he was married in Hardwick, and in September of the same year discovered that his wife had, under the name of Nellie Calkins, married Charles Holden in Hampton, N. Y., in September, 1892. The respondent offered no defence and the nullification of the marriage was ordered.

Josephine S. Harper of Holyoke, was given a divorce from her husband, Edward A. Harper of Cornfask, Mich., on the grounds of desertion.

Decrees nisi were issued in the cases of Anna E. Newcomb of Springfield against John Newcomb of Caldwell, N. Y., and of William C. Carr of Brooklyn, N. Y., for neglect to provide suitable maintenance, and desertion, respectively.

WHIPPING POST

14 Prisoners Were Publicly Whipped

By Associated Press to The Sun

WILMINGTON, Del., Sept. 29.—The most severe whippings ever known in Delaware since the whipping post was re-established were meted out to offenders at the New Castle county workhouse, when the lash was administered to 14 culprits for various crimes by Warden Meserve. Between 300 and 400 persons saw the whippings. The crowd was so great that it was necessary to close the gates, and several times Warden Meserve, who applied the lash, had to request order. About a dozen women were in the crowd.

Frank Ward was the first man brought out. As the cat-o'-nine tails first cut the air with a wicked swish, Ward cowered and clung tightly to the post. As each blow fell he cringed as did every other of the 14. Their muscles would begin to twitch even before the lash descended. Theodore Walcott, a negro, made more protestation than any of the others, crying lustily and praying alternately. Just before he received his last blow, he cried: "I never will take another pair of shoes, master."

"Whiskers" Mullin, charged with highway robbery, took his 40 lashes without a murmur, although after the first 10 had been laid on, each one sent streams of blood trickling down his back. Several of those who had pushed their way to the front of the crowd were sorry they did so, as they turned their eyes away and cringed almost as much as the prisoners. They could not force their way out and were compelled to stay through the whole proceeding.

SMALL FORTUNE

Will be Spent by the Ancients

By Associated Press to The Sun

BOSTON, Sept. 29.—A small fortune will be spent in showing the London Hoi-tourables how Americans can entertain their guests and large sums will be spent by the London delegation themselves.

It is estimated that not less than $250,000 will be spent from the time the London company leaves London until they return again.

Private entertainment makes the largest figure in the expense, this being calculated on the basis of costly entertainment provided for the visitors at Providence, New York, Washington, Buffalo and Montreal, where money will be spent freely to give the visitors a royal time.

Steamship fares will equal at least $50,000, and railroad transportation, with the luxurious special trains ordered and the distance traveled, will easily eat up $25,000.

Both companies will be lavish with souvenirs, and while the London company has appropriated $10,000 for that purpose, the Boston company will spend at least $5,000 more than that.

For the accommodation of guests in the several cities and in Boston, $20,000 makes a not too lavish an amount to devote to that purpose.

In cigars an expert has allowed $800, while the hotel chef has figured that $15,000 will easily be spent for wines and so forth.

Music and uniforms need the addition of at least $10,000 more, while $800 will be spent in decorating throughout the cities visited.

Everything added will make an expenditure of at least a quarter of a million dollars.

Aside from the fact that an excellent program is offered, the object of the entertainment should appeal to the members and friends of the Sacred Heart parish.

The church was damaged to the extent of $5,000 by the explosion and the loss comes heavily on the parish. Huntington hall should be crowded on both occasions tomorrow.

SAFE ROBBERS

FOUR MEN ARRESTED IN WESTERN PART OF THE STATE, SUPPOSED TO BE A GANG OF SAFE ROBBERS.

Charge Made Against Four Men Under Arrest

By Associated Press to The Sun

BOSTON, Sept. 24.—The four young men arrested in the western part of the state a week ago loaded down with burglars' tools are supposed to be a part of the gang which has made life a burden to country postmasters and railroad agents, according to the story told by State Detective McKay of Northampton, who arrived at the state house yesterday with pictures of the quartet.

When arrested they styled themselves Joseph K. Breen, Joseph Cramer, John White and James Blake. Blake has a record. On April 29, 1899, he participated in a safe-blowing job at Ashburnham, was subsequently arrested in this city by Inspectors Abbott and Gilmore, and was sentenced to four years in the state prison. At that time he gave his name as John Lombard. The others are unknown to either the state police or the Boston officers.

Cramer admitted that he was born in this city, and he must have lived here within recent years, for as soon as he saw McKay he called him by name, and added: "You used to be chief of police at Hyde Park." Cramer refused to tell anything about himself, however. He says he is a shoemaker. The men known as White and Breen claim to be bridge builders. Blake said he was a laborer.

Last Tuesday morning the postoffice at South Hadley was entered, the safe blown open and about $1000 worth of stamps taken. The burglary was promptly reported and Officer McKay was notified. Shortly after sunrise two men who had come into Ware on an early morning train were corralled by Chief of Police Fitzgerald of that place. As they were being taken to the police station both made a break for liberty. One of them, Blake, drew a revolver and attempted to shoot Fitzgerald. The officer grabbed the revolver and used it as a bludgeon. Meanwhile the other suspect had dashed down the street to the river and boldly plunged in, swimming across holding above his head a parcel which is supposed to have contained the booty taken from the South Hadley postoffice. He reached the woods and escaped.

Meanwhile, three other men who had taken an early north-bound train from South Hadley were spotted by the station master. They had purchased tickets for Miller's Falls and the sheriff at that place was promptly notified. The latter got a well-armed posse, and when the three men were overcome, after considerable resistance, one of them had two revolvers, while each of the others had a single weapon. They were also supplied with nitro-glycerine, fuses and caps.

A week ago Saturday an attempt was made to loot the railroad station at Rockville, Ct., a diversion that was interrupted by the arrival of the watchman. A lively duel ensued, but the would-be safe breakers escaped. The agent, however, says the picture of Blake is the counterfeit presentment of one of the gang upon whom he so suddenly dropped.

This fact, coupled with the fact that these five men apparently constituted one active, working body, justifies the assumption, in the minds of the police, that the safe robberies at Sharon and other places may be fairly charged up to them. Since their arrest, at any rate, there has been a sudden cessation of safe robberies along the lines of the Boston & Albany and New York, New Haven & Hartford railroads.

The escape of the fifth man, supposedly with the booty obtained at South Hadley, makes it impossible to definitely prove that charge against them, but Blake is held on a charge of assault with intent to kill, while the other three are charged with having burglars' tools in their possession. Deputy Chief Shaw of the state police would welcome information of the identity of the three unrecognized members of the party.

LAWRENCE BOY

HAS BEEN COMMENDED FOR BRAVERY.

By Associated Press to The Sun

LAWRENCE, Sept. 29.—Midshipman Walter Diman, who has been commended by Sec'y of the Navy Moody for bravery for saving from drowning a Frenchman in Chinese waters, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Diman of 62 Bailey street, this city.

Midshipman Diman is 24 years of age and a graduate of Annapolis. Unassuming in manner, his act is no surprise to his friends. To them his course in exposing himself to the dread cholera seems even braver than his rescue of the drowning Frenchman. Not long ago an American on duty in Chinese waters contracted cholera, and a request was sent to young Diman's ship for medical attendance. With the doctor Midshipman Diman went to the man-of-war on which the sick man was, and the two did all that they could to aid him.

Young Diman is filling the position of intelligence officer, the mission of the man-of-war on which he is stationed being to ascertain the whereabouts of all Americans, so that in the event of trouble it will be possible to reach them. He has been in Chinese waters nearly two years.

FREIGHT RATES

Reported Movement to Advance Them

By Associated Press to The Sun

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—Reports have been extensively circulated of late that a concerted movement, taking in all the large railroad systems of the country is under way to bring about an advance in freight rates on January 1. The eastern trunk lines, according to the reports in question are planning an increase equal to about 10 per cent.

When the matter was called, by the Journal of Commerce, to the attention of one of the best known trunk line officers at this port he declared the report absolutely absurd.

"Of course, there will be the usual end-year cleaning up of commodity rates—rates on raw materials, etc., for short distances to manufacturers and others," he said, "but it is ridiculous to talk about any general 10 per cent. advance. The basis first class between New York and Chicago has been 75 cents ever since 1862. There can certainly be no advance on that figure, for trade would not stand it. The only way, therefore, that an advance could be made, would be an advance in classification. A general advance in classification always meets with great opposition and never will be attempted unless the railroads must have it. Three years or so ago—when conditions warranted it—when materials and labor had advanced to such figures as to make railroading at the old figures a losing business, advances were made by means of classification which ranged between 5 and 7 per cent. These advances were in every way justified. Today there has certainly been no further advance in materials which, if anything, are a shade lower. Labor is not much higher, so that there is no excuse whatever for any general advance to say nothing of the alleged advance of ten per cent."

However, it has been learned that the trunk line managers are considering the adjustment of import rates and a joint conference of New York, Missouri river lines has been called to meet in New York, October 8.

For years home manufacturers have suffered greatly on account of relatively lower import rates. An agreement has been prepared between the steamship lines and the railroads whereby all import rates are to be based on Baltimore, which will be the 100 per cent. point.

Salen Replies to Dick's Letter

By Associated Press to The Sun

CLEVELAND, Sept. 29.—Charles P. Salen, chairman of the Ohio democratic State executive committee, has replied to Chairman Dick's letter declining the Democratic challenge to Senator Hanna to a debate, saying:

"The paramount issue of the senatorial contest in this campaign is the public record of Senator M. A. Hanna and his unfitness by reason thereof to be returned to the United States senate.

"If you are not aware that John H. Clarke has attacked his public record and joined issue with the present senator upon his record, first, in fathering ship subsidy bill, which seeks to take from the people's treasury $50,000,000 annually and put it into the treasury of the steamship companies; second, in forcing through the legislature the reactionary and expensive municipal code, which denies home rule to the cities of the State, and, third, using his official position to secure for himself and associates franchise privileges to the injury of the people, you can get this information by inquiring of Senator Hanna himself."

"BROWN" ARMY

Won First of the Mimic Battles

By Associated Press to The Sun

CAMP YOUNG, WEST POINT, Ky., Sept. 29. The first real work of the troops assembled here for the army maneuvres began yesterday. It centered on the solution of the various problems which confront the advance and rear guards of an army in the neighborhood of an army in time of war. The same relative problems were set before the rear guards of the Blue and the Brown armies.

After a day spent in manoeuvring among the hills, the first of the mimic battles ended with an apparent advantage in favor of the "Brown" army. The coalitions prevailing were those governing the proper employment of advance and rear guard of the armies.

The chief incident of the day was the capture of Captain Mitchell of the signal corps and a small detachment of his men by a troop of the Seventh Cavalry.

ACROBATIC HORSE

Turned Somersaults in Merrimack Square

A TWISTER.

He Had the Blind Staggers—Jew Peddler Bought Him at Auction Stable—Big Crowd Watched the Horse Perform

There'll be more jealous Jew peddlers in town for a week or two than ever before in the history of this great manufacturing city. A new horse has arrived in their midst and he's a circus horse from 'way back. He's a contortionist, an acrobat, a go-as-you-please or he can play short stop in a runaway. He gave two performances yesterday, forenoon and evening, and he was well received.

The audience in the evening was made up mostly of women and children with a few policemen and street sweepers thrown in.

This great equine performer is owned by a Jewish peddler whose number is the unlucky one plus three. It was by mere accident that the peddler came into possession of the equine and self with certain streets, caused the poor peddler many unhappy hours.

MADE HIS DEBUT.

The first performance by the horse and the peddler was in Kirk street yesterday forenoon. The circus tent was pitched in front of the High school building and the crowd was attracted by a few loud "whoas," and an occasional "get up there." One word from the peddler and the horse did as he pleased. The performance lasted about 45 minutes and at the end of that time the peddler was ready for the hospital and the horse looked more than ever a bone yard subject. He reared and plunged, turned somersaults, walked on his hind feet, went to sleep standing up, refused to eat oats, spat in the peddler's face, did the kangaroo walk and the honchee-couchee and last as the curtain was about to drop on the last act, Agent Richardson stepped in and seized the gate receipts. The peddler objected as strenuously as his failing health would permit and the horse slept until the affair was settled. Then he awoke from what must have been unpleasant dreams. He was only and he raised to bridge. Three whips and two barrel staves were worn out on his steel bound frame and still he stood his ground. A little later the spasms began to get in their work and just for exercise he walked to a woodyard at the corner of John and Paige streets. There he remained until the September sun was painting the horizon in colors that poets rave about.

SCORED A SUCCESS.

The next performance was in Merrimack square and all that transpired in Kirk street was repeated plus a few extra stunts that had been shut out by the apparance of Agent Richardson. There was a large attendance, however, and the crowd remained until the acrobatic equine with the peddler attachment started a ride up in the direction of a plate glass window. Then a street sweeper took a hand and, with the aid of a broom handle, executed a peculiarly effective influence on the horse and the latter finally decided to take a walk. He had divested himself of his bridle and the peddler was attached to him by means of a rope about the performer's neck and the strange pair disappeared in the direction of Central street with Agent Richardson a close second. Such was the close of an incident that was both laughable and pathetic.

"His horse should not have been sold under the hammer, blanket or anything else. He is sorely afflicted and should have been relieved of his misery long ago.

NOT FIT TO SELL.

When the society for the prevention of cruelty to animals gets right down to business it will with the sanction of the proper authorities attend the auctions and it will be by a great big accident if he ever gets rid of him.

HAS BLIND STAGGERS.

The fact of the matter is the horse is not responsible for the majority of the peculiar stunts in which he indulges. He is afflicted with blind staggers, better known to the veterinary as "Megrim." He was sold under the hammer in this city a few days ago for $25. The peddler made that bid and he lost three days in trying to get him from the sale stable to his shack in Howard street. The blind staggers, augmented by a desire on the part of the horse to familiarize himself with certain streets, caused the poor peddler many unhappy hours.

DREW COLOR LINE

WHITE WOMAN WAS BOMBARDED WITH CROCKERY.

By Associated Press to The Sun

PROVIDENCE, Sept. 29.—A white woman who drew the color line yesterday at the Hotel Hallett was bombarded with plates and other crockery.

The irate negro, known as George Fones, came to work in the hotel from Boston seven weeks ago.

Yesterday he ordered Annie Dunlavey not long ago a resident of county Roscommon, Ireland, to serve him his food. She discarded and stood glaring at him with her arms akimbo, declaring: "I never have carried food to a nigger. You will have to take just what the chef leaves out for you on the chopping block and don't you forget that either."

Then Fones shied all the dishes which came handy at Miss Dunlavey and there was a panic among the kitchen force. The girl was struck before she could escape into another apartment.

Then the negro fled from the house and the city.

HER LUNG OPENED

YOUNG WOMAN DIED AFTER UNIQUE OPERATION.

By Associated Press to The Sun

STAMFORD, Conn., Sept. 29—Miss Lizzie Gremmel of Exeter, N. H., who underwent a unique operation for relief from tuberculosis at the Stamford hospital on Sept. 5, died last night at that institution.

Miss Gremmel was 28 years old and a daughter of Selon Gremmel. She contracted tuberculosis from overwork while preparing for musical life.

She tried various specialists and climatic change without relief, and as a last resort determined to submit to the desperate operation by which her right lung was opened and the cavities therein cleaned and drainage of the lung established.

The operation was performed by Dr. Briggs of Stamford, assisted by Dr. John Roland Hazen and Dr. Frederick Whitehorn of New York, Drs. E. E. Rowell, Jr., and Root of Stamford.

Miss Gremmel rallied and for a time seemed to be getting along favorably. She was able to leave her room in an invalid's chair and sit on the hospital veranda.

A few days ago there was a change for the worse. Her entire system seemed to have become poisoned. She sank rapidly and last night the end came, with her devoted sister and a brother by her side.

Dr. Hazen performed an autopsy this morning. The result could not be ascertained.

"Gratitude compels me to acknowledge the great merit of your Vegetable Compound. I have suffered for four years with irregular and painful menstruation, also dizziness, pains in the back and lower limbs, and sleep. I dreaded the time to come which would only mean suffering to me. Six bottles of Lydia E. I feel like another person now. My aches and pains have left me. I am satisfied there is no medicine so good for sick woman as your Vegetable Compound, and I advocate it to my lady friends in need of medical help."—Mrs. B. A. LUCY LARCOM

Lowell Mill Girl Who Became a Poet

The Boston Globe today has the following sketch of Lucy Larcom:

The happy childhood of Lucy Larcom, who became one of the most successful of New England's women poets, was passed in Beverly. But in 1835 necessity forced Lucy's mother, then a widow, to move to Lowell. Lucy went to work in one of the mills. Speaking of her experience there she said, when she had become famous:

"That the manufacture of cloth should as a branch of feminine industry ever have suffered a shadow of discredit will doubtless appear to future generations a most ridiculous barbarism. To prepare the clothing of the world seems to have been regarded as womanly work in all ages. The spindle and the distaff, the picturesque accompaniments of many an ancient legend, have, to be sure, changed somewhat in their adaptation to the machinery which robes the human millions, but they are, in effect, the same instruments used to supply the same need, at whatever period of the world's history."

The mill girls started some fortnightly papers which did not live very long. One paper was called "The Casket," another "The Bouquet," and another "The Diving Bell." Lucy and her sister Emeline contributed. "The Lowell Offering" was started in 1840 and "The Operatives' Magazine" later. Finally both were united in one magazine called "The Lowell Offering." The editors were Harriet Farley and Harriet Curtiss, both factory girls. The contributors were also factory girls. It once had a subscription list of 4000. It ran successfully for five years. The fame of some of its contributors spread over the world.

Lucy Larcom contributed poems and prose articles. She began her career as an amateur writer and operative very early. When 11 years old her work was changing the bobbins on the spinning frames, and the hours of work were sometimes from 5 in the morning to 7 at night. The bobbins had to be changed every three-quarters of an hour. On the sides of one of the windows in the mill she pasted newspaper clippings containing favorite poems.

Her sympathy for honest industry grew. 'Lucy Larcom, Life, Letters and Diary,' edited by Daniel Ontany Addison, without any regard for its fictitious position in so-called 'society,' was developed by her acquaintance with those earnest girls who were struggling for their own support and education."

She early took an interest in the freedom of the slave. She even had scruples about working on the cotton produced by slave labor. In one of her poems she said:

When I have thought what soil the cotton plant
We weave is rooted in, what waters fed—
The blood of souls in bondage—I have felt
That I was sinning against light, to stay
And turn the accursed fibre into cloth
For human wearing.

After working five years in the spinning room she was made bookkeeper in the cloth room of the Lawrence mills.

In 1846 Emeline married and Lucy went west with her and her husband. Their new home was a log cabin on Looking Glass Prairie in Illinois. The settlement was called Frogdom by some of the inhabitants. In this new region Lucy taught school, getting $40 for three months' work. Later she was able to earn $14 a month teaching in other places. She did her own washing and ironing. She next entered a female seminary, paying her tuition part in money and part by teaching. She graduated when 28. She removed to Beverly and opened school there. In 1854 she began to teach in Wheaton seminary at Norton. For years she had been preparing herself for literature. She could read when she was 2 1-2 years old and early began to express her feelings in prose and verse. Whittier was a sort of literary godfather to her.

She gave up teaching in 1862, but in 1864 took a few pupils and devoted considerable of her time to painting. In 1865 she became a magazine editor. The first volume of poetry was printed when she was 44 years old. In 1874 she and Whittier brought some books together. In 1875 she wrote "An Idyl of Work," dedicated to working women. It is a long poem, in blank verse describing the life of Lowell factory girls in the 40's. She had already written for the Atlantic Monthly an article entitled "Among Lowell Mill Girls." Until she was 69 years old, Lucy Larcom was able to support herself on the income derived from her literary work. She died in 1893. Her name is worthy of a conspicuous place among the heroic souls who have toiled with hand and brain and won a high place in arts or letters.

Has Had More Experience in the Treatment, and Made More Great Cures of Difficult, Protracted and Chronic Diseases and Weaknesses of Men Than Any Other Living Specialist

Dr. Longest's treatment has been tested on more than twenty thousand young, middle-aged and old men, who, as the results of errors or excesses, were tortured by the woes of nervous debility or decay. It has never yet failed, even in the worst cases, to bring back manly power, remove every trace or symptom of weakness, build up the physical and mental health, and prepare man anew for the duties and pleasures of both married and single life.

Lost manhood, seminal weakness, effects of youthful indiscretions, nervous debility, pimples and blotches, hair falling out, loss of memory and energy, impotency, rheumatic aches, discharges and all private diseases quickly and permanently cured by an original and never-failing treatment. Blood poison, ulcers, stricture, varicocele and diseases of the kidneys, bladder and blood cured in the shortest possible time, without the use of mercury or hindrance from business. Dr. Longest's treatment for the complete cure of stricture and all unnatural discharges is the most wonderful of modern times. No matter how long the discharge has continued nor how many self-styled specialists have failed to relieve, let all me cure. Dr. Longest will positively guarantee to stop the discharge entirely within (3) three days by means of his New Method Treatment. This treatment removes stricture, positively without pain, detention from business or the use of nauseous or injurious medicines. No Experiment! No Failure! Nine-tenths of all the long standing discharges, strictures and weaknesses of men are caused by the experiments of the many inexperienced and self-styled specialists of the present day.

Many a man who has been fooled by the "Pay When Cured" racket, knows that it is the last and only resort of a dying-out pretenders to get a patient into his clutches. Beware of such schemes. Don't be deceived by misleading statements such as these seemingly charitable offers.

Don't entrust your lives to anyone not qualified by years of experience to treat you. Don't even step your foot across the threshold of an office run by inexperienced, irresponsible illiterate pretenders. You had better save your money and let the disease take its own course than be practiced and experimented upon and in the end lose both your money and life.

Dr. Longest's offices occupy the entire building of five floors at 313 Columbus avenue, and they are supplied with every known means and device that science, skill, knowledge and money can provide that will aid in determining the exact location and nature of these diseases and offering their cure promptly and thoroughly, and by the same sure methods as are used in the most celebrated Paris hospitals, which invariably result in

KING'S ESTATE

O'Keefe Left Property Valued at $1,500,000

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 29.—M. A. Hartridge, who went to the Caroline Islands last May in the interests of Mrs. Catherine O'Keefe, widow of David B. O'Keefe, has arrived on the steamer Doric. O'Keefe was known as the King of Yap. He left his wife and daughter in Savannah, Ga., in the early seventies and was wrecked on this island. Being the first white man the natives had ever seen, they treated him with every possible reverence and finally made him king, an office he held until his death. Although he had two wives in the Carolines, he always kept his wife and daughter in Savannah well supplied with money. Lawyer Hartridge found a will in Hong Kong distributing an estate valued at $1,500,000 in property. The former king has left quite a large amount to his daughter, Mrs. J. K. Butler, of Savannah, and it is expected that the Savannah widow will claim about 50 per cent. of the estate.

A SHORT STRIKE

TROUBLE IN LYNN LASTED ONE HOUR.

LYNN, Mass., Sept. 29.—After being on strike for an hour this morning the plumbers, carpenters, bricklayers and other workmen employed on the new G. E. Barnard shoe factory building now constructing, returned to work when Agent Stevens of the Carpenters' union learned that non-union steam fitters whose employment on the building caused the trouble, by order of the owner, would not be put to work by the Boston contractor who is engaged on the work.

MARRIAGE VOID

The Claim Made by Spreckels' Lawyers

By Associated Press to The Sun

HONOLULU, Sept. 29.—The attorneys for Claus Spreckles assert that the marriage of Mrs. Thomas Watson (daughter of Mr. Spreckles) to Mr. Watson is void. Mrs. Watson, now of England, is suing her father for the recovery of a block of Honolulu property valued at $400,000 which she conveyed to him soon after her marriage in 1894. The marriage led to an estrangement between daughter and parents and Mrs. Watson returned the property which had been presented to her by her father. The present suit is based on the fact that Mrs. Watson's deed of conveyance did not bear her husband's signature. Mrs. Spreckles' attorneys alleged that Mr. Watson had previously married in 1889 that the divorce which he secured in Utah in 1876 was illegal and that consequently his second marriage is void.

ST. MICHAEL'S SCHOOL

Observes Centenary and Its Patronal Feast

The Children Attended Special Services This Morning -- Centenary Observance Held in School and Church—School Reopens With Promise of Bright Future

Today is the feast of St. Michael, and was appropriately observed by the children of St. Michael's school, this morning. Mass was celebrated at 8.30 o'clock at which the school children with their teachers attended in a body. The children's choir sang a hymn to St. Michael, a hymn to the Sacred Heart, while at the close of mass the entire congregation sang "Holy God, We Praise Thy Name." Services in honor of St. Michael will also be held at the church this evening, to which the public are invited. In honor of the day the school children were given a holiday.

Rev. Fr. Shaw, the zealous pastor of St. Michael's, was the recipient of warm congratulations from the parishioners today for the results of his hard work, all are now impressively apparent in a renovated school with a bigger attendance than ever before, a beautiful and modernly appointed convent for the good sister whose co-operation was his best aid in his great work while the future points to a period of unprecedented success for parish and school.

The school opened with 450 pupils and more coming in almost daily, necessitating the services of an extra teacher, and it will be run on a high plan under the able direction of Sister Mary Bertrand, the new superior at St. Michael's, a nun of rare talent and wide experience. Sister Mary Bertrand was one of the original band of Canadian nuns who established St. Patrick's parochial school in Watertown, Mass., some 15 years ago. At that time parochial schools were unknown in Watertown and vicinity and the sisters met with bitter and undisguised opposition from the residents of that town. So intense was the feeling that the first graduates of St. Patrick's found it impossible to get into the Watertown High School and the result was the establishment by the Dominicans of St. Patrick's High School, which today ranks on an even footing with any high school in New England. After several years at Watertown, Sister Mary Bertrand returned to Kentucky where she supervised studies at St. Catherine's Academy, a fashionable boarding school at Springfield, leaving the academy to become mistress of novices at the "mother-house" of the order which position she held until this summer when she was assigned to St. Michael's, this city.

CENTENARY EXERCISES.

Owing to the fact that today was the patronal feast day of the church, the exercises in commemoration of the establishment of the first Catholic church in New England, which are being held in all New England parochial schools today, were held Sunday at St. Michael's with church exercises as a close to a period of special readings on Catholic church history for two weeks prior. In each of the classes the teachers took up day by day different periods in the history of the Catholic church in America and by systematic topical illustration followed the progress of the church in America in a general way from the landing of Columbus down to the time of the establishment of the first church in Boston. Then the history of the church in New England was gone into in detail and the work of the different episcopates, beginning with Bishop Carroll of Baltimore and through the episcopates in Boston of Bishops Hughes, Cheverus, Fenwick, Fitzpatrick and the present beloved Archbishop Williams. With each was outlined the work of the early Catholics in building up the diocese and as a fitting close to this interesting course of study Rev. Fr. Carney on Sunday afternoon delivered a thoughtful address to the children on "The Significance of the Feast and the Spirit that is Needed Today." The address was delivered at the vesper services, which the school children attended in a body. Rev. Fr. Carney also officiated at the vesper service, while all the clergymen of the parish were within the sanctuary. Hymns were sung by the children's choir, the rosary was recited in thanksgiving and the service closed with benediction of the blessed sacrament and the singing of Te Deum by the congregation.

Beautiful kinematographic pictures of the interior of the Holy Rosary chapel will be received in a short time by those who have taken contributions for the benefit of the Chapel altar.

ST. PATRICK'S SCHOOL.

At St. Patrick's boys' school exercises in observance of the centennial were held this morning. The teachers explained to the different classes the meaning of the occasion and reviewed the early history of the Catholic church in this state. They pointed out the many advances made and the great sacrifices that were necessary to accomplish the great work done by the church. In some of the class rooms the pupils took part in the exercises. Addresses and essays on Bishop Cheverus and his zealous co-laborers, and also on the blessings Irish emigration has brought to this country, were read.

SACRED HEART SCHOOL.

The 100th anniversary of the establishment of the first Catholic church in New England was observed at the parochial school of the Sacred Heart church this morning wit happropriate exercises.

The principal event on the program was an interesting historical lecture by Rev. Fr. Flynn, O. M. I., who pictured in a very elaborate manner the foundation of the Catholic church in Boston and its growth up to the present time.

The children also assisted in the observance of the anniversary.

IN THE ARCHDIOCESE.

The observances incident to the centennial celebration of the dedication of the first Catholic church in Boston will today be participated in by the pupils of the parochial school system of the Boston archdiocese, and nearly 50,000 scholars will take part as a unit in commemorative exercises, which have been ordered by the Rev. Louis S. Walsh of Salem, supervisor of parochial instruction, and approved by Archbishop Williams.

The programs will be held in 75 separate schools connected with 68 distinct parishes. In the city of Boston alone 26 schools will unite in the observances, this being the whole number of schools in Suffolk county, with the exception of one, which is located in Chelsea. A short historical review will form a part of the exercises in all the schools.

The official letter concerning the celebration sent by the Rev. Fr. Walsh to the rectors, having charge of the various schools, recommends that a picture of the first church of the Holy Cross be displayed in the school rooms and that a short description of the building be given by the teachers or others in charge.

The letter also suggests that biographical notice be given of the three chief ecclesiastics of the early days of the church, namely, the Rt. Rev. Bishop Carroll of Baltimore, under whose ecclesiastical jurisdiction the church then came; the Rev. Francis Matignon, the pastor, and the Rev. John L. Cheverus, who was assistant priest of the church, afterwards first bishop of Boston, and still later a cardinal.

The official letter also notes the conditions prevailing among the early Catholics of the city, speaking of the Church of The Holy Cross as made up of Irish, French and Spaniards, and a few persons of other nationalities, and refers to the great sacrifices, trials and triumphs of the Catholic people and of the church in New England. The communication also suggests simple historic tableaux, to be accompanied with recitations and songs of praise and thanksgiving for the great growth of the church during 100 years.

The superintendent's letter gave the school authorities the privilege of holding their literary programs yesterday afternoon and the Immaculate Conception school took advantage of the opportunity.

DELMAR AND DILLON

THEY MAY BE MATCHED TO RACE.

By Associated Press to The Sun

CHICAGO, Sept. 29.—For the past week or 10 days, in fact ever since Major Delmar began to threaten the two-minute mark, there has been much talk of the possibility of a match between him and Lou Dillon, the two-minute mare. All sorts of irresponsible stories have been set afloat regarding this.

Mr. Billings returned to Chicago yesterday, and in order that all these rumors and inventions may be set right, one of his close personal friends, who speaks with absolute authority, was empowered to state that, while it is well understood that the owner of Lou Dillon is an amateur, pure and simple, who has never allowed any horse owned by him to race for money, and never will; and consequently that any talk of a match of any kind between her and Major Delmare at Readville or any other place is idle, there is now open an excellent opportunity for the gelding to get a race with the mare if it is desired.

Lou Dillon is already entered in the $5000 gold challenge cup race for the amateur trotting championship, to be decided at Memphis, Oct. 21, owner to drive. E. E. Smathers of New York, who bought Major Delmar last week, announced at that time that he should enter him for the Memphis cup. If he is entered and started Lou Dillon will meet him then and there.

If Delmar is not started, she will be withdrawn and sent to beat her record that day, and Mr. Billings will drive The Monk, 2.05¾, or some other of his horses in the cup race. This announcement is made in order that Mr. Billings' position may be plainly understood, and that all talk of matches or races of any sort for a money consideration may be obviated.

A NEW MINISTER

Sakharoff Will Succeed Kuropatkin

By Associated Press to The Sun

PARIS, Sept. 29.—Official advices from St. Petersburg indicate that General Sukharoff, the chief of staff, will soon succeed General Kuropatkin as minister for war. The latter shared with M. Witte, the president of the council of ministers, and former minister of finance, the disfavor growing out of the Manchurian complications. The change is considered significant of a modification of the Russian military policy in the far east and along the Russian frontier in Europe, being contemporaneous with a reduction of the military department at Kief, commanding the Austrian frontier.

BOARD OF TRADE

Maine State Organization Met

By Associated Press to The Sun

BIDDEFORD, Me., Sept. 29.—For the third time in the history of the organization, the state board of trade met today in this city, holding the 14th annual session.

President Henry Lord of Bangor called the meeting to order at 2 o'clock when a large percentage of the members had gathered. He addressed the assemblage briefly on the general results of the year's work which were shown to be satisfactory.

Secretary Edward M. Blanding of Bangor paid tribute to the late Marshall N. Rich, of Portland, who for 13 years following the birth of the organization, served as secretary, until his death a few months ago. Maine business conditions were reported as generally satisfactory, the leading industries thriving and while in some sections there have been strikes the state is quite free from labor troubles.

Secretary Blanding said that there have been completed in Maine, since the advent of the new year, buildings aggregating in cost approximately $2,315,000, about forty per cent. of this being residential work. The figures show that there is under way in Maine work that will approximate $5,057,000. The amount of work projected is found to be about $5,826,000, of this amount $1,156,000 being for residential work and $1,677,000 for mills and factories.

Hon. Eugene Foss of Boston and Hon. Albert Clarke, secretary of the Home Market club of Boston, discussed the relative merits of the renewal of a reciprocity treaty between the United States and Canada.

Other topics discussed were "Maine at the St. Louis Exposition," and "The Objects and Works of a National Conference of Charities and Corrections to be Held in Maine in 1904."

RUSSIA'S GAME

Attempt to Get American Trade

TO OUST AMERICANS FROM YALU RIVER

Earl of Lonsdale Gives Views

By Associated Press to The Sun

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 29.—The Earl of Lonsdale has arrived on the steamer Ventura on his way home after making a tour of the world. He is accompanied by his wife, the Countess of Lonsdale, and a retinue of servants.

The earl's observations in the orient led him to believe that Russia was playing an interesting game in the far east. She may withdraw a battalion of troops, but as she does so, she sends in a railroad battalion to take its place. Russia is prepared to take all the trade now enjoyed by America. She will oust all the Americans from the Yalu river for one thing, cutting into the lumber trade now being shipped from this coast by opening up the extensive timber belt owned by Russian firms in the Yalu district.

Police Called in to Quiet the Republicans

Former Lieut-Gov. Woodruff in the Thick of the Fray — Men Were Pummelled, Clothes Torn and Disorder Prevailed

By Associated Press to The Sun

NEW YORK, Sept. 29—It was early today before the turmoil and disorder in the Kings county republican convention ceased and the work of naming a ticket was concluded. There was marked friction because of the inability of the conference to give representation on the ticket to all the elements of fusion, but the big battle of the night was over the nomination for district attorney, a prerogative of the republicans. Timothy L. Woodruff, Michael Lady and the other leaders had agreed that the place should go to George F. Elliott, but the convention was stampeded to Henry Bolden Ketcham after a contest on the floor that was at times so disorderly that police reserves had to charge the rough elements in the aisles.

When Elliott was placed in nomination for district attorney in connection with the program the delegates received his name in silence and a moment later began calling for Ketcham. The partisans of Norman S. Dike also began yelling for him. Woodruff, who was in the chair, endeavored to restrain the unruly elements, but the convention refused to heed him. Ketcham started for the platform to withdraw his own name, but was seized by his friends and dragged from the hall. Most of his clothes were torn and he was so badly used that he fainted. A quarrel in the middle of the hall started a fight that threatened to become general. Woodruff jumped from the platform and rode for the fighters, rescued Ketcham personally and by parting them, and was himself roughly handled. The police were called into the hall and a charge down the aisles partly restored order.

Woodruff, returning to the stage, appealed to the delegates and spectators for quiet, but for 20 minutes he could not get a hearing. He said he did not object to the contention over the candidate, as it was an open convention. Cheers for Ketcham and Dyke broke out again. Ketcham finally gained the platform, but was too weak to speak and was led to a seat. Dyke was also nominated, but withdrew in favor of Ketcham, who swept the convention against his own wishes.

By Associated Press to The Sun

NEW YORK, Sept. 29—Violent as were the advances in September cotton yesterday, they were surpassed today. When that option in the local market was forced up unprecedented in manner by the urgency of eleventh hour shorts and the aggressive attitude of the New Orleans bull leader. Opening at 1.70, last night's closing, it sold at 12 cents on the call. After that it advanced ten and fifteen points at a time until 12 cents was reached, pausing for a moment at it again moved up touching 12.08, compared with 11.12, the closing price of last Saturday.

This represents an advance of 196 points for the two days, or about $9.80 a bale.

The extent of the short interest that has brought about the record-breaking movement can only be guessed at but it is not thought to have been very extensive. Rumors have been circulated both today and yesterday of private settlements at the high prices and most in the trade believe the flurry pretty well over.

The advance in September had naturally alarmed shorts in the other positions, but the advancing tendency has been checked by the high movement and easier southern spot markets and today months later than September ruled more or less irregular but on the average under last night's closing.

LIVELY BUYING

A Feature in the Stock Market

By Associated Press to The Sun

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—Although stocks opened generally weak today with some new low records, notably in United States Steel common, supporting orders in large volume soon changed the course of the market and prices gained materially all around. The shorts covered extensively and the buying in the opinion of shrewd observers was the best seen for some days. The change from yesterday's demoralization was doubtless due largely to assurances from trustworthy sources that conditions are intrinsically sound; that the recent liquidation of the market is not affecting the substantial interests of the country and that fears of a money stringency are groundless. The best support of the morning came to such stocks as Pennsylvania, New York Central, St. Paul, Louisville & Nashville and Amalgamated Copper. The steel stocks also gained some inside support and buying of the same character helped to steady the fractions. Brokers who usually represent the big banking interest were prominent in the buying movement.

The market held steady throughout the morning on a decrease of business and towards noon showed renewed activity and further strength.

FOR MANSLAUGHTER

FORMER POSTMASTER HELD FOR SUPERIOR COURT.

By Associated Press to The Sun

CANTERBURY, Conn., Sept. 29—Thos. F. Brown, a former postmaster of Packerville, has been held for the superior court on the charge of manslaughter, growing out of the death of Thomas F. Montgomery on July 4 last. Bonds of $5000 were furnished by William H. Brown, postmaster at Jewett City, and J. Q. A. Rathburn of the same place.

The case grew out of a fishing trip on which the men went. It is alleged that Brown and Montgomery had a dispute while in the boat and that Brown knocked the other overboard. Brown on his return home at the time said Montgomery had fallen overboard, but Mrs. Montgomery secured an investigation and witnesses were produced who swore that they saw wounds on Montgomery's head and face.

WOMEN PLAY GOLF.

By Associated Press to The Sun

WHEATON, Ill., Sept. 29—Miss Spence of the Merion cricket club, Philadelphia, and Miss Elizabeth Young of the Calumet club, Chicago, today drove off from the first tee of the Chicago club links in the first qualifying round of the women's national golf tournament. A clear sky, and a very light breeze made conditions almost perfect for golf and an unexpectedly large gallery watched the contestants as they drove in pairs at intervals of five minutes. The woman's bogey for 6055 yards course is 100 and it was predicted that a medal score of 110 would qualify.

Both Miss Anthony, the favorite of western golfers for the national honors, and Miss Osgood of the Brookline club, Boston, who is regarded as a very efficient player in the final, got away on splendid drives.

The majority of the students are from this state. There is not a foreigner in any of the classes this year. In years past there have been students from Canada, while one year found two Japs.

E. E. Nelson, instructor of electrical engineering, has resigned and G. B. Obear, a graduate of Technology, has been appointed.

During the summer a new department was prepared for the opening of the school, which will be known as the fibre testing laboratory. In this department are a number of instruments and machines designed by the faculty, to which others purchased in this and foreign countries will be added. A sum of money has been donated by a person who does not wish to have his name divulged for the purpose of supporting this department.

The instructors of the school are as follows:—

E.; professor of Textile design and fabric structure, Fenwick Umpleby; professor of chemistry and dyeing, Louis A. Olney, A. Now for football, broken arms and battered heads.

Congratulations to the Mohairs, Hird and Priestley!

The caucuses are over. Now for a great democratic victory in November.

The local democracy presents a clean set of young and capable men for legislative honors in the coming election.

This is a week of conventions—a time when governors, senators and representatives, besides an army of grafters, will be made.

Gaston is gaining right here in Lowell. The sentiment is strong for him among the independent voters, as the returns on election day promise to show.

Aside from Representative Luce, the author of the bill, we know of no one who has gone into ecstasies over the workings of the Luce bill in the Boston primaries.

To the liquor squad—For the few things that you have done, the people will give you praise; for the many offences that you have overlooked you can expect only condemnation.

Nixon is out for the democratic nomination for mayor of New York. "The more the merrier," but it really does look as if Brooklyn hesitated just a trifle too long before trotting out her favorite son.

The Haverhill Gazette hints that Lowell will be avoided by the Ancients and Honorables on account of no-license. We rather think they would enjoy the beauty and order of a no-license city after passing through such cities as Fall River and Boston.

Andover street is too fine a boulevard to be neglected. The Tewksbury officials should not forget the amount of money expended in the construction of that roadway. A little care on the part of the street department of that town would keep the street in presentable condition.

Democrats, beware of the "good fellow" argument. Remember that your democratic friend is just as reliable in the matter of friendship as his republican opponent. The republicans give away nothing, so why should you cast your vote against your party on the ground of "good fellowship."

The health department's crusade on hen roosts should result in abating some of the nuisances that exist in our city and are a menace to public health. It is not the most pleasant thing in the world to have a hennery or a menagerie located close to one's dining or sleeping apartments. The health department cannot act too quickly in this matter.

A girl is running the entire business of the municipality of Linares, Mexico. She occupies all the offices from mayor down and her administration is so acceptable that the Mexican congress will vote her a medal. She is a woman of grit and determination and the success she has attained will, undoubtedly, inspire the woman suffragists to renewed action.

In handling the preliminaries to the nomination of the Tammany candidate for mayor of Greater New York, Charles Murphy, the Tammany leader, has shown himself a most astute political leader. It was no eleventh hour with its inevitable squabble for him. He declared himself and made known his preference when the Brooklyn men refused to come to the front. It looks like a sweeping democratic victory in Greater New York.

Now for another scandal. Colonel Henry Watterson, Louisville's great citizen, charges that the $40,000,000 which was exacted from the United States in accordance with the proposed compact with the Panama Canal company was to have been divided among thieves. The administration is certainly having its troubles, and it only goes to show that the game of "graft" is still the prominent factor in the republican camp.

Tonight the senatorial convention will meet to name Michael J. Mahoney for senator in the sixth district. Mr. Mahoney has served two terms in the house of representatives, and has been heard on all matters of public interest, especially labor matters, that have come before the state legislature during his terms of service and is worthy of the suffrage of the people. He will make a representative senator if favored with the votes of the majority of the citizens of the district.

Colonel Gaston opines that the Luce law is a blow at the independent voter inasmuch as it deprives him of his constitutional right at the primaries. A strange thing about the law is that in Boston it had rather the opposite effect from what was intended. The republicans looked to a reduced democratic vote at the primaries and were disappointed to learn of the immense outpouring of democrats as compared with the number of republicans who exercised their right at the caucus. It does seem that every measure the republican machine in this state frames to injure the democratic party acts as a boomerang.

THE COAL TRUST.

The coal trust starts in to curtail production in order to keep up the price. Yet some people will say that there is no coal trust. If ever there existed a trust anywhere on American soil, it exists in the combination that controls not only the coal supply but the agencies of transportation. There is no use of talking of the government controlling the trusts while the trusts control the government as at present seems to be the case.

TOO MANY FADS.

Mrs. Julia E. Duff, of the Boston school board, charges that fads and specialization greatly hamper the practical work of the public school. She claims that "instead of drawing out the pupil's power by systematic and thorough training in the few essentials, he is constantly deluged with an infinite number of unessentials which serve only to weaken his power of concentration and to waste his mental and physical energy. The consequence is that we are turning out every year thousands of public school graduates who have been taught a smattering of numerous pretty things, but who are wretchedly poor spellers, slipshod readers, inaccurate arithmeticians, totally crude and incompetent speakers and writers, and yet are holders of diplomas certifying to successful examination in all sorts of esthetic courses."

SEEN AND HEARD

Duke, the big yellow dog, that bore so great a likeness to a lion, is dead. A few years ago he was used as a lion by the Hosfords in one of the most comical and unique parades ever seen in this city. He was clipped so as to look the real lion and his trainer was getting along finely in the cage until Duke got a whiff of fried liver and onions cooking at the old homestead. It was then that the natives were treated to the most laughable feature of the parade. It was the first exhibition of a barking lion ever seen in Lowell and it made a great big hit. Duke sniffed the air, wagged his tail, and barked as he never barked before. His cage was nothing more substantial than a dry goods box with slats across and as the second whiff of the liver and onions was wafted his way he broke prison, carrying the dry goods box and his keeper with him to the street. That was the last time Duke ever played lion and last night the poor old fellow moved on to the bow-wow land.

Andrew Carnegie made his first public address when he graduated from short skirts into trousers. Little Andrew, according to the legend, had long envied the children who, every Sunday, dressed in their best, went off to "the school," from which they returned enriched with papers and picture cards. He was a happy boy when he was first sent there.

"Does anyone know a nice text?" asked the pretty teacher, after several children had primly "spoken their parts."

Up went the hand of the boy. The teacher looked surprised.

"Do you know a text, Andrew?" she asked doubtfully.

"Yes," said Andrew. "'A penny saved is a penny earned!'"

When the little Carnegies, including the enterprising Andrew, yearned unwisely for the seductive wares of the neighboring candy shops, their mother used to encourage them to be thrifty by repeating the proverb, "A penny saved is a penny earned." Andrew had hearkened and heeded, hence his precocious text.

Years afterward, when, by a careful observance of this "text," he was in a position to become a philanthropist, the teacher recalled the incident and told it to her friends.

A little story that has to do with the renting of a tenement and into the web of which is also woven a few loose yarns from the tail end of the coal famine, was told me the other day. The house was advertised to rent and a woman saw the ad and found the owner of the house. He was showing the woman through and she seemed fairly well satisfied with the upstairs portion of the house, but the cellar wasn't quite so inviting. She was bent upon seeing it, however, and the man lighted a candle, "Step down ahead of me," he said to her, and the woman stepped. The family that had occupied the house during the coal famine season had used the cellar stairs for wood. The owner of the house didn't know that and when the woman stepped she went all the way and landed in water up to her knees. It wasn't a very deep cellar, to be sure, but the water was there and she was very wet. She hollered, "Murder!" and called to the man to help her up. He wouldn't help her, he said, until she stopped screeching, and when she consented to, he gave her his hand and pulled her up. She wanted to go right away quick, but the shrewd man wouldn't allow her. "You must stay here," he said, "until I get a doctor to see if you're injured."

"But I'm soaking wet," she insisted.

"Can't help that," he replied. "I must have you examined so that if you bring suit I will know where I'm at." Finally, after the woman assured him that she would not bring suit, he allowed her to go. The house is still vacant.

"The trolley car," said a prominent oculist the other day, "is the cause of more distressing and serious eye troubles than all the other so-called abuses of our over civilization. It is true that we will misuse our eyes in many ways, but the worst abuse of them is reading in trolley cars.

"In the steam railroad trains the motion is entirely different from that of the electricity-propelled vehicle. There are few jerks and false starts, and the vibration, owing to the weight of the cars, the solidity of roadbeds, and the steady speed, is not particularly noticeable when reading. But the trolley car does not maintain the same rate of speed for more than a few moments at a time. It is constantly swaying and jerking. The roadbed is so light that the car bounces along like a billiard ball, and the eye that is trying to read is forced to follow quivering lines up and down and criss-cross.

"I have had dozen of patients lately whom I have relieved entirely by merely making them stop reading in the trolley car.

"Many men and women wonder why they have those queer, 'blinding' headaches when they reach home after their nightly ride in the cars. Well, most of them have the headache that results from the eye strain. The trouble is insidious, and the eye itself is rarely pained. The pain comes from the strained, superinflamed nerves behind the eye, and they carry their trouble on to the brain. Stop reading in trolley cars, and there will be fewer mysterious headaches."

SIX DAY RACE

PHILADELPHIAS ANNUAL EVENT OCCURS NEXT MONTH.

The annual six day go-as-you-please pedestrian race, which has been one of the sporting features in Philadelphia, will take place during the week beginning November 13, and ending November 18.

The race this year will be run under new conditions owing to the law being changed in the state of Pennsylvania and in order to overcome the restrictions against continuous six-day racing Manager Eckhardt has changed the event into a team race. This change promises to make the race more exciting and insures fast work from the start to the finish.

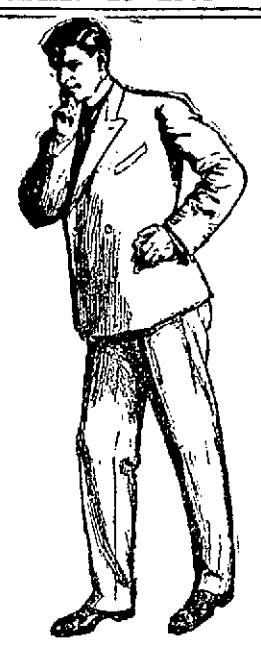

All of the old timers, Cunavaugh, Dineen, Hegleman, Golden Glick, Howarth, Cartwright, Barnes, Nolan, Norcmac, Davis, the Indian, have already started into training for the big race. But the new conditions of the race make the event a very open one and will give the new element a chance to carry off the first prize.

Entry blanks and all other information pertaining to the race can be had by addressing John P. Eckhardt, 213 N. 13th Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Breaks Into the Polo League

There is considerable talk of Lowell getting into the polo league which is being made up under the direction of Jacob Morse, Tim Murnane and Willie Parsons. The circuit at the present time includes Lawrence, Chelsea, Lynn, Salem, Stoneham and Woburn. It is doubtful if the local enthusiasts want to see Lowell in such a league. They would much rather do without polo for a year or so and then see the real article.

Lowell has been in the habit of seeing good polo, or at least we saw championship polo played here for two years. Towards the latter part of last season the western league had a little the better of the argument and put eastern polo to the very bow-wows and this year all the polo players who are worth anything will be found in the western league. The Lawrence Sun-American in writing on the prospects for polo mentions the names of Pierce, Curtis, Bannon, Devlin, Murphy, Mead and Dawson. "Dickey" Pierce will manage one of the western teams and as for the other players mentioned if they can land positions in the west they will do so. The only thing that will keep these men in the east will be the fact that they are not fast enough for the western players, or rather the fact that they are not fast enough for the western players, or rather the eastern players in the west.

We had our innings with polo in this section of the country and at the present time the west is on top, but next year or possibly the year after the east will be a hot bed and the eastern players together with a number of westerners will make their way to this section of the country and pitch their tents. While we would like to see polo we would much rather not see any for a couple of years than have second rate teams which have no license to appear in a rink.

Bill Parsons, who has been in Los Angeles, writes that his pet scheme, the Ohio league, is up the fine, or in other words, that he has received the freeze out in the west, but Wise Willie wires on: "Tell the people in Lowell and vicinity that they will have polo this year." The above few words caused "Me and Jake" to look into the matter of the new league and after looking it up decided that they would gain control of the whole shooting match by allowing the league promoters to use the name of the American league. The promoters, directors, or whatever they termed themselves, fell easy victims and even went so far as to appoint "Me and Jake" president and secretary. Bill Parsons is now on his way east to get into the game which his advance guard made easy for him. Oh, Willie! You are the wise one.

PRELIMINARY EXAMINATION

IN THE CASE AGAINST SENATOR GREEN.

By Associated Press to The Sun

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., Sept. 29.—The preliminary examination of Senator George E. Green on charges of conspiracy and bribery in connection with post office investigations took place here yesterday, before U. S. Commissioner Hall. U. S. District Attorney Curtiss, on behalf of the government, moved that the proceedings be adjourned until October 10, stating that he had not given the matter necessary research to present it to this court at present.

John E. Stanchfield said that the defendant was ready to proceed with the case and he now wished it understood that the defence did not ask for the delay. He realized, however, that it is proper that the district attorney should have time to look over the case. The commissioner thereupon adjourned the case until October 12.

OUT IN DUNSTABLE

GAME WARDENS ARE THICKER THAN PARTRIDGES.

According to the statement of some Nashua sportsmen the game wardens are thicker than partridges just over the Massachusetts border in the town of Dunstable, and especially in the vicinity of Island pond. Last week a couple of Nashua men went over that way to hunt partridges and gray squirrels. The actions of two men they saw attracted their attention, and, meeting some one shortly afterward at a farmhouse, they inquired about the men they had seen and were informed they were game wardens. It seems, according to a report, that the wardens in Tyngsboro and Dunstable are paying particular attention to New Hampshire huntsmen this fall, and if there is any attempt to carry game over the state line some one will be "nabbed." It is whispered that perhaps the activity of the Massachusetts officers is an attempt to "get back" because of the wholesale prosecution of Bay state men who violate the game laws in this state. Game violations are very plentiful in the towns of Hudson, Pelham, Windham and Salem, and the majority of the parties come from Lowell or Lawrence.

MARTIN AT LARGE

He Succeeds in Eluding His Pursuers

By Associated Press to The Sun

NORTHFIELD, Vt., Sept. 29.—Adelbert Martin, who is under indictment for murderous assault upon Mrs. Stephen Tromblee at South Northfield last Tuesday night, has again sent his defi to the officers who are searching for him, through farmer John Verge, at whose home he stopped for food, and to whom he said that the three deputy sheriffs on his track would never catch him alive.

Martin appeared at the farm in the town of Warren, 17 miles north of this place, early yesterday, and asked for something to eat. He was promptly recognized and an effort was made to detain him. He, however, declined an invitation to sit down with the family at breakfast, but took some food in his hand and hurried away.

While one member of the household hurried to the nearest telephone station to notify the police at Northfield, others followed Martin down the road and attempted to engage him in conversation.

Martin had little to say and in a few moments abruptly left his companions, entered the woods and disappeared. Officers who took up the trail later spent the day in futile search.

PURSUERS ALWAYS OUTWITTED.

The way in which Martin has for nearly a week evaded his pursuers, occasionally stopping at a farmhouse and begging food, but always disappearing at the approach of any considerable number of men, and yet remaining always within a radius of 20 miles of the scene of his alleged crime, is thoroughly puzzling to the police and has resulted in terrorizing farmers' families throughout this section.

Martin is regarded practically as an outlaw. That he is clever is proved by the way in which he has repeatedly outwitted those in pursuit of him. In whatever direction he has taken his advent has been followed by reports of hen roosts robbed and orchards visited.

Daily he appears at some point where he is recognized either by acquaintances or those familiar with the description of him sent broadcast, but never where there are officers or sufficient number of men to effect his capture.

A large revolver protrudes from his hip pocket and it is believed that he would not hesitate to use the same if necessary.

From daylight yesterday 200 men armed with all sorts of firearms and other weapons have continued the organized search begun Sunday.

The men are divided into three posses, working under the direction of Deputy Sheriffs Martin Fitzgerald and Benjamin Gates of Montpelier, and Frederick Mosely of this town respectively.

Every foot of ground within 10 miles of this place has been gone over. Even after nightfall the search has been continued, and last night sentinels were posted at numerous points on all roads leading out of this place and a system of signals has been arranged by which the sentinels can communicate with one another promptly.

FRIENDS MAY BE AIDING HIM.

Martin is in poor health, and for this reason it is believed that he cannot travel more than eight or ten miles a day, and that he is depending less upon his ability to cover long distances than upon his wits to elude his pursuers when they are close upon him.

Martin is unique in many ways. He is supposed to be a native of Calais, where his father, James Martin, lives. His first appearance in Northfield was last winter when he hired a hall here and caused advertising matter to be distributed that he would speak on his travels.

Disgusted by lack of patronage, he deserted the lecture platform, and later, it is said, announced himself as an agent for the anti-saloon league. Following this he appeared in the role of a private detective, and also as an agent for farm machinery. He became acquainted with Mrs. Tromblee through having her do his washing.

Martin's case recalls that of the negro, Osborne, who several years ago broke into a house and attempted to assault a woman. The negro was arrested the day following, and at his trial in the county court received a sentence of 20 years in state prison.

The town officials are considering the advisability of offering a reward for the capture of Martin, and it is expected that an announcement will be made by them today.

THE POLITICAL HUNTING SEASON HAS OPENED.

BOTH ARRESTED

Boston Police Made Good Capture

BELL BOYS SUSPECTED OF BLOWING OPEN SAFE

Money Found In Their Possession

By Associated Press to The Sun

BOSTON, Sept. 29.—The police last evening, acting under the directions of Deputy Hanscom, arrested Curtis Montjoy, aged 20, and George Dorsey, aged 21, as they alighted from a train at 10.30 at the Huntington avenue station, and thus brought to a sudden end the flight of the men who had started yesterday morning from Jamestown, N. Y., where, it is alleged, they had an hour before boarding the train, blown open a safe in the Clifford hotel and stolen the strong box inside it, as well as the contents of the money drawer.

Both are colored and were employed at the hotel as bell boys. Dorsey not long ago lived on Buckingham street in this city, and the other went to Jamestown from Chicago. The strong box was found by the police, last evening in a bag that Dorsey carried, and it was still unopened, although there was evidence of an attempt to force the cover. In the pockets of one was found $50 and on the other $20. Dispatches from Jamestown say that there was about $150 in the box. Both men say they will go back without requisition papers.

Nothing was known of the break at the hotel until yesterday morning, when the safe was found to have been blown open and the money taken.

When the Jamestown police were told of it, one of the patrolmen remembered of having seen two colored men board the 5 o'clock train for the east. As it is rather unusual for passengers to get on that train, he noticed them particularly, and was able to give a pretty good description of them.

As Montjoy and Dorsey were both missing from their morning duties at the hotel, it was at once presumed that they were the guilty ones, and descriptions of them were telegraphed to different cities, particularly to Boston.

Chief Watts detailed some of his inspectors to cover the North and South stations. Last evening Deputy Hanscom thought it would be a good idea to keep an eye on some of the outlying stations, as he thought the fugitives might decide to leave the train before reaching town, so he assigned some patrolmen from Charlestown to look out for Prison point, and sent some division 16 patrolmen to cover the Huntington avenue station.

The patrolmen had hardly taken up their posts at the Huntington avenue station when the train rolled in, and from it there stepped two colored men who answered the description of the men wanted. They were locked up in the city prison and the fact reported to the Jamestown police.

HENRY LLOYD

WRITER ON ECONOMIC SUBJECTS IS DEAD.

By Associated Press to The Sun

CHICAGO, Sept. 29.—Henry D. Lloyd, a widely-known writer on economic subjects, died yesterday at his home in Winnetka, of pneumonia, after a week's illness. He was born in New York city May 1, 1847. From 1869 to 1872 Mr. Lloyd was assistant secretary of the American free trade league, organized by William Cullen Bryant, David A. Wells and other prominent reformers. He took an active part in the organization of the young men's municipal reform association of New York in 1870, which contributed materially to the overthrow of the Tweed machine in that year. He published a manual for voters with the characteristic title, "Every Man His Own Voter," which was distributed throughout the city in that campaign.

Lloyd came to Chicago in 1872, and until 1885 occupied a position as an editorial writer on the Chicago Tribune. Since then he has devoted his time to the publication of articles on labor problems in the current magazines.

TOOK TWO GAMES

Boston Americans Defeat St. Louis

By Associated Press to The Sun

BOSTON, Sept. 29—The champions concluded the regular schedule yesterday, with a double victory over St. Louis, shutting the visitors out in the second game. The first game was marred by clumsy fielding but was close enough to be interesting. The visitors played listlessly in the second game and could do nothing with Dineen's pitching. The errors of Bowcock and Shannon were costly and Sutthoff was batted freely. Interest centred in the clever fielding of Boston, though no sensational plays were made. The score:

NEW YORK, Sept. 29 Manager Griffith put in a new battery yesterday against Detroit, and while Quick lasted only two innings, Bliss, who took his place, was effective and the locals won. LYMAN MILLS

ASK FOR AN ABATEMENT OF TAXES.

By Associated Press to The Sun

SPRINGFIELD, Sept. 29.—The arguments in the case of the Lyman mills of Holyoke, petitioner for abatement of taxes, against the city of Holyoke, were heard by Judge E. B. Sheldon of Boston, in the equity sitting of the Superior court yesterday.

The case which has been pending for seven years, involves the valuation of the Lyman mills plant. The Holyoke assessors estimate its value at $1,103,150, and have imposed taxes on that basis since 1896.

Commissioner Arthur Lord, who first heard the case, found for the city of Holyoke.

The evidence submitted before Commissioner Lord was placed before Judge Sheldon in six large typewritten volumes, and further evidence will be introduced.

By Associated Press to The Sun

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 29—Rear Admiral Stephen B. Luce, whom some of the republicans intended to ask to become a candidate for mayor, will not run for the office.

The admiral is spending a few weeks in the Adirondacks and has written to a friend here that he could not consent to enter politics to such an extent as running for mayor would require.

Many republicans who felt that the admiral would make a popular candidate are disappointed.

HAD ROUGH TIME

Young Men Caught in Storm

BEACHED THEIR YACHT ON PEDDOCK'S ISLAND

Baled Water All Night Long

By Associated Press to The Sun

DEDHAM, Sept. 29.—There are 13 young men of East Dedham, Germantown and Roslindale who say they are through with yachting, for a time, at least, because of the experience they had Sunday.

The party was composed of 11 members of the Twelve associates and two guests. The remaining member of the associates, George Ratcliffe, staid at home, and does not regret that he missed the trip.

It was late yesterday afternoon when the 13, tired and drenched, but happy, arrived at their homes to be received with joy by their anxious families. Ever since Sunday night, when their non-appearance caused their friends to worry, numerous inquiries had been made.

The party left the South Boston yacht clubhouse about 3 Sunday morning on a small fishing trip. The yacht was in charge of Paul Young, its owner, and a crew of four men. The day was passed fishing near Minots light, where they anchored.

Having finished fishing the anchor was shipped and the party started for home, little realizing the tedious night before them. In the midst of their merriment the storm broke and then ensued a terrible experience for all. Tossed about like an eggshell the yacht seemed about to go down every minute. Finally the danger was increased by the vessel springing a leak. Taking turns the water was baled out as fast as it came in. All night long they were tossed about.

At 8.45 yesterday morning, however, they succeeded in beaching the yacht on Peddocks Island. All were thoroughly drenched and tired out.

Going across to Hingham they boarded the 12 o'clock boat to Boston, after sending word to their relatives. The yacht was left at Peddocks island.

The party comprised Gustave Richter, George Streng, Charles Smith, George Schmidt, Henry A. Pipping, Theodore G. Erler, Otto A. and Henry C. Winshman, brothers, Max Lemmer, John Gielst, Arthur L. Morgner, Henry Deran and Paul Tauber.

STREET CAR SERVICE

BROCKTON ALDERMEN HANDLE IT WITHOUT GLOVES.

By Associated Press to The Sun

BROCKTON, Sept. 29.—The local street car service was handled without gloves by the aldermen last night and two orders, one directing the mayor to appear before the railroad commissioners and the other calling for a mass meeting of citizens, were passed.

The first order authorizes the mayor to go to the railroad commissioners with a request that the 15-minute schedule on Belmont street recently abolished by the road, be restored and that a general improvement in service be made. The mass meeting is called for Monday evening at 8 o'clock, at which Mayor Coulter and the members of the street railway committee are to be present.

It is expected that this meeting will draw a large attendance of citizens, and data will be collected at this time for the mayor to present to the railroad commissioners.

Alderman Rapp was the author of the orders, and declared it a shame that the city should put up with such wretched service as is now provided. Women as well as men at certain times in the day have, he said, to stand on fenders and running boards and between car seats in journey to their homes, and he spoke of a case where cars supposed to seat 65 carry from 105 to 110 passengers every morning.

Alderman Cox referred to the recently passed law which deprives the city of authority in regulating its car service and said the matter should be agitated until the commissioners do something for the relief of the city.

INDICTMENTS VALID

IN THE CASE OF DRIGGS AND MILLER.

By Associated Press to The Sun

NEW YORK, Sept. 29—The validity of the indictments against Ex-Congressman Edmund H. Driggs of Brooklyn and George F. Miller, of New York agent of the Brandt-Deut Automatic Cashier company, charging them with participation in the postal frauds, was upheld in a decision handed down yesterday by Judge Thomas in the United States District court in Brooklyn.

Driggs was charged with receiving money while a congressman for furthering the interests of the Automatic Cashier company and Miller was accused of paying money to corrupt a congressman.

Demurrer was interposed in behalf of Mr. Driggs on the ground that the facts set forth in the indictment were insufficient to constitute a crime, that the case as alleged was barred by the statute of limitations, and that the sections under which the indictments were found were unconstitutional.

Judge Thomas holds that the alleged crime was committed while Driggs was a congressman and that so far as the statute of limitations was concerned the alleged payments were all made within three years before the indictment was found.

BANDS ON STRIKE

Chicago Parade Without Any Music

By Associated Press to The Sun

CHICAGO, Sept. 29—The marchers in the big centennial parade tonight will be compelled to tramp over the route without a musical note to cheer them. The Musicians' union last night positively refused to take part in the parade or to have anything whatever to do with the centennial celebration if the marine band of Washington is to play at the mass meeting in the Auditorium on Thursday night which is to be the final act of the celebration.

The union declares that its constitution forbids its members to have anything to do with an event in which enlisted men in the government service take part. The union, therefore, demanded that the invitation to the marine band be withdrawn or the union musicians would decline to furnish music for any part of the centennial celebration. The committee refused the demand and the playing by the marine band Thursday night will therefore be the only music of the celebration.

POLICE GUARD

At Offices of Lake Superior Company

Two Frenchmen Were Shot by the Police—The Situation in the Soo is Very Exciting

By Associated Press to The Sun

SAULT STE MARIE, Mich., Sept. 29—Last night the situation in the Canadian Soo, which has been the scene of serious rioting by the discharged employes of the Consolidated Lake Superior company, was very grave.

A meeting of the employes of the company was held in Barnes' hall yesterday morning and its proceedings were of the most heated character. The particular grievance which seemed to have inflamed the men to acts of disorder, was the promises of pay yesterday when the men who made the promises, the employes believe, knew they could not be fulfilled.

Immdiately after this meeting adjourned, the men went in a body to the office of the company determined to get their money or "get satisfaction," as they put it.

The doors of the office were locked and guarded by the police and all the men got was a bulletin posted upon the door which read as follows:

"Officers and employes of the Consolidated Lake Superior Co:

"The president and directors in New York have been unable to raise the money to pay the wages and salaries now due the men and officers of the company. Advices received from New York this morning indicate that our president and directors have a plan to raise the money necessary to not only pay the men, but to start up the works that seem to promise such success. The plan has the indorsement and promised support of Sir Wilfred Laurier, the premier of Canada, and G. W. Ross, premier of Ontario, and it is expected to produce the necessary money inside of 30 days. While we regret very much the inability of the company to pay today, the fact remains that there is no money to pay with.

"There seems to be only one thing left for them to do, and that is to accept offers of work elsewhere, leave their checks with friends, responsible attorney or business men to collect for them when the company pays. Bear in mind that your wages will have to be paid ultimately and constitute a justice obligation against the company which all the property and other assets will be liable for."

The notice instead of allaying the excitement of the crowd which by this time was estimated to number 1500, made them furious and despite the efforts of the combined strength of the local police and the company's private police force, rocks and other missiles soon filled the air, directed at the windows of the office buildings.

The assault was successful and a mass of frenzied rioters secured possession of the ground floor of the building, destroying everything movable that came in their path. A crowd of the office staff with drawn revolvers prevented their gaining access to the upper floors of the building. Every window and door in the building is smashed.

Some one then turned in an alarm of fire with a view of using the fire hose upon the mob. The firemen turned several streams on the crowd and drove them quite a distance from the building.

The arrival of the troops on the grounds armed with blank cartridges about 2 o'clock served to restore some semblance of order. The rioters then contented themselves with throwing stones at the building and hurling invectives at the soldiers, who established a "dead line," and prevented any approach toward the building by any of the rioters.

No reinforcements of militia have arrived from outside and the only defense against the mob which grows hourly, is a more or less demoralized police department and a small company of militia men. The greatest number of the mob are ignorant Italians, Finns, Norwegians and Frenchmen, the latter perhaps the hardest of all to handle. All have been drinking more or less, although the bars yesterday afternoon obeyed an order to close up. The mob is one which cannot be reasoned with and the man they seem most anxious to get at is Mr. Coyne, the assistant manager, who, in the absence of Mr. Shields, is in charge of the works. Mr. Coyne discreetly kept out of sight all day. Late yesterday afternoon the leaders of the mob held a conference and demanded that the company house the men in their hotel and boarding houses and feed them until the money for their wages is forthcoming. In order to appease the crowd this demand was granted and the men have taken possession of the White House, a large boarding house operated by the company. Provisions are being sent there to feed them.

An attempt is being made to put the street car system in the Canadian Soo, which suspended operations in the morning after an attack had been made upon it, into operation again. Two cars were sent out late yesterday heavily guarded.

Inasmuch as most of the rioters were not on the streets at the time this trial was made, no disorder occurred. It is estimated that there are 2000 men in the Soo, and these are reinforced by all the idle rabble in town. A train carrying 400 more woodsmen was expected to arrive on the Algoma Central late last night. The local police force is being strengthened by the addition of all the deputies who can be found, each man being given a badge and a revolver and ordered to use the latter whenever necessary. Considerable feeling has been aroused over the shooting of two Frenchmen by the police during the trouble yesterday morning. The rioters claim that the officers used their revolvers when it was unnecessary. Neither of the men is fatally hurt, however.

The mob threatens an attack upon police headquarters with a view of effecting the release of all the men who have been arrested. Both that building and that occupied by the fire department is guarded against attack.

The problem yesterday's developments have created is beyond the solution of any of the company officials on the grounds. Apparently their only hope is that the anger of the mob will spend itself and that the men will get out of town by degrees.

BUNCOED BY "SPOOK"

A Chelsea Man Makes the Charge

By Associated Press to The Sun

BOSTON, Sept. 29—Yielding to the bidding of his controlling spirit, as he supposed, Fred S. Barstow, a well known coal and wood dealer in Chelsea, took out a policy of insurance on his life, but subsequently discovered that the spirit he consulted was not one that had guided his destiny.

Since it was solely at the suggestion and advice of the spirit that he procured the policy, he is anxious to return it, now that he has learned, as he claims, that it was only a spiritualistic medium, who had assumed the appearance and shape of his controlling spirit, that he talked to.

While he has implicit confidence in the counsel that his governing spirit might give to him, he has little faith in any advice that might come from what he regards as an imposter, and wants his money back.

With that end in view he has brought a suit in the Municipal Civil court against E. T. Johnson of Salem, an agent for the Prudential Life Insurance company to recover $2000.

The case came up for trial yesterday before Judge Bolster in one of the civil sessions, but as the defendant had made no answer nor entered the appearance of counsel, it was ordered for a new marking, with the understanding that if the defendant did not appear damages would be assessed if the court concluded that the plaintiff was entitled to recover.

Plaintiff declares that the defendant is the agent of the insurance company named, and that the defendant, with intent to deceive him, represented that his controlling spirit desired him to take out an insurance policy.

Barstow is a believer in Spiritualism and held that the spirit of departed men could counsel and advise people while on this earth, which he asserts the defendant knew.

He affirms that the defendant induced a certain supposed Spiritualistic medium, at the time living in this city, to take the appearance and shape of the controlling spirit and to advise him to take out said policy of insurance.

The medium, on account of the inducements of the defendant, according to the plaintiff, took upon herself the form and appearance of the latter's controlling spirit, and while thus masquerading, as told, advised and ordered him to take out said insurance with the company mentioned.

While the medium was thus acting as the dominating spirit of the plaintiff, the latter, having implicit confidence in and trusting the same, gave the defendant agent an order for a policy of insurance on his life.

He declares he has learned that the advice was not given by his controlling spirit, and that the supposed Spiritualistic medium was not a proper one, and the order given to him was made on account of deceit, so he offered to return the policy to the company's agent from the city of Wilches, and made a demand for the return of his money, but the agent refused to accede to the demand.

He did not require any insurance and never would have obtained any if it were not for the misrepresentations that he alleges were made to him. He says he has suffered a loss and wishes to be reimbursed, so asks the court to aid him in obtaining justice.

AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENTS

IMMENSE EXPORT FROM UNITED STATES LAST YEAR.

Agricultural implements exported from the United States last year amounted to 21 million dollars in value; in 1893 they amounted to only 4½ million dollars in value; in 1883, to less than 4 million dollars; in 1873, to 2½ millions, and in 1853 to less than a half million dollars. The growth of exportation of this class of manufactures has been extremely rapid. Prior to 1865 the exportation of agricultural implements had never reached as much as a million dollars, and during the 25 years following that date the growth was slow, the total having reached about $3,350,000 in 1890. From that date forward, however, the growth was rapid. By 1895 the total was 5½ million dollars; in 1900, 16 millions, and, as already indicated, in 1903, 21 millions.

Of this total of 21 million dollars worth of agricultural implements exported last year, nearly 3 million dollars in value went to France, and about an equal sum to Argentina; a million and a half to the United Kingdom, and about an equal sum to Germany; a million and a quarter to Australia, and over a million to Africa. These are the figures of 1903. In 1893 the value of agricultural implements sent to France was but about $300,000, as against nearly 3 millions in the year just ended. The value of those sent to Germany in 1893 was about $300,000, against about 1½ millions in the year just ended. To Argentina the value in 1893 was about 1¼ millions, against nearly 3 millions in the year just ended.

These facts, presented by the department of commerce and labor, through its bureau of statistics, are especially interesting at the present moment, because of the publication now being made by that department and bureau of a series of reports from consuls in various parts of the world on the sales and opportunities for sales of agricultural implements in the various sections of the world which they represent. Those reports were called for by the department of state some months since at the request of the National Association of Agricultural Implement and Vehicle Manufacturers, and are to be printed in pamphlet form for the use of that association at its approaching annual meeting.

Few articles show a more rapid growth in exportation than do agricultural implements, or a wider distribution. As already indicated, the total has grown from a little over a half million dollars in 1861 to over 21 millions in 1903, or nearly 40 times as much in 1903 as in 1861, while manufactures of iron and steel, which growth has been looked upon as phenomenal, are only about 13 times as much in value of exports in 1903 as in 1861. The distribution of American agricultural implements has also extended to nearly all parts of the world. The bureau of statistics' export statement shows that reapers and mowers were sent in 1902 to over 50 different countries, and plows and cultivators to even a larger list of countries and dependencies. The sound of the American mower and reaper is heard in British, French, and Portuguese Africa, in Egypt, in European and Asiatic Turkey, in European and Asiatic Russia, in Japan, in India, in Australia, and in practically all of the South American countries and all of the countries of Europe, while the American plow and cultivator go to practically every country in the world.

CROWDED ROOMS

Discussed by the School Board Last Night

EVENING DRAWING SCHOOL TEACHERS APPOINTED

Opinion Received From City Solicitor

The school board met in regularly monthly session last evening and discussed the subject of overcrowded schoolrooms.

The subject was brought up by a joint report of the committee on teachers and rules, which provides for emergencies in such cases as the overcrowding of schoolrooms.

The report was submitted by Mr. Thompson, the chairman of the committee on rules, and is in pursuance of the civil service system of securing teachers for the schools. In the report the committee recommended the insertion in Section 4 of Chapter II of the rules the following: "If a teacher is absent he shall report the fact to the training school and a substitute teacher shall be sent at once to fill the vacancy. When a schoolroom is found to have an average attendance of fifty or more he shall notify the committee on teachers and, if they approve, shall notify the training school to send a teacher as an assistant to the regular teacher or as a temporary teacher in an overflow room if one can be opened. At the next meeting of the school committee he shall report the case for action in approval or disapproval by the board."

In connection with this amendment changes are made by rescinding parts of Section 19 of Chapter I and Section 3 of Chapter III.

Included in the report of the superintendent of schools were a few facts concerning the conditions of the school relative to the number of pupils being accommodated. Supt. Whitcomb reported in connection with this that there are 253 less pupils in the schools of Lowell this year than there were last year for the corresponding week. While this fact is encouraging as far as the crowding of the schools in general is concerned it does not relieve the congested conditions that are found in several instances. The superintendent stated that in several of the schools there are from 50 to 60 pupils in rooms that are constructed for the accommodation of a much smaller number. The remedy for this is mentioned in the report for the committees on teachers and rules which was accepted and adopted.

By a unanimous vote the committee on teachers was given full power to act in this matter.

DRAWING SCHOOL TEACHERS.

Dr. Allen, in his report on the evening drawing schools, submitted a list of teachers for election to the staff employed in these schools. This list includes the following: Machine drawing, S. G. Stephens, W. M. Foster, F. W. Farnham, H. S. Crysler, A. D. Colby, J. B. Conant, C. S. Jennings and C. F. Dupee; architectural drawing, H. P. Graves, D. G. W. Mansur, H. Rourke and Ralph Hayden; modelling, Miss E. Elizabeth Whitney, K. Burrage and E. Merchant; free-hand drawing, H. W. Wright, M. Paul, M. E. Cushing, E. C. Greene and C. Staples; substitutes, John T. Burns; janitor, Frank B. Hough; clerk, Miss Blake.

By vote of the committee the clerk cast one ballot for the election of all recommended by the sub-committee.

The managers of the Merchants and Manufacturers' exposition, to be held in Boston next month asked in a communication that the schools of this city be closed for one day to give the children an opportunity to attend the exposition and see the government exhibit and other displays. The matter of closing the schools was left over with the chairman and superintendent.

The superintendent reported that he had received from City Solicitor William A. Hogan an opinion in writing on the matter recently referred to him regarding the purchasing of revised school books with or without a two-thirds vote of the committee. In his opinion, the solicitor stated, that the question is one rather of fact than of law. The communication was read and accepted.

On motion of Mr. Regan it was voted to grant a leave of absence until the end of the present term of Miss Mary E. McGovern.

Dr. Marston and Dr. Taylor were the absentees.

A Busy Season For the Sculptors of America

THAT this is proving a banner year for American artists must be evident to all who have observed the increased patronage bestowed by our men of wealth upon the wielders of the brush and the chisel. Nor can there be any doubt in view of the increased activity of workers in every branch of art that recent years have witnessed a rapid development of the aesthetic side of the general public. A few years ago the recently advanced proposition to erect at Washington a national gallery of art much on the lines of the famous Louvre of France would have aroused but mild curiosity; today men of riches have enthusiastically espoused the project, and there is a widespread conviction that it will not be long before a national art gallery will be a reality. This impetus to art has undeniably been strengthened by our great expositions of recent years, such as the Columbian, the Pan-American, the Transmississippi and the Charleston, and lovers of the beautiful are now hopefully awaiting the Louisiana Purchase exposition at St. Louis, confident that it will not fail to play its part in educating the artistic tastes of the people.

A consideration of but one phase of the aesthetic features of the big fair will make it manifest that the quest of the beautiful will not be neglected. In studios in widely separated cities and towns sculptors are hard at work and have been hard at work for months making designs and models for the magnificent groups and individual pieces with which it is proposed to embellish the fair grounds and buildings. Foremost sculptors of the land have been engaged by the chief of the sculptural department, Karl Bitter, who in making his selections and drawing up his scheme has had the assistance of such men as Ward, St. Gaudens and French. When it is stated that there will be scattered throughout the territory covered by the exposition no less than 250 groups and over 1,000 single pieces of sculpture the magnitude of the undertaking will be manifest, as also must be the beneficent results to be attained by such a display of high art.

One of the more conspicuous groups will be that known as "The Apotheosis of St. Louis," a feature so arranged as to be the first object to catch the visitor's eye after he passes through the main entrance into the grounds. At the foot of an immense architectural base will be seated a female figure symbolical of the city of St. Louis bidding her guests welcome. On either side of the figure heralds will be grouped, and the base itself will support an equestrian statue of the French monarch Louis IX., from whom the city derived its name.

The artist to whom Mr. Bitter intrusted the execution of this work is Charles H. Niehaus, long one of our better known sculptors and a man whose career should inspire the thousands of ambitious young men and women of America struggling to win fame and fortune. Mr. Niehaus as a boy had no opportunity to secure the art education for which he longed, since he had to earn his living at an early age. But the trade he adopted, wood engraving, proved in itself a valuable education. He became an expert draftsman, engaged in stonecutting and finally began to model in clay, attending a school of design in Cincinnati, where he won a prize that encouraged him to burn his bridges and make a pilgrimage to Europe.

The aspiring American then entered the Royal academy at Munich, where his privations must have been great, for his purse was light. He persevered, however, and was finally awarded commissions that enabled him to travel and study the best sculpture of the old world. Returning to America, he was successful from the outset, his native state of Ohio being especially prompt to recognize his merit. Since he opened his American studio he has chiseled some notable pieces of statuary, among which may be mentioned a design for the monument of William the Silent, the statue of Moses in the Congressional library, the Hahnemann monument in Washington and the statues of Farragut and Lincoln and the one of McKinley at Muskegon, Mich.

The very center of the exposition picture, the cascades, will be adorned with statuary that cannot but earn the praise of all lovers of art. The cascades sculpture has been divided between two artists, H. A. MacNeil supplying the central decorations, while the side work will be executed by Isidore Konti, whose studio is in New York. The side cascades are to represent the Atlantic and Pacific oceans, and for "The Spirit of the Pacific" Mr. Konti has modeled a flying female figure with an albatross, while he symbolizes the Atlantic by a vigorous youth standing amid clouds, arm uplifted, and an eagle at his feet. One of the prettier minor groups which Mr. Konti has designed for his cascades decorations typifies the animal wealth of the ocean. The illustration shows Mr. Konti at work on this group.

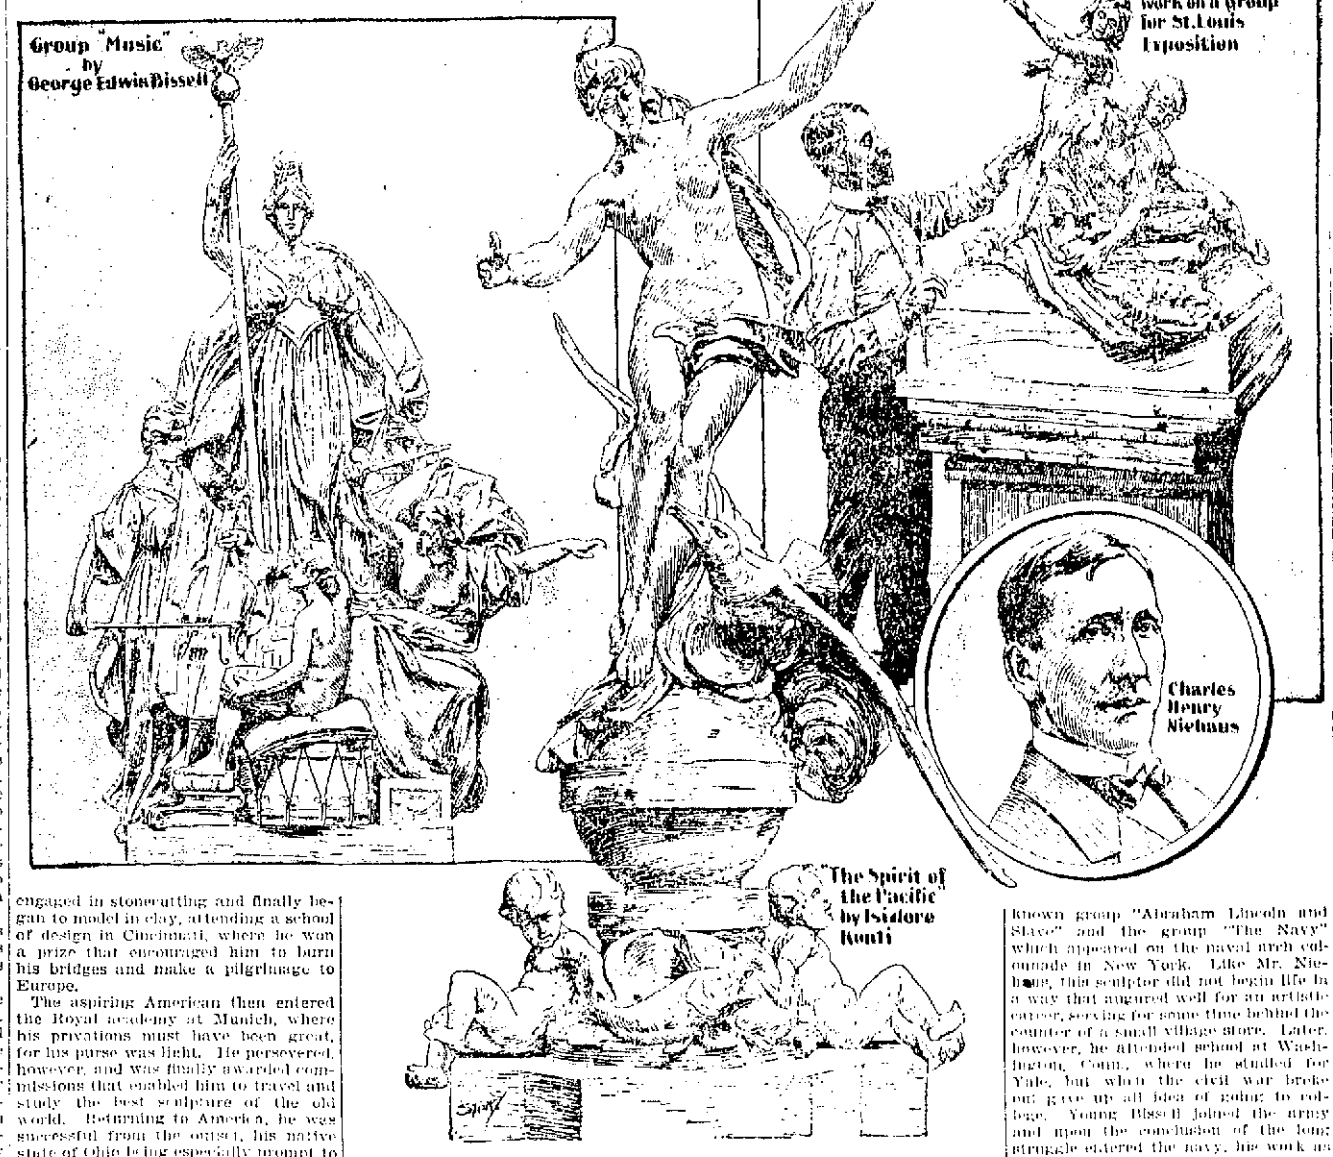

The main entrance to the Liberal Arts palace is to be beautified by two groups from the studio of George Edwin Bissell, the author of much monumental sculpture, including the well known group "Abraham Lincoln and Slave" and the group "The Navy" which appeared on the naval arch colonnade in New York. Like Mr. Niehaus, this sculptor did not begin life in a way that augured well for an artistic career, serving for some time behind the counter of a small village store. Later, however, he attended school at Washington, Conn., where he studied for Yale, but when the civil war broke out gave up all idea of going to college. Young Bissell joined the army and upon the conclusion of the long struggle entered the navy, his work as a sculptor not beginning until many years after he had come of age. Like so many other artists, he journeyed to Paris, where he ultimately established a studio. Of late years both his home and his studio have been at Mount Vernon, N. Y.

Among the many other sculptors to receive commissions from Mr. Bitter are two picturesque figures, Charles Albert Lopez and James A. Fraser. The former is a Mexican by birth and a Cuban by blood, while the latter spent many years near the Sioux reservation. In addition to modeling a statue of Bienville, the French officer who during the reign of Louis XV. was governor of Louisiana and founded the city of New Orleans, Mr. Lopez has designed a quadriga for the Liberal Arts palace, in which task he has worked in collaboration with F. G. R. Roth, the well known sculptor of animal life. It is said that this quadriga will take rank as one of the most beautiful effects in the sculptural features of the Arts palace. Mr. Fraser will be represented by an equestrian statue of a Cheyenne chief, which Mr. Bitter intends to place on one of the approaches to Art hill as a reminder of the Indian tribe whose home was once the Mississippi valley. This young artist for Mr. Fraser, who is a Minnesota man, is but twenty-eight years old, is also busily engaged upon a statue of Thomas Jefferson to appear on one side of the Missouri building's main entrance, the statue on the other side being of Napoleon.

Mr. Bitter himself, despite the demands made upon his time by the administrative duties of his office, will be represented by some interesting work, as, among other things, he is engaged in modeling the sculpture for the Louisiana Purchase monument. To him will also fall the task of overseeing the designing of models and their enlargement into figures that are to please the eyes of the millions who will visit the fair. His career is full of interest to those who delight in studying the personality and development of men. Born in Austria in 1867, his sculpture won Bitter a gold medal in his native city of Vienna before he was twenty years old, but the pleasure that this gave him was soon wiped out by the information that he had been drafted into the army as a private. Luckily for him, he incurred the enmity of a martinet of a lieutenant, and in less than a year young Bitter deserted, ultimately making his way to this country, where he lost no time in taking out naturalization papers. He soon secured employment with a firm of architectural decorators and while working for them as a "skilled laborer" entered into competition for an important commission. His competitors were sculptors who did not regard him as a dangerous rival, and great was their surprise when he secured the award.

Two years later Mr. Bitter was commissioned to make the designs for the Administration building at the Columbian exposition, and his work was such that when the Pan-American exposition came into being he was appointed director of sculpture. He thus brings to bear upon his present task an intimate acquaintance with the prerequisites of exposition statuary, and those who make the trip to St. Louis will doubtless find that he has profited greatly from his past experience in this line of work.

ARCHIBALD M. WINTHORPE.

A CELEBRATED PORTRAIT BY THE FAMOUS TITIAN.

Madonna Isabella d'Este, Marchese di Mantova, was one of the foremost figures in the Italian renaissance. It is not so generally known that the monarchs of England are descendants of the ancient family into which she married. One of the Estes wedded a German princess of the house of Guelph, and their son received in 1071 the investiture of the duchy of Bavaria, becoming an ancestor of the houses of Brunswick and Hanover. The celebrated Titian portrait of Isabella d'Este, from which the accompanying illustration was made, is to be found in the Imperial museum at Vienna.

A PERILOUS OCCUPATION.

As the accompanying illustration shows, samphire gathering is an occupation that has its dangers. The samphire is a perennial plant, a native of Europe, which grows chiefly on rocky cliffs near the sea. It makes an excellent pickle and is also used as a salad, but can only be gathered by those who are accustomed to dizzy heights.

UNIQUE PHASES OF LIFE FROM ALL OVER THE WORLD

GENERAL OLIVER, THE NEW ASSISTANT SECRETARY OF WAR.

General Robert Shaw Oliver, the new assistant secretary of war, comes to the department after a long experience as soldier and business man. He has served in the regular army and has also been active for more than thirty years in developing the national militia. General Oliver took part in the civil war as a volunteer and was afterward commissioned in the Seventeenth United States infantry. He was later transferred to the cavalry service, in which he did good work during several Indian campaigns. After leaving the army he moved from Boston, where he was born fifty-six years ago, to Albany, with the civic life of which city he has since been closely identified. In 1870 General Oliver was married to Miss Marion Rathbone, the daughter of General John F. Rathbone, a wealthy manufacturer of Albany. Their family consists of one son and three daughters. The Misses Oliver are very good looking and equally accomplished. They have spent much time abroad with their mother completing their education and are also fine athletes, being at home in golf, tennis and equestrianship. There can be no doubt that while social and official Washington will welcome their advent, the society circles of Albany will sadly regret their departure to the Capital City.

CUTTING EEL GRASS BY MACHINERY.

An inventive Long Islander whose home is on the shore of the Great South bay, the waters of which often become choked by the rapidly growing eel grass, has invented a machine to rid the bay of this nuisance, and it is probable that he will find his machine very much in demand in other sections of the country. The illustration shows the machine being "tried out" on a Long Island pond.

THE KING OF BOOKS.

Many bookophiles will envy the title accorded James C. Young of Minneapolis by the foreign press, though none will deny his right to be termed the

JAMES CARLETON YOUNG.

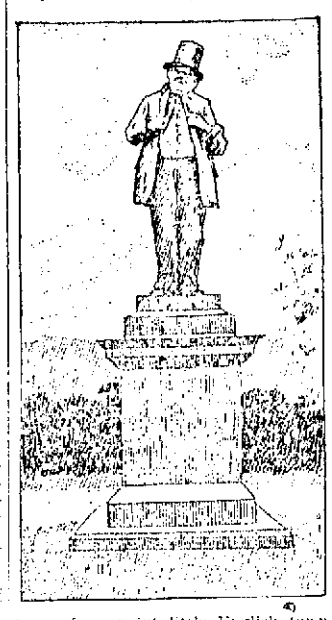

"King of books." His collection, which includes many thousands of volumes, is undoubtedly the most unique in the world, embracing as it does not only sumptuously bound and first editions, but hundreds of copies signed by the authors, many of whom are dead.

POSSIBLE CONSUMPTION CURE.

That radium and thorium can be used to cure consumption is the belief of Frederick Soddy, the eminent English chemist. He thinks the radioactive gas from these metals can be inhaled and that this will kill the germs of tuberculosis.

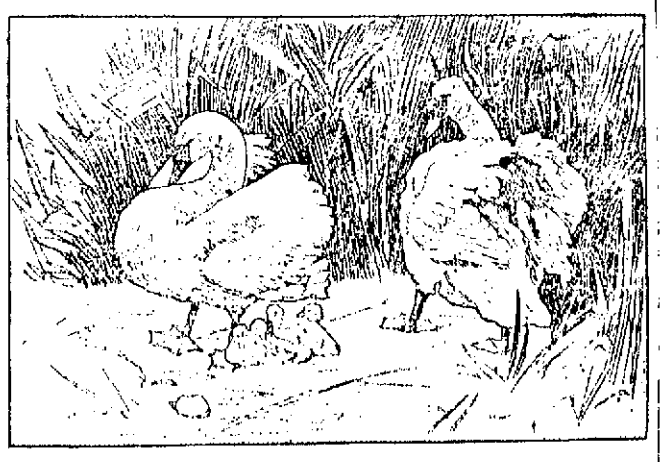

STATUE TO A BLIND MAN.

A unique interest attaches to the statue shown in the illustration. Its subject was for forty years the bell man of a quaint little English town, fulfilling his duties despite the fact that he was blind. The statue is also noteworthy as being one of the few in which the figure wears a "plug" hat.

SWAN RAISING A SOCIETY FAD.

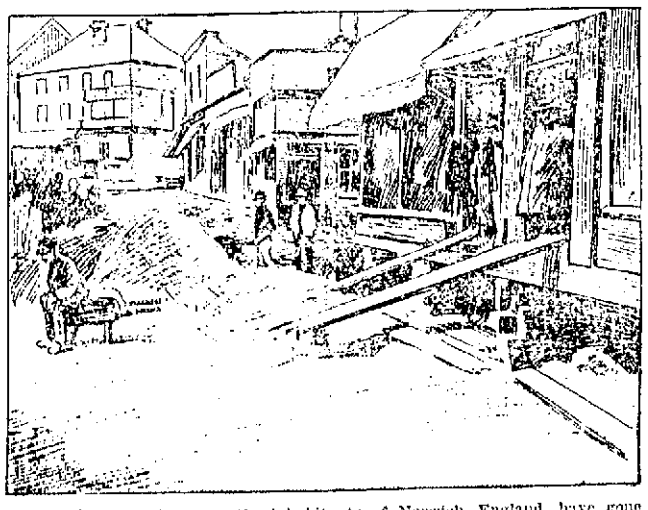

One of the recent ennui destroying fads of the wealthy is the breeding of swans. The photograph from which the accompanying illustration was made was obtained on the estate of a millionaire who has a pronounced taste for the propagation of all manner of waterfowl. It gives an excellent idea of the graceful lines of the swan. If their song was but as attractive as their appearance no fault could be found with them.

"THE LITTLE FATHER OF THE RUSSIAN FLEET."

One of the most interesting objects that figured in the recent bicentenary celebration of the founding of St. Petersburg was the boat, shown in the accompanying illustration, presented to Czar Ivan the Terrible by Queen Elizabeth. When Peter the Great was a boy in Moscow he used to play with this boat and had it repaired so that he could sail in it on a small lake. This aroused in him an interest in naval matters that lasted throughout his life, culminating in the founding of the Russian navy, Peter's first war ships being virtual replicas of this boat. It was Peter who christened her "The Little Father of the Russian Fleet," a name by which she has been known ever since.

A TOWN WITH SINKING STREETS.

For the past six years the inhabitants of Norwich, England, have gone to bed without knowing whether their houses would be standing when they awoke in the morning. Norwich is built over vast rock salt mines, many of which have been worked and abandoned while others are still being excavated. The result is that there are great cavities just under the earth's crust, and often the shell, if that term is permissible, is too thin to support longer the weight of the buildings. The illustration shows a portion of the main street of Norwich and the way in which the people have to jack up their stores and houses. Some of the streets of the town have sunk more than twelve feet in the last few years.

HON. GUY CURRIER

May be Colonel Gaston's Running Mate

The democratic candidate for lieutenant-governor will probably be selected today when several of the party leaders meet to talk over convention matters.

Two men are prominently mentioned for the ticket, ex-Mayor Philip O'Connell of Worcester, and ex-Senator Guy W. Currier of Methuen.

O'Connell has stated through friends, that he prefers not to have his name considered, and this eliminates him. Currier is a vote-catching name, but will accept if the party leaders really wish him to run.

The remainder of the ticket is settled on. E. A. Ezekiel of Springfield will be named for secretary of state, F. N. Tetrault of Southbridge for auditor, T. C. Thatcher of the Cape for treasurer, and J. J. Flaherty of Gloucester for attorney-general.

The Hon. C. G. Hamlin will probably make the speech nominating Gaston.

REPUBLICAN PLATFORM.

The platform which the republican party will adopt at the convention Friday is ready, and today ex-Governor Crane will submit it to the resolutions committee.

The ex-governor, always terse in expressing his views and opinions, has made the platform very brief. It is not a radical one either and the republican leaders who have seen it are well pleased.

Tariff revision is not dealt with at length, neither is Canadian reciprocity. A year ago Eugene N. Foss caused trouble with his ideas of reciprocity. A feeble plank was built and the situation safely tided over. In a somewhat like manner tariff revision will be handled this year.

Secretary Moody is to attend the convention and will make the speech nominating Lieutenant-Governor Guild. The republican managers believe Secretary Moody will add great life to the convention and the campaign. As announced previously, Senator Hoar will place Governor Bates' name before the convention.

A new scheme will be executed in selecting the convention vice-presidents. Each member of the state committee will name one, thus providing a vice-president for every senatorial district.

All kinds of plans are under process of framing for making the "night before" an event that will cheer the visiting delegates and start them working.

Saturday the Middlesex club will hold a dinner in honor of the nominees. Governor Bates will be present and speak. The first big rally of the campaign will occur at Brockton Oct. 9. The candidates are causing havoc in Plymouth county, and a cry for help has been sent to this city. It has been heeded, and several speakers will go to Brockton to help stem the socialist tide. It is probable Governor Bates will speak at this rally.

Starting next Tuesday the Governor and council will make a three days' trip inspecting state institutions in the western counties. Unless the program is changed no speeches will be made, and the trip will be one of stern business.

CASTO THEATRE

The premiere at the Casto Theatre yesterday was a most auspicious one, and two large and well satisfied audiences were in attendance. The bill is one of the strongest ever offered at this popular theatre, and every act made a tremendous hit. Comedy from start to finish is the rule of the show, and the laugh is continuous from the rise of the curtain.

Of course the musical comedy "Too Much Married" proved to be the great laughing attraction of the performance. When the audiences witnessed the show there was not one who doubted the statement that the comedy had been enthusiastically received during the tour of the last three months. The adventures of Bob Henshaw in his endeavors to secure a family and thus obtain possession of the family fortune are most amusingly told by the experienced company. There is not a hitch or wait of any kind, and the lines will keep any one laughing. During the action of the comedy the specialties introduced are songs by James A. Beall, Frank N. Doyle, Joseph F. Morran and Lillian Crone; "The Callahan Cadets," by Al. Haynes and Julia Redmond, instrumental selections by the Bartells, introducing Lillie Bartell, the wonderful child instrumentalist; and the side-splitting song, "Hey Goldstein," by Margaret Rose. Catchy music abounds and the choruses will rank with some of those heard in the highest priced companies which have appeared in this city.

One of the funniest acts Lowell citizens have had the pleasure of seeing in some time is that of Borani and Navarro, the misfitted "Weary Waggles," of the "Foxy Grandpa" company, and the acrobatic girl, who present a comedy acrobatic act which proved a novelty in every sense of the word. William Tomkins in his "Topical Talks," was an immediate favorite, and the monologue which he delivers is far ahead of any other. Thoroughly up-to-date, this monologue alone is worth the price of admission. Lavine and Leonard, comedy jugglers and automobilists, as the program states, certainly proved their right to these titles. From their entrance in the automobile until the "auto" explodes there is not a dull moment in the act. Miss Ray Cox made a hit in her songs, stories and impersonations. The crowds at the Casto, this week, will be large, and it would be well to secure reserved seats, which may be done by calling 'phone 875-3. The box office is open from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m.

Mr. R. McDaniel and Walter E. McDaniel returned yesterday after a very pleasant season at the Crawford house, White Mountains, N. H.

ACTRESS SORRY

She Tried to Commit Suicide

By Associated Press to The Sun

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—"I was so tired of it all, and I knew this would come. That is all."

Lying on a cot in Roosevelt hospital, with a self-inflicted bullet wound in her left breast, and her strength fast ebbing away, pretty Florence Wickliffe Young, an actress, hovers between life and death. A pearl-handled revolver which she had always carried for self protection while on the road was the weapon with which she fired the shot.

Miss Young is 27 years old, and lived with her sister, Rose, a magazine writer, at 128 West 131 street. Yesterday morning Miss Rose Young left her room to go out to breakfast. Her sister Florence was still in bed. She had gone down one flight of stairs when she heard a pistol shot, which caused her to hurry back to the apartment. Arriving there she was horrified to find that her sister had shot herself in the breast. She summoned a policeman and he, in turn, summoned Coroner Scholer, because of the young woman's serious condition.

"I have been in poor health and for a long time my nerves have been completely shattered," said the wounded girl to the coroner. "Because of my ill health I have been unable to secure an engagement, and when one finally did come, a few weks ago, I was unable to take it, being too weak to play the part offered me. My sister has been most kind to me during my enforced idleness. But I am tired of it all—tired of taking her money. That is why I wanted to end it. I am sorry now. I did not think what I was doing."

Miss Young was known on the stage as Florence Wickliffe. In 1901 she played the part next to Miss Maxine Elliott with Nat C. Goodwin in "When We Were 21."

Surgeons at the hospital held out little hope of her recovery. They probed for the bullet yesterday, but failed to find it.

TEMPLE THEATRE

The Temple Theatre, Lowell's new vaudeville house, opened its doors to the public yesterday afternoon, and a large audience attended the initial performance. Last evening the theatre was crowded and the bill presented by Manager Murray was up to date and promises to be a winner. Refined vaudeville will be given here, and the management feels that its efforts will meet with a hearty response from the play-going public. The week's program is a winner, and it includes seven numbers, introducing some good singers, dancers and a remarkably clever lightning change artist. One of the most unusual features of this play house is the arrangement of the gallery so there are no seats in it that do not command a perfect view of the stage.

Murray and Alden made a great big hit in their curtain raiser, entitled "A Postmaster's Welcome." The wonderful boy artist, Master D. Alan Coogan is all that is claimed of him. His clever singing and dancing were loudly applauded.

Phil Morton tells about some of his experiences at Atlantic City this summer in his original Irish dialect. Phil has a remedy which he says is a sure cure for the sea. Miss Leona Hanson, one of the Hub's prettiest exponents of acrobatic dancing, gives a very clever exhibition and is certain to win favor. The Zeb sisters, high class singers, gave a touch of the concert stage to the performance, thereby adding to the variety of the bill. Crowley and Dolce, a pair of men with elastic feet, dancers in any style, were brought back until tired out. Eddie and Lottie Dawers, the headliners of the evening, doing a clever singing, dancing and comedy sketch, "Billie" Gilmore as the pianist at the Temple. There will be a matinee every afternoon this week.

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

Minnequa council, Order of Pocahontas, held its regular meeting last night in Odd Fellows Temple. Preparations were made for a supper which is to be held on the 17th of the coming month.

Lowell lodge, No. 26, Odd Ladies, held an oyster supper, from 5 to 8 o'clock, last night. Arrangements were made to be used to the anniversary to be held Oct. 15, by a gathering of the members of the house of the Sen. Rep. Sister Addie M. Hoyle.

DENNIS HEALEY.

SAID FAREWELL

Grand Reception to Pres. Dennis Healey

BY LOCAL LEATHER WORKERS' UNION

Many Valuable Gifts Tendered Him

The leather workers of this city turned out in great numbers last evening to tender a farewell reception to their esteemed fellow-worker, Dennis Healey of this city, who today leaves for Philadelphia to assume the duties of national president of the Amalgamated Association of Leather Workers of America, in new headquarters which have been recently fitted up for him.

The reception was given by local union, No. 3, of which Mr. Healey has been president for four years, while he is now entering upon his second term as head of the national association.

Over 300 members and friends of the popular official were present at the reception in Leather Workers' hall, and Michael McMullen, vice-president, in behalf of the members of the union, presented Mr. Healey with a solid gold watch and chain, a Foresters' charm, a meerschaum pipe, a fountain pen and $75 in gold.

In the course of his presentation speech Mr. McMullen referred to Mr. Healey's consistency throughout his career as a labor leader as the secret of his success. He also spoke of the pleasant relations between employer and employe in the factory which employs all the local leather workers and said that they were due to the good sense of the man now leaving them.

Mr. Healey was taken by surprise completely as one after the other the beautiful gifts were tendered him and when he had sufficiently recovered, he made a neat speech of thanks, saying incidentally:

"The trades union, as an education of the great mass of the adult population of this country at the present time is more potential than the public schools and it wields a great influence over the common people. From my experience with the organized laboring man I have learned much and in leaving you would say a few things to you. In time I hope you will ask for a shorter day. Meanwhile stand shoulder to shoulder, don't be arrogant, but try to appreciate fully the fine conditions you have reached through your splendid organization. Your officers are the voice of the body and are entitled to your respect and have a better knowledge of things than the members in general. Therefore, listen to their advice and don't antagonize them.

"In thanking you for these presents, I hope to see from afar this Lowell union outstrip in the future its fine record in the past. I hope soon to see a movement for a shorter day from Maine to California and I sincerely hope you men will stand staunch adherents of the movement when it arises.

"You are simply a collective investment, as a union; individual investment doesn't reap much. You are just the same as those who form a corporation of capital, you have the same right. Labor should get more from its investment than capital.

"Keep in good standing and be sure of consistency in your actions. At all times, no matter where I may be, the welfare of this organization will be first in my mind. You will, I assure you, never be forgotten.

"If ever you have any friction with the management of the factory, use calm, deliberations in your action. Don't be hasty, and always make your national officers acquainted with the true situation."

At the conclusion of his remarks, Mr. Healey was given three cheers and a tiger.

After the presentation James F. Gilligan, formerly recording secretary, was elected president of the union, and James J. Carney, recording secretary.

The following program was then enjoyed:

Songs, by Edward F. Shea, Odie Miron, David Barry, John Lindsay, John Mooney, William Johnson, John Gleason; and dancing by Leo Fitzgerald, Cornelius Condo and Fred Hennessy. Refreshments were served during the evening.

By Associated Press to The Sun

PITTSBURG, Sept. 29.—The Pittsburg baseball team, champions of the National league, left last night for Boston where they will on Thursday begin a series of nine games for the championship of the world with the Boston team, pennant winners of the American league. ASKS FOR MONEY

Took All the Money He Received Last Year

By Associated Press to The Sun

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—District Attorney Jerome yesterday made application to the board of estimates and apportionment for $100,000 for his contingent fund for the coming year. In explaining the need for the money Mr. Jerome said:

"I have spent the money I received last year in securing evidence against gambling houses and closing them. I have been kept in touch with the gambling situation and know what should be done. I am reliably informed that the gambling houses in Manhattan are wide open now and I want to get the money so that I can go against these places as I have done before. I have positive information on this subject and it is absolutely necessary that I get the money."

BRINGS NEW STRENGTH AND HEALTH

One of Lowell's Leading Prosperous Merchants Recommends Vital Force.

While we get very many testimonials from people in all walks of life telling about the curative merits of Dr. Bartlett's Vital Force, it is gratifying to receive an unsolicited letter from such a widely known and prosperous merchant as M. Bellefontaine, proprietor of a large house furnishing and installment store on Aiken street, Lowell, Mass. Mr. Bellefontaine writes:

"As a tonic and invigorator for the nerves when subjected to mental strain and overwork, I have found Dr. Bartlett's Vital Force invaluable. I am fully satisfied that it is an efficacious remedy for that tired, worn-out feeling, and I have recommended it to many of my friends. I consider it superior to anything in the line of advertised remedies for dyspepsia, and I only wish every family had a bottle of it, because I am positive it would save much sickness and doctor's bills. In conclusion, I believe there is nothing better for strengthening and renewing the system than Dr. Bartlett's Vital Force, and what is good for adults must be a sure remedy for children."

Respectfully yours,

MILLER BELLEFONTAINE,

267 Aiken St., Lowell, Mass.

June 23, 1903.

Dr. Bartlett cures where others fail. Why suffer from day to day when such a physician is willing to take your case under his care and cure you where a cure is possible. It is advisable to call at his office early as he is always crowded with patients. His marvellous success in the treatment of chronic diseases is sufficient proof that what his patients say about him are "laurels for the true worth."
